JOS. SPRIGG.

ACT OF ASSEMBLY, 5 FEBRUARY, 1777.

"At a Session of the General Assembly of Maryland, convened by the Council of Safety, and begun and held at the City of Annapolis, on Wednesday the fifth of February, in the Year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy-seven, the following Laws were enacted." —Printed by Frederick Green.

Chapter XX, Sec. XIII directs that all Civil Officers, etc. take the prescribed Oath of Fidelity (see pp 1, 11, this number).

Sec. XV, "And be it enacted That every Voter for Delegates or Sheriffs, or for Electors of the Senate, if required, and every other Person required by Law to take the Oath of Fidelity and Support to this State, shall take, repeat, and subscribe the same Oath, or if a Quaker, Menonist or Dunker, shall solemnly, sincerely, and truly declare and affirm thereto in the Words thereof."

Sec. XX, "And be it enacted, That this Act shall be publicly read by the Clerk of the General Court, and by the Clerk of every County Court in this State, at their next Court respectively, immediately after impannelling the Grand Jury, and also by every Minister, Teacher or Preacher of the Gospel, immediately after divine Service, at every Church, Chapel, or Meeting-House, where they officiate, on some Sunday in the Month of May next; and every Clerk, Minister, Teacher or Preacher, failing so to do, shall forfeit and pay the Sum of five Pounds, to be recovered with Costs by the Informer before any Justice of the Peace of the County where the Offence shall be committed."

TAX COMMISSIONERS, MARYLAND, 1777.

Chapter XXI, "An Act to assess and impose an equal Tax on all Property within this State.

Sec. V, "And be it enacted, That the following Persons shall be and are hereby appointed Commissioners for the several and respective Counties of this State, to wit: For Saint Mary's County, Messieurs Abraham Barnes, Jeremiah Jordan, John Reeder, Vernon Hebb, and Bennett Biscoe. For Kent County, Messieurs Wm. Ringgold, Jun., James McClean, Robert Buchanan, James Pearce, and Gilbert Falconer. For Anne-Arundel County, Messieurs Thomas Dorfey, Nicholas Worthington, James Brice, Thomas Watkins, and James Weems. For Calvert County, Messieurs Benjamin Mackall, Benjamin Mackall, 4th, Edward Reynolds, Samuel Chew and Wm. Lyles. For Charles County, Messieurs James Forbes, Josias Hawkins, Richard Barnes, Warren Dent and Thomas Harris. For Somerset County, Messieurs Levin Gale, Wm. Winder, Levin Wilson, John Adams, and Thomas Bruff. For Talbot County, Messieurs John Goldsborough, James Lloyd Chamberlaine, John Bracco, Thomas Sherwood and Horris Goldsborough. For Dorchester County, Messieurs John Henry, James Murray, John Ennalls, Robert Harrison and Joseph Ennalls, Jun. For Baltimore County, Messieurs Andrew Buchanan, John Moale, Archibald Buchanan, Wm. Spear and James Gittings. For Montgomery County, Messieurs Henry Griffith, Jonathan Wilson, Zadok Magruder, John Murdock, and Richard Brooke.

OATHS OF FIDELITY AND SUPPORT.

Extracts from the Act of General Assembly of Maryland passed Feb. 5, 1777, are published on page 21, together with the Oath (pp 1, 11) voluntarily taken by the Free Male Taxibles. The names of 1651 Patriots of Montgomery County, and of 1485 of Washington County, or 3136 in all, are herein reproduced. The patriotism of these citizens of this extensive rural territory cannot be successfully questioned, and their action is worthy of universal emulation in the present National crisis. Their names are also extensively found in the preserved Muster Rolls of Maryland, and many of General Washington's higher officers and faithful soldiers were drawn from old Frederick County, Maryland.

These records should be used in connection with Maryland Records: Colonial, Revolutionary, County and Church, Brumbaugh, of which Vol. I has been published. Vol. II of the same is in manuscript.

Much credit should be given to the Maryland Daughters of the American Revolution in their patriotic efforts to make more accessible the "Unpublished Revolutionary Records of Maryland." An especial appeal is here made for support to the forthcoming publication, under the above title, to be brought out by Mrs. Margaret Roberts Hodges (Mrs. Geo. W.), Annapolis, Md., who has been so untiring in her researches and in unearthing long forgotten and rapidly disintegrating old and important records.

FOREWORD.

Readers of the National Genealogical Society Quarterly are herewith given a "Revolutionary Number" of far reaching genealogical, historical and patriotic importance. The number of pages is doubled in this issue, and the increased cost of publication demands an advance of the regular subscription price to Two Dollars per annum. The latter price applies to all subscriptions beginning with Vol. VI, No. 1, April, 1917. All who have prepaid for the current year will receive their copies without increased cost.

The forms for the April number will be held for a brief time to permit readers to call the attention of friends, librarians, etc., to the advisability of at once securing copies of this hitherto inaccessible unpublished matter. An Index will appear in the January, 1918 number, hence paid subscriptions for the volume should at once be forwarded. The more numerous the new subscriptions, and the more extensive the unpublished and original matter forwarded for these columns, the more valuable can the Quarterly be made to an increased number of readers.

If the demand for an immediately available Index should justify such an expenditure one will be published and furnished to subscribers for a small additional sum, or a reprint with full index may be issued. Orders and suggestions are invited.

9. James, born 1766, Apr. 7.
10. Lydia, born 1770, Aug. 26.

i Lydia of Ephriam and Thankful, born 1718, July 17; married 1736, Oct. 6, Rev. Nathan Pierce, 4th in descent from the first Captain Michael Pierce killed by the Indians. Captain Michael Pierce, born about 1615, was killed by Indians Sunday, Mar. 26, 1676, in the battle upon the Pawtauket Plain. His son, Ephriam, date of birth not known, married Hannah Holbrook (daughter of John of Weymouth), died Sept. 14, 1719. His son Ephriam, born 1674, married Mary Low, date of death not known. His son Dea. Mical Pierce, born Apr. 24, 1693; married Judith Ellis, daughter of Judge Ellis; died Oct. 18, 1786. His son, Rev. Nathan Pierce, born Feb. 21, 1716; married Lydia Martin, Oct. 16, 1776. She was daughter of Ephriam

Martin by his wife Thankful Bullock. She spelt her name Pierce. Rev. Nathan spelt his name "Perce." He died Dec. 21, 1798. He preached 40 years in the same pulpit. His son, Rev. Preserved, preached in the same pulpit 40 years. The meeting house is still standing, and is called the Pierce Meeting house. Lydia and Nathan were grandparents of the late Earl D. Pierce who settled in Providence and became a wealthy and respected citizen. Nathan and Lydia (Martin) Pierce had issue:

1. David, born 1739, Apr. 11.
2. Lydia, born 1741, Apr. 1.
3. Freelove, born 1742, Oct. 3.
4. Nathan, born 1745, Jan. 22.
5. Joseph, born 1746, Sept. 7.
6. Benjamin, born 1747, June 29.
7. Pardon, born 1749, Oct. 23.
8. Mary, born 1750, Mar. 23.
9. Martha, born 1752, Feb. 15.
10. Judith, born 1754, Oct. 23; married Nathaniel Cole, who came to Bristol from Warren and died 1806, July 1—the first of the Bristol Coles.
11. Hezekiah, born 1755.
12. Peleg, born 1756.
13. Preserved, born 1758, July 23.
14. Chloe, born 1765, Nov. 18; married Darius Bullock of Stephen.
15. Isaac, born 1766, Sept. 22.

Amongst the youngest children of Rev. Nathan and Lydia (Martin) Pierce Elder, Preserved the 13th child preached many years in the parish left by his father. He married May 15, 1784, Sarah Lewis of Swansia, and had sons: Preserved, Martin, Lewis and Otis, with four daughters who severally married Samuel Baker, Olney Mason, ——— Wheaton and Allen Fish. Of these sons, Preserved married, Jan. 14, 1808, Betsy, daughter of William Davis of Rehoboth. He was a ship Captain, master of the barque Rosalie, sailing between New York and New Orleans, and died in Rehoboth A. D. 1828. Lewis, a younger son, was a Stone Cutter by trade and married Jan. 8, 1815, Phoebe Wood of Swansea, by whom he had two sons, Benjamin and Alfred W., both of whom were printers by trade. Alfred W. married in New York City, Marietta Williams by whom he had four daughters, three of whom grew to adult life and married. Of these Marietta P., the eldest married, Feb. 18, 1895, John W. Davis of Pawtucket, R. I. She was born in New York City but came to Rhode Island with her parents, where she was educated in private schools, later in life entered the public schools of Providence as a teacher and attained the position of training school teacher in that city. Since her marriage she has been chosen to the school committee of Pawtucket for the years 1899-1900-1901, which position she is holding. Chloe, the 14th child of Rev. Nathan and Lydia Perce married, Jan. 18, 1787, Darius Bullock son of the Hon. Stephen Bullock of Rehoboth, and their descendants are here-in-before-names in the genealogies of Bullocks; though it may be here properly stated that two of their daughters, Mary and Betsy, married their cousins, Otis Goff and Horace Bullock, respectively, of Rehoboth. A daughter of Betsy, Miss Elizabeth Bullock, a highly cultivated and most estimable lady, was depended upon to formulate these memoirs but died Oct. 22, 1898, leaving the work incomplete, and there are no descendants of either of the two sisters now living. Isaac Pearse, the fifteenth and youngest child of the Rev. Nathan and Lydia, married, Oct. 7, 1782, Ann Fitch of Dighton, by whom he had several sons and a daughter. The wife dying, he married, Nov. 1, 1810, Polly Bowen, also of Dighton, by whom he had four daughters and two sons. Of the younger family Lyman was a merchant and settled in Providence where he became a prominent citizen, represented that city in the General Assembly in 1862-3, and was later for five years the candidate of his party (Democratic) for Governor of the State. The youngest son of Isaac Heremiah, married Sarah Horton of Swansea and settled in Providence as a merchant, and his son Warren R. Perce is an attorney-at-law of that City, and in 1877 published a work entitled "Genesis and Modern Science," in which he developed an entirely new theory of geologic historical science, which has attracted wide attention and in recognition of which Brown University, his Alma Mater in 1898, conferred upon him the degree of Ph. D. j Benjamin of Ephriam and Thankful, born ———, died after April, 1790; married Lacy. He had issue, viz:

1. Constance, born 1746, Feb. 14.
2. Freelove, born 1749, Feb. 25.
3. Benjamin, born 1751, Apr. 3.
4. Lacy, born 1755, Nov. 20.
5. Samuel, born 1753, Mar. 31.
6. Asa, born 1760, Apr. 17.
7. Abbie, born 1784, May 17.

k Elizabeth of Ephriam the eleventh and last child of Thankful (Bullock) Martin, born ———; married, first Ichabod Bosworth, of Swansey, of Jonathon, of Jonathon, of the first Edward; and married, second Wheeler Pierce. Issues, if any, not traced.

John Martin, (grandfather of the above Elizabeth), who married Joanna Ester has been supposed by some to have been a son or kinsman of Richard or Robert Martin, who came with Rev. Samuel Newman to Rehoboth, but of this nothing is certain. It is certain, however, that he settled in Swansea, now Barrington, and raised five sons, viz: Melatiah, John, Ephriam, Manassa, and Ebenezer. Of these Melatiah married Debora Brooks. John married Hannah Darling (Dareling), Ephriam married Thankful Bullock, whose posterities have been herein-before traced, and Ebenezer, the youngest, married Abigail Wheeler and lived upon his father's homestead upon the north shore of Barrington River, and there his grandson John Martin built a house yet standing under the willows opposite the meeting house on the other shore. Ebenezer's son, Nathanial married Susannah ———, and established the south ferry across the Warren River where he lived. He was a Colonel and his son Luther an Ensign in the war of the Revolution. Luther married Elizabeth Humphrey, and their sons Sullivan, Sterry and Josiah were notable citizens of Barrington. Amongst all the colonists of New England there is hardly a family whose descendants have stood better, or been more worthy, than those of John and Joannah Martin and their posterity still hold them in highest esteem; to mention any special ones might be invidious but of those who have gone out into other States: George S., son of Sullivan, now of Nebraska; Luther, son of Sterry, late of Illinois, and Josiah N., son of Josiah, now of Iowa, are eminently respectable representative men of the late generation.

John Davis, 3rd son of Daniel 3d and Annah (Bullock) Davis, born in Rehoboth, Jan. 28, 1795; died in Rehoboth, May 24, 1861; married Oct. 11, 1818, Nancy Peck, daughter of Ambrose and Polly (Lyndon) Peck, born in Swansea, Aug. 27, 1791; died in Rehoboth, Nov. 14, 1823. Children, viz: Mary Ann, born in Rehoboth March 16, 1820; died June 7, 1899. Martha Brownell, born in Rehoboth August 1, 1821; died Jan. 23, 1823. John Davis, 3d, married second wife Jan. 16, 1825. Nancy Davis, daughter of William and Mary (Peck) Davis, born in Rehoboth July 20, 1795; died in Rehoboth Feb. 12, 1879. Children, viz: John William, born Rehoboth Mar. 7, 1826. Patience, born in Rehoboth June 30, 1827; died in Rehoboth Mar. 8, 1879. Daniel, born in Rehoboth Oct. 31, 1828; died in Rehoboth Dec. 31, 1843. Stephen Bullock, born April 22, 1830; died in Rehoboth Oct. 12, 1832. Elisha, born in Rehoboth Nov. 24, 1831. Daniel Nelson, born in Rehoboth Jan. 19, 1835; died in Providence Oct. 10, 1891. Darius Bullock, born in Rehoboth June 12, 1837; died in Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 26, 1895. Nancy, born in Rehoboth May 1, 1839; died in Rehoboth May 12, 1839. John Davis, 3d, was a man of more than ordinary energy, intelligence and industry and through a life of many vicissitudes kept to his paternal acres and added to them as opportunity and ability enabled him to do, ranking as a most successful farmer in a farming community. An especial characteristic of his mind was the tenacity with which he clung to the old habits and methods of industrial and business ways, both in his farming and housekeeping, and whoever might have chanced to visit his home and farm prior to 1840 would have found him doing his farming with tools and by methods similar to those used by his forefathers; while in his house the fire upon the hearth and the loom in the chamber told graphically of the old Colonial habits of ancestors perpetuated through their descendant. Notwithstanding all this, he was progressive, broad minded and charitable in his political and religious views, kind hearted and neighborly in thought and habits, successful in business and an excellent type of the "Old New England" citizenship in its best estate and development in modern times. From 1840 to 1860 he was almost constantly an officer of his town, holding in turn almost every position of trust and responsibility within the gift of his fellow townsmen. He was often deputed to look after the interests of his fellow-citizens before Committees of the General Court of the State, and had charge of its cases in litigation before the Judicial Courts. He was appointed a commissioner with Colonel Worcester Carpenter and Dr. Johnson Gardner of Seekonk to sell the last of the town's common or public lands and with them closed up the real estate interests of Old Rehoboth upon the identical spot (Seekonk Common) where their ancestor had settled more than two centuries before. His services were often sought as executor and administrator in the settlements of estates in Probate, and his personal influence was often invoked and rendered in the settlement of differences between his neighbors and fellow townsmen. He travelled considerably and it was remembered of him and related as an evidence of his physical vigor and endurance that in the spring of 1827 he with his uncle Stephen Bullock and a cousin Vial A. Bullock walked from Bristol County, Massachusetts to Bradford County, Pennsylvania, accomplishing the journey of over three hundred miles upon the thin rough country roads in eleven days. The now seeming irregularity of the undertaking is perhaps explainable when it is remembered that at that time there was not such a thing as a railroad upon the earth, and in the season of their journey the water ways by canal and river were yet closed with ice. The return trip in May was made by Mr. Davis alone via canal from Rochester and Albany, and thence by packet sloop to Providence. At this time it was his intention to take his family with him the next season and with them settle upon lands there allotted to him in Columbia, Pennsylvania, but the severe sickness of his son, at the time appointed for the start, prevented and the enterprise was subsequently abandoned, though it was oft times after referred to as a matter of regret. The winters of 1838-9 and 1841-2 he spent in New Orleans, La., and Tallahassee, Fla., travelling by sea (then the most practical way), the first on account of his health and the last in the settlement of his brother, D. H. Davis' estate. Though many sorrows and disappointments stamped their impress upon him, his heart was ever cheerful and his social moods pleasant, though not obtrusive. His first wife, Nancy Peck, was a lady of refinement and sensibilities and in her death were quenched the hopes and promise of a bright and hopeful life. Her father, Ambrose Peck of Swansea, was a respected citizen, by trade a cabinet maker which he had learned at Newport, R. I. His wife, Polly Lyndon, the mother of Nancy, was a daughter of Danforth Lyndon, Esq., a brother of Josias Lyndon, Governor of Rhode Island, 1768. The acquaintance of the two, Ambrose and Polly, was formed while the young man was an apprentice at his trade in Newport. Nancy, the second wife of John Davis, 3d, was a woman of tireless industry, devoted to the welfare of her family, and her presence was a benediction to all who came within its influence. She was a daughter of William and Mary (Peck) Davis of Rehoboth. William Davis, the father, was born in Newport by his wife Elizabeth May, and married January 7, 1777, Mary, daughter of Captain Peleg Peck of Swansea, Mass., and subsequently settled on a farm in Rehoboth. John Davis, Esq., of Newport, the father of William, was born in Newport August 12, 1711; was married to Elizabeth May by Governor William Wanton April 30, 1733; died May 22, 1784. His wife Elizabeth was born 1713, and died January 12, 1784. She was a descendant of John May, one of the Colonial founders of Roxbury, Mass.

(CONCLUDED.)

PENNSYLVANIA MILITIA LAW OF 1777.

Genealogists must frequently consult the valuable Pennsylvania Archives and will observe that the Militia of the Revolution are arranged by classes. Such arrangement has no significance except that of convenience, but it shows where there is a repetition of a name in the same Battalion of the militia, or simultaneously, that different individuals are indicated. Sections of the law are here reproduced:*

Act of March 17, 1777.

(Section VI) (Section IX, P. L.) And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the several lieutenants aforesaid shall within three days after the respective elections aforesaid cause the several companies of militia in their respective precincts to be divided by lot into eight parts, to be called classes, as nearly equal as may be and numbered from one to eight in numerical order and the said captains shall cause the names and surnames of the persons in the respective companies with the class to which each belongeth to be returned to the said lieutenants respectively at such time as they shall appoint within six days after such divisions are made.

(Section X) (Section XII, P. L.) And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That it shall and may be lawful for the executive council in case of invasion or rebellion within this state or in case the assistance of the militia of this state shall be requested by Congress to assist the continental army in this or any of the adjoining states, to call into actual service such part of the militia by classes as aforesaid as to them shall seem necessary, the first draft to be composed of the class number one of each company, and in case the first draft shall not be sufficient for the exigency, then the class number two shall be drawn and so on by classes from time to time as occasion may require.

Each class to be considered as detachments from different corps liable to serve two months and to be relieved by the class next in numerical order, the relief to arrive at least two days before the expiration of the term of the class to be relieved; but nothing herein contained shall prevent the supreme council from employing or calling out one-half of any battalion where it may be convenient, or one-half of any company without respect to this rule whenever the exigency is too sudden to allow the assembling the scattered militia which compose the particular classes; and the militia in actual service shall receive the pay and rations as continental troops, their pay to commence two days before their marching, and receive pay and rations at the rate of twenty miles per day till they return home.

MEETINGS OF THE SOCIETY.

Since the last issue of the Quarterly, meetings have been held as usual on the first Saturday of each month. January 6, 1917, at the Hotel Richmond, the new President, Mr. Frank S. Parks presided. Monthly and annual reports were read, and the usual business transacted. One new member, Mrs. Rose Bullock Hegeman of Towanda, Pa., was admitted. Dr. Bulloch, Mr. Dent, Mr. Wilson and Col. Thompson made impromptu remarks on genealogy and heraldry, and Mr. Gordon delivered a stirring and instructive talk on "The Jacobites of England." Mrs. Woodward read a letter dated in 1879, which was found in an old Fairfax County Minute Book returned to the County Court House; the minutes included the years 1756-1763, and the beautifully written and well preserved book had been saved from destruction by a Pennsylvania soldier who rescued it from burning by the Confederates during the Civil War. Other members present, included Dr. and Mrs. St. Clair, Dr. and Mrs. Brumbaugh, Mrs. Pealer, Mrs. Hill, Misses Oursler, Norton, Curry, Wood and Morris, and Mr. Gerald.

The February meeting was also held at Hotel Richmond and was an enthusiastic one. The usual routine of business was conducted, and special interest centered in the large number of accessions to the Library, noticed elsewhere in this magazine. Among other things, it was decided to omit the annual banquet this season. Power was given to the Librarian, Miss Curry, to arrange for procuring a list of 2310 emigrants to this country from Switzerland, who settled in Pennsylvania and the Carolinas between the years 1734 and 1744. This will be very valuable data to persons whose ancestors came from Switzerland. This being designated "Founder's Night," Mrs. Ruth M. Griswold Pealer read a paper entitled "The Founders of the National Genealogical Society;" this paper will later be published. Mr. Dent and Dr. Bulloch, also "founders," gave other interesting details on the same subject. Dr. Bulloch then read a paper on "To Whom Are We Indebted for Our Civilization," and started a debate with Mr. Gordon. Mr. Smith exhibited photographs of pages from rare books, and Shakespearian baptismal record, all dealing with the Baconian Theory. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Parks, Dr. and Mrs. Brumbaugh, Dr. and Mrs. St. Clair, Mrs. Marsh, Mrs. Pealer, Mr. Dent, Miss Curry, Mr. Gordon, Miss Oursler, Dr. Bulloch, Mr. Smith and Miss Morris. Dr. C. W. de Lyon Nicholls, Palatine General of the Scions of Colonial Cavaliers, was present as a guest.

The March meeting was held at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Brumbaugh, with the following members in attendance: Mr. and Mrs. Parks, Dr. and Mrs. Brumbaugh, Dr. and Mrs. St. Clair, Dr. Bulloch, Mrs. Pealer, Mrs. Marsh, Miss Mickley, Mr. Dent, Miss Oursler, Mrs. Woodward, Mr. Gordon, Mrs. Wood and Miss Morris. Notice was read of the sale in London of a valuable genealogical collection from the library of Lothrop Wilmington of Newburyport, Mass., which was bought in for an American collector. Dr. Bulloch gave an extemporaneous talk on "Efficiency," and the Secretary read a magazine article entitled "Our Ancestors Were Not So Meek" showing our earlier methods of settling delicate international difficulties, at the same time winning the respect of the foe. Mr. Gordon followed this with a brief description of the sinking of the Brig "Armstrong" off the coast of Spain during the War of 1812, which incident delayed the British fleet on its way to America long enough to enable Andrew Jackson to collect his forces for the defense of New Orleans.

SOME STORIES ABOUT COATS OF ARMS.

BY LEONARD WILSON, F. S. A. SCOT.;

Wilson

Some of the stories connected with the origin of coats of arms, crests and of the charges which appear upon the escutcheons of many families of ancient lineage, are both interesting and instructive. Some of the narratives may be considered pure romance, others embody perhaps a modicum of truth, and yet others, history concedes, must have been founded upon fact. Great is the diversity of heraldic charges and many, in consequence, are the legends connected with them. In a great many cases it is an accepted fact that the arms themselves offer true testimony to the piety, valor, industry or worth of some member of the family who bore them in years long gone, and, all such deeds are worthy of being perpetuated in history, song and story, the anecdotes which follow may be of more than ordinary interest. Anything that serves to perpetuate the memory of a noble deed is worthy of the highest commendation and should be encouraged. Hence, from this view-point alone, the study of heraldry is helpful and cannot fail to have a marked influencc for good upon all, even upon those who are but slightly acquainted with that science.

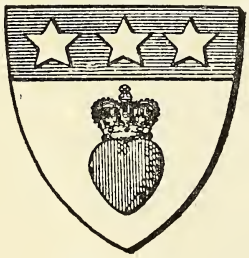
The little stories which follow have been gathered from varoius sources. If the narration but serves to stimulate interest in the ancient and honorable science of heraldry, and to impress upon those who read the truth that, after all, nothing is so much worth while as uprightness of life, valorous conduct, courage under difficulties, and a willingness to extend help to others when needed, they will need no further endorsement.



Douglas

The name of Sir James Douglas fills an eminent and unique place in Scottish history. Greatly beloved for his good deeds he was known as the "Good Lord James" and, being swarthy in complexion, large in stature and renowned for his bravery and the severity which he dealt out to criminals, he was also called "The Black Douglas." This was in the old days of chivalry when Knights set out to defend the weak, or to attack the strong evil-doer that they might gain renown. It seems that his name was Sholto in the time before surnames were known, and when the personal name was identified with the individual in some other manner. Upon one occasion Sholto and his followers found one of the old Scottish Kings in danger of defeat, and, coming to his rescue, turned the scale to victory. Thereupon, asking the name of his defender, the reply in Gaelic was "Sholto dhu glas," or "the black." In this way originated the patronymic and the dexter supporter of the arms of Douglas. A dark man (cinctured) refers to this episode, though it may have been adopted in memory of his battle with the Moors.

It was Lord James of Douglas who commanded the left wing of Bruce's Army at Bannockburn; he was an intimate of the Scottish Sovereign. It had been the one desire of Bruce, and he had made a vow, to undertake a pilgrimage to the Holy Sepulchre, but the care of his kingdom and the wars which he wasobliged to wage prevented him from realizing his desire. Falling ill, he called Lord James, his most trusted friend, and said to him:

"Thou knowest how that the grave cares of my realm and the malice of my southern enemies have hindered me from journeying to Christ's sepulchre, which of all things I most heartily desired to do. Now, since my time of departure is nigh, and I know that with the eyes of the flesh I never may behold that which I most craved to see, I pray and command thee, as my friend and liegeman, that when I am dead thou take my heart from my bosom, and putting it into a casket, or take such order as shall seem good to thee for its safe keeping, so carry it with thee into Palestine, and there bury it by that blessed tomb to which, when alive, it might not attain."

Bruce died and his heart was embalmed, a fitting receptacle made of gold was provided and Lord James set out, with a retinue of chosen knights, for the Holy Land. The vessel upon which they sailed was wrecked on the coast of Spain, and, finding the country at war with the Moors, he offered his services to Alfonso and joined him in battle.

At one time, finding his company almost overpowered, Lord James cast the heart of Bruce into the midst of the enemy. The Scotchman, with renewed vigor, fell upon the infidels, routed them completely and recovered the precious relic. Douglas met his death in the struggle, but his knights and followers who survived continued the journey to the Holy Land and deposited their King's heart in accordance with his request. Because of his glorious death while fighting the infidels the family arms received the charge of the crowned heart.

In his many exploits, no doubt, he was able to accumulate some riches and these are no doubt represented by the mullets upon the arms, for this charge betokens both honor and profit.

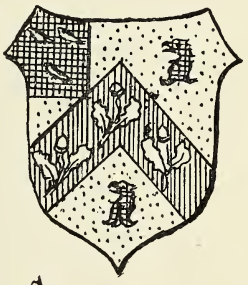
One of Sir James' famous exploits was the capture of a strong body of English troops who had lost their way in the Jedburgh Forest. He gathered his followers, who summoned them and fenced them within an enclosure of stakes so closely driven in as to make their escape impossible. The wood on each side of the supporters is said to have been the memorial of this rather extraordinary episode. The Douglases were men of great stature and the Douglas sword renowned for its enormous size.

Dawney

In the origin of the device on the crest used by Viscount Downe, a glimpse is given of the old days of chivalry, when battles frequently were decided by the encounter of champions in single combat. It was in these trials of strength and courage that the knight gained his renown.

It was during the Third Crusade, when William D'Aunay was among the chief leaders of the English army of the Lion-Hearted King, then investing Acre. Numbers of infidel warriors had gathered outside the lines of the Christian host, seeking opportunity. to challenge their enemies to single combat, either from a desire to add to their trophies of renown already won, or in some manner to assist their beleaguered friends.

It so happened that Sir William, riding outside the lines with a body of followers, espied, galloping towards him, a Saracen Emir with his retinue of about the same number approaching near, but leaving their troops some distance behind, the Emir challenged Sir William to single combat who, nothing loath, accepted. After a long struggle, when equal valor was displayed, the Christian Knight overcame and slew the infidel champion. But his exploit was not yet ended. As was frequently the case in those days, the Emir had with him an enormous lion, which, when a cub, he had found among the ruins of Babylon. It was tame and docile with its master and its attendants, but extremely ferocious towards all else, and, viewing the combat, it became lashed to fury, and, breaking from its leash, bounded towards Sir William. His archers with drawn bows and arrows in rest rushed to his defense, but, waving them back, with lance uplifted, he bore down on the lion transfixing and pinning him to the ground. Richard, the King, viewing the double victory from a distance, was so full of admiration that he presented Sir William with a ring drawn from his own finger which is still in the possession of the family, and granted him the crest, now used by the Dawneys, which is: "A demi-Saracen in armour, couped at the thighs, in the dexter hand a ring or, stoned azure, and in the sinister, a lion's gamb erased or, armed gules."



Anderson

There is always a story, more or less interesting, sometimes amusing, connected with the adoption of certain bearings upon arms. History tells us that Charles II, when trying in vain to rally his troops after the disastrous Battle of Worcester, realized that he must either fly himself or be taken prisoner. The latter predicament was not for a moment to be thought of and, with a few of his chosen followers, he took up his flight, hoping to cross the border unmolested.

Night came on and his guide in the dense forest became so utterly confused that a halt was necessarily called. In the dilemma the Earl of Derby, who knew the locality well and realized that they were nearly in Staffordshire, where, at Boscobel House, the seat of the Giffords, they would find friends and a secure refuge, advised the King to press on. They met one of the Gifford family, and passing by an old monastery, once tenanted by Cistercian nuns, known as the "Whiteladies" (so called from their habit being white like that of the Dominicans of our day) the king took advantage of the shelter, changed his clothing and took means otherwise to give himself the appearance of a common serving-man. He would willingly have tarried for rest and refreshment; the news, however, brought in by scouts that the rebel army was but three miles in their rear, hastened their departure. Notwithstanding the drenching rain which they encountered in the forest, they persevered in stumbling along as best they might in their endeavor to reach Wales. Baffled on all sides, every avenue of escape cut off by the enemy, there was naught possible but that they find their way back to the shelter of Boscobel.

Colonel Careless had been one of the King's most loyal supporters and soldiers, and, after they were refreshed by a meal of bread, milk and cheese, he persuaded his Royal Master to remain for a time in the depths of the woods rather than in the mansion, it being in his opinion a much safer refuge. Here the dependents of Boscobel, the Penderells, brought them food and drink, and a cushion upon which the luckless King might rest his head. Charles and Colonel Careless concealed themselves successfully in the close foliage of an acorn bearing oak. Charles felt most deeply the kindness and devotion of Colonel Careless, to whom he felt that he owed his life, and when, after several days and nights, they succeeded in making their way to safety in the house of Colonel Lane, the King changed the name of his companion to Carlos that it might resemble his own, and gave him for a device upon his arms a picture of the oak tree which had concealed his whereabouts with a fesse across it, upon which were three crowns. The acorn in the Anderson escutcheon is also borne to commemorate this event.

Stanley

The origin of the Stanley Crest gives a story as romantic as any of the legends that come down from antiquity, when the ancient Danes sang their songs of fireside and battle-field. The good old Knight, Lord Latham, had finished his battles, and was resting in the long evening of his life with his good wife, who had shared his joys and his sorrows for more than three-score years—for both were nearing the eightieth landmark in their life's journey. One great sorrow had been their's all through these years —that there was no child to bear their name, nor enrich the ages to come with a repetition of the father's deeds of valor and reunion. Their deep love for each other was their only solace. But still their grief was deep when the thought came to them that an alien should enter into their possessions and perhaps scatter or destroy all that they had gathered up and prized during their long lives.

The tenants, and the woodsmen—all the retainers, in fact—shared, in a more or less degree, the sorrow of the old couple. One day the woodsmen noticing an unusual clamor in an eagle's nest in a large tree which they were felling, found, as it fell, three eaglets in the nest and a fine young baby "swaddled and clad in robes of red." Their amazement was great indeed, but they realized that it had been brought by the eagle for food for its little ones. They sent with all haste for Lord Latham, who, mounting his horse, rode with such speed as was possible through the tangled underbrush, which was not often traversed except by the woodsmen themselves. Coming to the spot where the nest, with the crying babe and the eaglets, was being watched most carefully by the woodsmen, he lifted the child to his arms, thinking, perhaps, that a kind Providence had taken pity upon his childless condition, and sent him a son in his old age. He swiftly bore it home and placed it in his wife's arms.

The child had hung from its neck a bag of salt, thereby announcing that as yet it was unbaptized. They had it baptized under the name of Oskell, and made him the heir.

He became lord of the Castle and Manor, and his daughter, Isabella, who is said to have been most beautiful, was married to Sir John Stanley, her lover, who stole her away one stormy night. The father, however, forgave them and they inherited all his estates, for she was his only offspring.

The child in the eagle's nest became the crest of the Stanley family, as the infant himself was their ancestor.

Trevelyan

Perhaps one of the most peculiar devices upon a coat of arms is one which was assumed to do honor to that animal which, except the dog, is man's most useful and beloved friend. But as often as men have owed their safety and their lives to the horse, this is one of the rare instances recorded in heraldry where, as a perpetual mark of appreciation, he has been blazoned on a shield.

The Trevelyan family of Cornwall, Wales, is of such ancient origin that its earlier history is lost in antiquity, antedating, by hundreds of years, the Conquest itself. No doubt, they bore armour long before the incident which gave rise to the present blazon. The coast of Cornwall is noted for the tidal waves which play such havoc with its shores, when an angry sea, not satisfied with invading the dry land, carries off great acres of the possessions of its people. The Goodwin Sands are where a large estate of Earl Goodwin once existed, but was washed away by the inrush of the sea. On the Cornish Coast this great misfortune overtook the Trevelyans. Their estate lay between Lands End and the rocks now known as the Seven Stones, all that is left of a large peninsula jutting out into the sea. This tract of land was connected to the main land by a natural isthmus. Trevelyan was upon this portion of his estate, when suddenly he beheld the breaking down of his only way of reaching the other portion of his estate and as the ground crumbled under the feet of his horse he was forced further and further from safety to the very edge of the rocks which gave a standing place to the horse. This was, no doubt, where the "Seven Stones" are now. None knew the whereabouts of the Lord of the Manor, so there was no hope of boats being sent out; night was coming on and he determined with his horse to swim to safety. The distance was great, the sea deep and many times he gave himself up for lost. His horse was large and strong, and he a good rider, but, at times, it seemed that, exhausted as he was, he must succumb. At last, however, his feet touched ground, which revived him sufficiently to enable him to stumble on over the piles of wreckage until he reached dry land once more, and fell, totally exhausted.

His people of the estate gathered round Trevelyan, but his first care, after offering a thanksgiving to God for his escape, was for his brave horse. He ordered every care to be bestowed upon him, declaring that never again, in a life of plenty and of ease, should he be used for work.

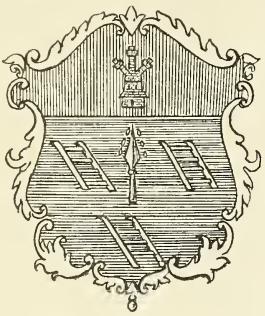
In memory of his wonderful escape, owing to his appreciation of his horse's service, he adopted a new Coat of Arms, which, coming down to the present day, is: "Gules, a demi-horse argent hoofed and maned or, issuing out of water in base proper."



Lloyd

The Lloyds of Milford, County Cardigan, Wales, are descended from the noted Cadivor of Cardigan. To him was given in marriage by her father, Prince Rys, (the celebrated chieftain of Southern Wales), Katherine, and, besides his wife, great grants in land and a first coat of arms—all in recognition of the wonderful feat, perpetuated in the charges which are: "Azure a spear's head, its point embrued, between three scaling ladders argent; on a chief gules a castle, triple towered proper."

The shield seems to tell its own story so plainly that it needs little explanation. Still the history is quite interesting even though no hint of legendary embellishment is found in the "ower-true tale." Among the supporters of Prince Rys, there was no knight of nobler lineage than Cadivor ap Dynfal ("ap" meaning "son of"). The Earl of Clare was the commander of the fortress of Abertioy, later called Cardigan Castle, built far within the frontier of Wales by the English, and he had mortally offended Cadivor, by calling him before an English court for some slight offense, and had treated him with scornful injustice. A Welshman never forgets or forgives an indignity, and when Henry II seemed to be fully occupied in his difficulties with his English subjects, chiefly in the matter of his quarrel with Thomas, a Becket, Cadivor induced Prince Rys to attack the fortress.

The height and strength of the walls and the vigilance of the guards appeared to make an attempt to storm it abortive —and there was great opposition to the project; still, finding Cadivor determined, the attack under his direction was begun. Cadivor first chose from among his soldiers the lightest and most agile and of these he took personal command. Choosing a moonless night he ordered his main detachment to creep as near the gates of entrance as possible and to make a noisy, furious feint of attack, which they did with arrows and stones and deafening shouts. Meantime, provided with ladders prepared to scale the walls, Cadivor found in the rear an apparently unfortified place. the defenders having been called to the front.

The party reached the summit of the walls, easily dispatched the few sentinels they found, fought their way to the gates, threw them open, and raising the portcullis the Welshmen entered, making the whole force of defenders captives. The Earl of Clare was held a prisoner for some time and exchanged for two Welsh princes. Thus, Cadivor settled his account with his English judge, covered himself with glory, gained the Princess for his spouse and the new bearing for his arms, which have come down intact to the present day.

All communications in regard to exchanges, or current or back numbers should be addressed to the Librarian, Miss Cora C. Curry, 1020 Monroe Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Persons desiring extra copies of their articles can order the Quarterly in multiples of 25 at a wholesale price, if they will communicate with the Editor 30 days before publication.

A limited number of selected advertisements will be accepted. Rates upon application to the editor.

Entered as second-class matter March 28, 1913, at the post office at Washington, D. C., under the Act of August 24, 1912.

The Index for Volume II appears as a Supplement to this issue, and that for Volume III will probably appear as a Supplement to the October issue. These were never published and are necessary for binding the issues of the QUARTERLY. The Index of Names for Volume II and III are prepared by Miss Maud Burr Morris, the Society's efficient Recording Secretary.

Suggestions for the improvement of our publication, new subscriptions, and interesting, unpublished genealogical matters of general interest will be much appreciated if sent to the editor or to any other member of the Publication Committee.

Miss Cora C. Curry, our efficient and active Librarian, had the misfortune to recently fracture her arm. She has practically recovered but the "Book Reviews" and "Accessions to the Library" are necessarily deferred to the October issue. The Librarian will none the less appreciate mumerous accessions throughout the summer.

Careful investigation established the fact that from ten to twelve days elapsed between the mailing of the April QUARTERLY and its receipt by the addressees even in Md., Pa., N. Y., Ill. and Mich. A number of copies never reached their destinations, and it seems much as if second class, "bulk mail," receives rather indifferent treatment at the hands of the postal authorities. Subscribers will confer a favor by reporting the date upon which this number of the QUARTERLY is received.

THE OATH OF FIDELITY AND SUPPORT, 1778, MARYLAND

Many commendations upon the April QUARTERLY have been received. These are illustrated by the following brief note from Dr. Daniel W. Nead, Reading, Pa., Secretary of the Pennsylvania German Society, and also member of its Publication Committee which is responsible for so many admirable volumes of "Transactions:" "The April NATIONAL GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY QUARTERLY is fine, and this number in particular is a mine of information."

Urgent requests have come for more of the Oaths of Fidelity and Support, during the Revolutionary period. The names of 337 such signers are herein reproduced, as taken from the official records of Frederick County, Maryland. The April and July issues of the QUARTERLY thus make accessible the names, residence and patriotic action of 3,573 citizens of Maryland who lived in 1778 within the limits of the large original county of Frederick.

Particular attention is directed to the September, 1777, Oaths of Allegience for Ohio County, Virginia, which were published in the QUARTERLY for 1914-1915 (Vol. III, Nos 1, 2, 3, 4, and Vol. IV Nos. 1 and 3—$3 for both volumes) under the title "Ohio County, (Va.) Records. There are 350 signers of the Oaths and 17 "refusers," in the said lists.

The National Genealogical Society has the credit of priority in publication of these important lists, excepting for the lately ascertained appearance of those published in the Maryland Research Society of Baltimore: "The Oath of Fidelity in Talbot County," Maryland, Part III, same, pp 106-114, and "The Oath of Fidelity in Dorchester County," same, pp 115-119. These lists would be more valuable if they contained all the information included in the original records. The full certified lists of the Magistrates preserve the localities, in the counties, and materially assist in the indentification of the signers.

If any reader can direct attention to other published lists of these Oaths, or to existing unpublished originals, or to authentic copies, for any of the Colonies, the favor will be much appreciated.

"The Oath of Allegiance in Maryland. Compulsory Oath Not an Evidence of Patriotism," by Hester Dorsey Richardson in Maryland Original Research Society of Baltimore, Part III, pp 78-85, is of interest to those investigating this subject. The editor of the QUARTERLY calls attention to the fact that the value of the legal evidence of existence and patriotic acts of the citizens in 1778 is not lessened by the possibility that a few Tories may have been forced to sign such Oaths, any more than the disloyalty of Benedict Arnold, and the few of his type, lessened the inheritance of the descendants of the revolutionary patriots whose names are preserved for us in the records of active military service. Arnold had a record for good active service, and later became a traitor. Again, these signers of the Test Oath, lived largely in rural communities and were intimately known. The Committees of Safety were most loyal and active in detecting Tory impostors, and made record of the few isolated cases found.

These oaths and affirmations were also taken by citizens "over fifty years old," the usual limit for military duty, and their names would not appear in the muster rolls of active service. They were also administered before Justices of the Peace, elected for their ability and known loyalty to the Colonies, or before the Court.

Daughters of the American Revolution Magazine, July, 1917, is upon the press, and the editor has had a glimpse of an advance copy. It is most creditable to all concerned. In it is published "Oaths of Fidelity and Support, Anne Arundel County, Maryland, 1778"—alphabetically arranged, but unfortunately not by Magistrates' returns so as to show locality. These lists are the first contribution of Mrs. Margaret Roberts Hodges, whom we are glad to congratulate upon her appointment as Genealogical editor of the said magazine, and who has also cooperated in the matter of publication of the other lists of these important records in the QUARTERLY. Miss Natalie Sumner Lincoln, editor, and the J. B. Lippincott Company, publishers, are also to be congratulated upon the admirable artistic makeup of the above issue (yet to be examined in detail).

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE OF OBSERVATION FOR ELIZABETH TOWN DISTRICT, [Washington County, Md.]

The above is the title of an important historical and genealogical serial running in the current volume of the Maryland Historical Magazine. This is closely related to the Oaths of Fidelity and Support. It is suggested that the Maryland Historical Society hold the forms and reissue the valuable matter as a separate publication, with a dictionary index. The demand should justify such action.

SOUTH CAROLINA REVOLUTIONARY INDENTS.

The following interesting correspondence is furnished by Mrs. Thomas J.

Wallace, Franklin, Tenn., who says that the South Carolina Historical Commission intends to print all of the valuable "Book of Stubs of Indents." This is welcome news to historians and genealogists. Two volumes have already been published.

EXTRACTS FROM LETTER OF A. S. SALLEY, JR., Secy S. C. Hist. Comn., 1916.

During the time from the fall of Charleston, May 12, 1780, to the end of the Revolutionary War in 1783, the soldiers got no pay for their services, and the supplies that were taken from their plantations, farms and stores, were not paid for. As soon as the Government became settled, our General Assembly appointed a commission to pass upon and settle claims. A soldier would file his claim, or claims, for the tour or tours, of duty which he had rendered during these days, or even earlier days. He would submit proofs that he had received no pay and that his claims were correct. These proofs were generally the certificates of the officers under whom he served. When his claim was approved and passed on to the Auditor General, that officer issued an Indent (interest-bearing check) on the Treasurer for the money.

A. S. SALLEY, JR., Secy. S. C. Hist. Comn., Columbia, S. C., 1916."

John Chamberlain, of Pickens Brigade, a son of Ninian Chamberlain, Sr., born in Antrim Co., Ireland, appears upon these official records only once and this record well illustrates the character of the said "indents":

"No. 241 Lib. U.

Issued 11th July, 1785, to Mr. John Chamberlain for Seven Pounds, 2s. 11¼d. Stlg., for Militia Duty as Private, per Account audited. Principal £7.2.10¼ Annual Interest, £0.9.11."

State of South Carolina,
Office of Historical Commission.

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of the entry on the stub of an indent with which John Chamberlain was paid by the State of South Carolina for certain services rendered the State as a member of the Militia of the State during the war of the Revolution, and that said book of stubs is a public record of South Carolina, on file in this office, which is a department of the executive branch of the government of South Carolina.

Given under my hand and seal this 25th day of July, 1916.

[SEAL] A. A. SALLEY, JR., Secretary."

TOMBSTONE INSCRIPTIONS, PRINCE GEORGE'S COUNTY MARYLAND (DORSEY).

Dr. William W. Steward, Forestville, Md., owns a part of the extensive estate of Lord Cecil Calvert. His handsome residence stands upon the grant called "Belle's Chance,"and in a grove of fine trees near the mansion there is an old cemetery. Unfortunately the memorial sandstones are disintegrated, or deeply covered and the inscriptions can be read upon only two of the stones. The Doctor has kindly furnished them to the QUARTERLY for preservation:

"SACRED
EDWARD DARCEY
who departed this life
June 30th, 1842.
Aged 70 years."

"HANNER DARSEY
D. T. L. January 12th, 1807."*

[*The marriage of Edward Dorsey to Hannah Peach, Dec. 29, 1799, Prince George's Co., Md., is recorded upon pp. 111, 143, Maryland Records: Colonial, Revolutionary, County and Church, Vol. I. —Ed.]

"RECEIPTS AND ACCOUNTS OF THE SHIP ROMNEY AND LONG, NOV. ye 3, 1747."

By Gaius M. Brumbaugh.

Mrs. David Ransom Covell, wife of the Rector of Christ Church, Washington Parish, 620 G St., S. E., both of whom are much interested in the preservation of records, noticed the janitor burning some "trash." He began tearing leaves from a peculiar, long book, bound in pig skin, and fortunately held it in such a manner that only parts of the last pages in the record were torn out, and Mrs. Covell rescued the volume when its destruction had only begun. It is a ledger 16 in. x 6¼ in., 50 pp., and its paper and writing are in fine condition.

The Ship Rumney and Long was evidently an English sailing vessel of 300 tons, plying between London, Portsmouth, Gibralter, Leghorn and the Maryland colony between 1747 and 1761. (See p.40.) Its accounts are evidently of historical and genealogical importance, dealing as they do with firms provisioning the ship, and selling consignments of tobacco, etc., for Lord Baltimore, the Governor of Maryland, Charles Carroll, Esq., Rev. Alex. Williamson and numerous others on both sides of the Atlantic. A second article will be necessary to include the important accounts of Thomas Philpot, etc. The first account in the ledger begins Oct. 1, 1747, with "John Buchanan and Owners of the Rumney and Long." The separate sailor's accounts always include a charge of "Six pence p. Mo., to Greenage Hospital" (Greenwich), showing the length of the sailor's service upon the vessel.

Secs. 1614 and 4808 Revised Statutes, U. S., provide that 20 cents per month shall be deducted from the pay of each officer and sailor in the Navy, to be applied to the fund for marine or naval hospitals—a practice inherited from England.

The probable explanation for the discovery of this book in the belfry of

The title of this article appears upon the cover of this "Ledger A, 1747." See page 40.

VIRGINIA BOUNDARIES.

By Mrs. Eula Keblinger Woodward, Washington, D. C.

Limited space will not permit us to give the Virginia boundaries and the many changes from the first settlement until the present time, but the following will assist our readers in their researches. Raleigh's Virginia extended from Florida to Canada; in the Charter of 1609, Virginia is severed from North Virginia; Maryland and Georgia were formed in 1632, and Carolina in 1663. Up to 1738 Orange County, Va., included all territory west of the Blue Ridge; in the Fall of that year Augusta and Frederick were formed, but even after this division, Virginia included part of Pennsylvania, all of Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin and West Virginia.

The first state taken from the North West Territory was Ohio, formerly Ohio Co., Va., Kentucky followed in 1790 (Kentucky Co., Va), and in the following order the states of Minnesota, purchased from France in 1803, became territory in 1849; Michigan was formed in 1805 (from 1802-1805 part of Indiana). Illinois was organized in 1809. Indiana was admitted to the union in 1816, and West Virginia was taken from Virginia in 1863.

Christ Church lies in the prominence of this "Mother Church" amongst the Protestant Episcopal Churches of the then "Territory of Columbia (Broad Creek, Piscataway, or St. Johns', Prince George's County, Md., 1693; Rock Creek or St. Paul's, Apr. 21, 1712—building 1719—were its ancestors), and in the far reaching prominence of its communicants. A further study of this ledger and of the above church records may lead to interesting facts, and is being made.

The John Bradford account begins Nov. 3, 1747, with 2£.10s. a "Mo. pay advance," and extends to July 13, 1748, with a "Greenage Hospital" charge of 7s. for 14 months of service.

May 2, 1748, he was charged 6s. for "2 flask flurane to ye Mother," and his total account was 22£.6.5. This could not have been John Bradford, planter and owner of "Generosity," etc., whose will was executed in Prince George's County, Md., July 22, 1722, and probated May 9, 1726. (Can any person locate the grave of this John Bradford? It is not in Rock Creek Cemetery.)

Captain Joseph Chilton of the Polly has his account for 1761 in currency and Sterling. Thomas Philpot (1761) charged himself with "222 hhd. of Tobo. for the Polly, 1523£.12.2¾," "90 hhd. of Tobo. for the Neptune, 605£.4.10,etc. The Neptune, Capt. Biggs, 1750; the Snowden, 1751; the Empress, Capt. Hovell, 1753; the Philadelphia, Capt. Etherington; the Empress Garnett; the Spencer and other vessels and captains are mentioned in the accounts. The additional value of these records rests in the fact that so few records of vessels arriving in Colonial Maryland ports have been preserved.

The accounts cover a period from 1747 to 1761, including different vessels and captains, merchants, sailors, and prominent English and American consignors and consignees. The index to this old ledger contains the following accounts (dated for reference):

ABSTRACTS FROM THE FIRST 131 WILLS OF JEFFERSON COUNTY, KENTUCKY (THEN VIRGINIA), SEPTEMBER, 1783, TO JUNE, 1813.

By William J. Gammon, Hawesville, Ky.

Abbreviations and explanations:

"a", with numerals, means acres; "dau" means daughter; "sis" means sister; "bro" means brother; "mar" means married.

The first date is that of the making of the will, the second that of the probating.

The family, or surname, is omitted when the same is that of the testator, but any mention of heirs, etc., or property not in Jefferson County is given—otherwise all properties and persons were in the said county. Residents of Louisville are so given, if given in the will.

Kentucky was originally part of Fincastle County, Va. In 1790 the area was Kentucky County, Va., and shortly afterwards as Kentucky Territory it had three counties, Jefferson (Louisville, C. H.), Lincoln and Fayette—see also p. 46.

THE MAYFLOWER PASSENGERS.

By Algernon Aikin Aspinwall,

Historian, District of Columbia Society of Mayflower Descendants.

Many persons are searching for a "Mayflower" ancestor. In the Genealogical Magazines and in the newspapers having columns devoted to genealogical matters, there appear frequent communications asking if so and so came on the Mayflower, and frequently statements are made claiming descent from a certain passenger on the Mayflower, when in fact there was no such passenger, or if there was, he left no descendants.

It is often stated that there were one hundred and one passengers on that ship. There were, however, exactly one hundred and four including men, women and children. Of these just fifty died within a year from the time they sailed from England, the most of them within a few months after their arrival at Plymouth.

The following is a complete list of the one hundred and four passengers:

1 Alden, John.

104 Winslow, Gilbert. Returned to England.

The names in italics are of those from whom only can descent be traced.

It will be seen from this list that forty-nine of them left descendants, and fifty-five left no descendants, or none who can be traced.

Of the forty-nine who left descendants, ten were wives; nine were sons, and six were daughters of other passengers. Eliminating these twenty-five as duplicate ancestors, there remain twenty-four heads of families. For convenience these twenty-four are named below:

Alden, John.
Allerton, Isaac.
Billington, John.
Bradford, William.
Brewster, William.
Brown, Peter.
Chilton, James.
Cooke, Francis.
Doty, Edward.
Eaton, Francis.
Fuller, Edward.
Fuller, Samuel.
Hopkins, Stephen.
Howland, John.
Mullins, William.
Priest, Degory.
Rogers, Thomas.
Samson, Henry.
Soule, George.
Standish, Myles.
Tilley, John.
Warren, Richard.
White, William.
Winslow, Edward.

Of the twenty-four above names, however, there should also be eliminated those of William Mullins and John Tilley, for the reason that each left only a daughter, and each of these daughters married one of the other twenty-four. From the twenty-two then left are descended all persons who are now members of the various State Societies of Mayflower Descendants, and from no other persons will descent be accepted.

An account of the children and grandchildren of these twenty-two passengers may be found in an article contributed by the writer and published in Vols. IV and V of the QUARTERLY.

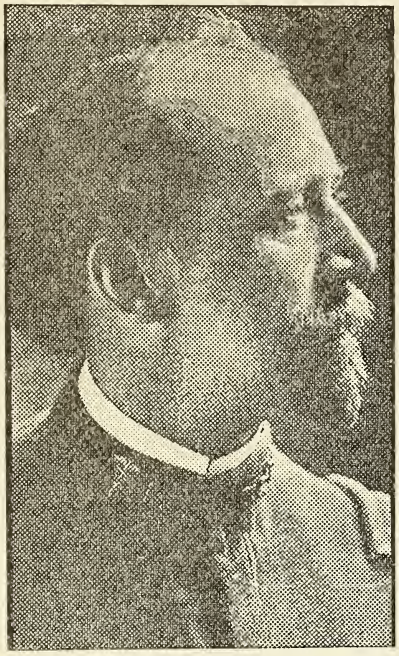
WM. J. HINKE, Auburn, N. Y.

HENRY WARD BEECHER ON THE FLAG.

In all the world is there another banner that carries such hope, such grandeur of spirit, such soul-stirring truth, as our dear old American flag? Made by liberty, made for liberty, nourished in its spirit, carried in its service and never, not once, in all the earth, made to stoop to despotism!

Let us twine each thread of the glorious tissues of our country's flag about our heartstrings; and, looking upon our homes and catching the spirit that breathes upon us from the battlefields of our fathers, let us resolve, come weal or woe, we will, in life and in death, now and forever, stand by the Stars and Stripes.

DEATH AND LAST RITES FOR CAPT. CHARLES H. BOWKER.



With full military honors, funeral services for Capt. Charles H. Bowker, who was drowned in Roosevelt Lake, Ariz., after saving the life of a woman, September 9, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Arlington National Cemetery, with Rev. Henry Anstadt officiating.

Capt. Bowker was commissioned as a major and placed in command of the field hospital service of the District National Guard before that organization was sent to the Mexican border last year. Capt. Bowker was connected with numerous medical organizations.

According to an authentic report of the accident in which Capt. Bowker lost his life, he went to the rescue of a woman while on a trip in a launch on the lake and succeeded in saving her life. It is thought that the exertion affected his heart and caused him to drown, as he is said to have been an exceptionally good swimmer.

Capt. Bowker was born March 20, 1870, at Lisbon, N. H. He graduated from the Lisbon High School, the new Hampton Academy, the medical department of the National University, the Hahnemann Medical Collage and the George Washington University.

He took post-graduate work at the New York Post-graduate College, New York University and Harvard University.

During his practice of his profession at Berlin, N. H., he was city health officer, county physician and surgeon to Androscoggin Hospital.

He held the following positions in Washington: Surgeon, United States coast and geodetic survey; medical examiner in the Pension Office, associate professor of bacteriology of Howard University, professor of physiology, United States Veterinary College; associate professor of anatomy of George Washington University and professor of pathology, National University.

Capt. Bowker was a member of the New Hampshire Medical Association, the District of Columbia Medical Society, the American Medical Association, Association of Military Surgeons, National Geographic Society, Washington Academy of Science, American Association for the Advancement of Science, Association for the Prevention and Cure of Tuberculosis, etc.; Order of Washington, Sons of the American Revolution, National Genealogical Society, Home Club, Monday Evening Club and the Capitol Yacht Club.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Eleanor T. Bowker; his father, Mitchell H. Bowker, and a brother, Edgar M. Bowker, of Wakefield, N. H.

Washington Star, Sept. 25, 1917.

RESOLUTIONS, DEATH OF CAPTAIN CHARLES H. BOWKER

RESOLVED, That by the death of Captain Charles H. Bowker this Society has lost an active, faithful and esteemed member; the poor an earnest friend, and the Nation an efficient officer:

RESOLVED, That The National Genealogical Society extend to Mrs. Bowker their sincere sympathy in her great bereavement:

RESOLVED, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Society, and a copy of the same be sent to the bereaved family.

All communications in regard to exchanges, or current or back numbers should be addressed to the Librarian, Miss Cora C. Curry, 1020 Monroe Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Persons desiring extra copies of their articles can order the Quarterly in multiples of 25 at a wholesale price, if they will communicate with the Editor 30 days before publication.

A limited number of selected advertisements will be accepted. Rates upon application to the editor.

Entered as second-class matter March 28, 1913, at the post office at Washington, D. C., under the Act of August 24, 1912.

A number of prominent libraries have recently purchased sets of the QUARTERLY, almost exhausting the supply of Vol. 1, No. 1, The Librarian will be be glad to purchase copies of that issue at an early date, to complete other files. Libraries and individuals desiring complete sets of our publication should promptly communicate with the Librarian.

NATIONAL ARCHIVES BUILDING —A WAR NECESSITY.

The unprecedented demand for additional space in practically all of the great U. S. Departments at Washington, and throughout the Nation, as well as throughout the embassies and legations abroad, has rendered imperative the speedy erection of a National Archives Building. This matter has long been agitated, and numerous organizations and individuals have steadily pressed the matter upon the Congress. The necessity for quick and concerted action now is most apparent.

Before the much needed large building can become available immense quantities of very important records must, apparently, be moved from storage buildings (inflammable, and makeshifts at best) to storage buildings, or destroyed according to the varying views of the different public officials, under the general required sanction of the Librarian of Congress. There exists a pressing necessity for immediately available fireproof, safe and suitable storage for large qantities of records which otherwise must be sacrificed to provide badly needed space in which to conduct the ever increasing activities of the war. This is not a theory, it is a constantly growing and insistent fact. It is better to preserve the records in bulk, even, than to sacrifice them.

The omnibus public building Act (Public—No. 432) approved March 4, 1913, took away Square 143, which had been acquired as the site for a National Archives Building, and directed that the large Department of the Interior Building (recently occupied) be erected thereon. It also (Sec. No. 21, of said Act) authorized the construction somewhere in Washington of a large fireproof Archives Building "not exceeding the sum of $1,500,000." after the preparation of suitable plans, for which latter action there was appropriated $5,000.00. These plans were prepared and returned by the Public Buildings Commission, etc., to the Supervising Architect, Treasury Department, for amendment showing a more suitable exterior. These amended plans, with a full report, are to be presented to Congress by January 1, 1918.

Senate Bill No. 299, 65th Congress, 1st Session, was introduced by Senator Miles Poindexter, who is actively interested in the preservation of the National archives, but this bill yet remains before the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds. There are points in this bill which seem to be desired by the Government authorities, before further action is taken, and persons and organizations interested in the speedy acquisition of a suitable National Archives Building should urge action early in December upon Senate No. 299, and upon the matters involved in the March 4, 1913, legislation.

Col. Wm. W. Harts, U. S. Army, lately Executive and Dis. Officer Pub. Bldgs. Commission has carefully considered the pressing emergency and has suggested the use of the basement of the stately Lincoln Memorial Building as a temporary, yet safe, storage for the National Archives in the emergency. It might even most appropriately be made a permanent receptacle for the Rebellion and Revolutionary records, without in any manner detracting from the purely memorial and classic structure honoring our martyred Civil War President.

The contractors for the Lincoln Memorial state that the unappropriated basement of this building will provide about 600,000 cu. ft. of dry, fireproof space, and that it could be made available in about three months' time. Otherwise a temporary fireproof structure should, apparently, be authorized by Congress and speedily constructed in Washington. This might be made of cement, iron, etc., and later taken over for storage purposes by the U. S. Army, etc., when the more pretentious National Archives Building can become available. Quick and concerted action by historians and genealogists throughout the Nation is urged, acting through Senators and Members of Congress. Action by the Congress is necessary in any successful plan to properly save the archives.

G. M. B.

Mr. Wm. J. Gammon, Hawesville, Ky, is a member of the N. G. S., who has contributed decidedly valuable earliest Kentucky records. The first 131 Wills of Jefferson County, Ky., appear in this issue. He has also forwarded 2,292 earliest Marriages of Jefferson County, Ky., from 1800 to 1826, and they will shortly be published in the QUARTERLY.

Dr. Charles H. Bowker, whose sad death by drowning on September 9, 1917, as noted elsewhere, was National Councillor of the N. G. S. from 1912 to 1917, and was much interested in the activities of the Society. The QUARTERLY extends its deepest sympathy, and that of the Society, to Mrs. Bowker and to the general family.

MARRIAGE OF ELDON CROMWELL LEWIS AND VIRGINIA FAIRFAX GORDON, AUGUST 23, 1917.

A wedding of interest, especially to those of Virginia and Maryland Colonial and Revolutionary stocks, took place Thursday, August 23, at 5 o'clock, P. M., at St. James Episcopal Church, Atlantic City, N. J.

Miss Virginia Fairfax Gordon became Mrs. Eldon Cromwell Lewis. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Smith Gordon, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eldon Lewis. The wedding was a quiet one on account of recent deaths in the bride's family. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Blackford and would have taken place several days earlier, but for a provision of New Jersey Law requiring 72 hours between taking out of license and performance of ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis are of Washington, D. C. and will make their future home at Willard Courts Apartment, City. The QUARTERLY extends its congratulations.

REV. ANTHONY JACOB HENKEL.

The Dedicatory Services of the Tablet and Tombstone to the memory of Rev. Anthony Jacob Henkel and wife, will be held in St. Michael's Church, Germantown, Philadelphia, Pa., on Sunday, October 28, 1917. This notice has been issued by Mr. Elom O. Henkel, Secretary Henkel Memorial Monument Committee, New Market, Va.

This is a celebration of the four hundredth anniversary of Martin Luther, and of the two hundredth anniversary of the coming to America of Rev. Anthony Jacob Henkel and family. He was the first Lutheran preacher in America and settled at Germantown, Pa.

The Henkel collections of the late Dr. A. Stapleton, have been sent by his family to Miss Cora C. Curry, with the request that she complete Vol. 2, No. 3, of the Henkel Memorial.

ACCESSIONS TO THE LIBRARY.

By the Librarian.

Gifts not reported should be called to the attention of the Librarian. Everything intended for the Library should be addressed as follows:

Miss Cora C. Curry, Librarian,
1020 Monroe St., N. W.,
Washington, D. C.

The New York State Library publications received (14) are a great acquisition and highly appreciated, viz:

Ecclesiastical Records of the State of N. Y., six vols., beginning with Aug. 21, 1621.

Military Minutes of the Council of Appointments, four vols., including the Index, (1784-1821).

Council Minutes, 1688-1783, bulletin No. 58.

Colonial Records, General Entries, Deeds, 1664-5, History bulletin, No. 2.

Early Records of the City and County of Rensselearswyck (Albany), Vol. 2, (July 1, 1678), (Vol. 1 of the last named is particularly desired).

Ryerson Family, compiled and presented by Albert Winslow Ryerson, includes church, family and other private records, as well as from official sources. This is a genealogy and history of the Knickerbocker families of Ryerse, Ryerss, Adriance and Martense as well as the name family. All appear to have settled in America prior to 1650. The descendants from ocean to ocean and of many different names are well indexed in this volume of more than 400 pages of carefully scheduled genealogical data, full of exact information and historic suggestions. It is a good collection, well typed for ready reference.

Parks Families of Connecticut, by Frank Sylvester Parks, presented by Mrs. Parks.

The author indicates the difficulties of the accurate compiler by instancing one birth record of a man now living, which is stated as 1825 in the Church record; as 1827 on the town record, while the man himself is sure that he was born in 1826.

Coats-of-Arms, origin of the name and various spellings, other Park genealogies and some of the English Parke families, as well as a full list of the Parke names under various spellings who fought in the Rev. War recorded herein will be of much service. The book is replete with names of places and the exact dates so necesasary to genealogy.

Messenger and Hendrickson Families, Notes by Morris P. Ferris, a valued contribution by the author, and will be welcomed by researchers and by the families of interest.

Coryell's Ferry in the Revolution, gift of A. B. Dent, presents most attractively little known facts of Bucks Co., Pa. history, and, incidentally, more or less of individuals.

Miss Lillian A. Norton presented a fine collection of magazines, newspapers, etc., together with an excellent lockable bookcase with glass doors, for their keeping, viz:

Journal of American History, 4 years, Vols. I to IV, incl. (1907-1913.)

Daughters of the American Revolution Magazine, 4 years, Vols. 41-48, incl. (July, 1912-June, 1916.)

Genealogical Exchange, Mrs. Natalie R. Fernald, Editor, Buffalo, 7 vols. complete. (May, 1904-April, 1911.)

New Hampshire Genealogical Record, (Dover) Vols. 4, No. 1, to Vol. VII, No. 2, (its close). (Vols. 1, 2 and 3 are much desired to complete this file.)

Boston Transcript, Mondays and Wednesdays, genealogical issues, May 1, 1907, to Dec. 27, 1916, incl. (It is hoped that others will add to this valuable file.)

Report of the State Librarian of Connecticut.

Miss Maria F. Bailey has given her files of the N. G. S. Quarterly, Vols. I to V, incl., and file of D. A. R. Magazines, 1909 to 1916, incl., for use as exchanges in securing other publications. Miss Bailey also presented Official Register of the United States, 1879.

Miss M. Blanche Magruder presented, through Miss Bailey, the Annual Report of the American Historical Society, 2 Vols., 1913.

Chronology of California, is another valuable compilation of Orra E. Monette, President of the Sons of the Revolution, California, presented by the author, as was also a second copy of their splendid collection Spirit of Patriotism, the Revolutionary and Ancestral Records issued by the Society as the Year-book of 1915.

Mr. Willis Milnor Dixon, Librarian of the Sons of the Revolution, California, presented a most interesting Chart of his Ancestors, to which he has added an Appendix showing his grandsons.

John Watts De Peyster, 2 Vols., an excellent work by Frank Allaben contains incidentally considerable genealogical material, especially Vol. 1, which deals with the ancestors.

Catalogue of the Officers and Graduates of Yale University, 1701-1916, and the 1915-1916 Obituary Record of Yale Graduates presented by the University.

Eugenic Record Office, Bulletin No. 18, The Inheritance of Stature, By Charles B. Davenport.

Illinois in 1818, compiled and presented by Solon Justus Buck; an instructive work full of historical information.

Descendants of the early settlers will rejoice that the author's questions, "Who were these people who flocked to southern Illinois in such numbers in the last years of the territorial period?" "Where did they come from?" "Why did they leave their former homes and why did they select Illinois for their new homes?" will in a measure shortly be answerable. The Illinois State Historical Society has carefully compiled lists of some 6,020 persons resident in Illinois in 1818, as gathered from Schedules of Census of 1818, poll lists, petitions and other records. It is hoped these may soon be published by the Society.

Wisconsin State Historical Society, Proceedings of the 64th Annual Meeting, held Oct., 1916.

Interesting as these proceedings always are, yet, the thought will intrude of the valuable collections of this Society in its Library, that are not available for general information, and of the splendid work that it could do by printing some of them. Genealogists and historians alike would benefit greatly by such publications.

D. A. R. Yearbooks are always welcome. Some of the Pennsylvania Chapters in particular have included valuable data of Devolutionary soldiers in these publications. Mrs. J. H. Krom reports the commendable action of the Fort Antis Chapter, Jersey Shore, Pa., in marking the graves of Revolutionary soldiers buried there, with full list of the same.

Yearbook of Bellefonte Chapter, D. A. R., Mrs. Valentine, (Contains List of Revolutionary Soldiers buried in Center County, Pa.—Valuable).

Makers of America, 2 vols., gift of the author, Benj. F. Johnson. Opening with Woodrow Wilson, it is interesting to find the name of no other President in the index to these volumes. Mr. Johnson specially says, "Makers of America" are not necessarily "celebrities" in the usual acceptance of the term. The name was given in a wider scope as enabling the compilers to assemble interesting details and data of men who, though statesmen, educators, and financiers, marched in the ranks and comprise the real sinews of the Nation. Here are found other men than those of the so-called "greatest" of the line.

Pamphlets from Mr. Leonard Wilson: Genealogy and Bearing of Coat-armour; Component Parts of Achievements of Arms. These are interesting compilations of Mr. Wilson.

The Journal of American History. The Library has a complete file of this splendid publication, 1907 to date, with the exception of Vol. 10, No. 2, (Apr.-May-June, 1916), and Vol. 8, No. 4, (Oct.-Nov.-Dec., 1914), which it is hoped some friend may soon contribute.

New Jersey Historical Society, Proceedings, Oct., 1916; Jan., Apr. and July, 1917.

Illinois State Historical Society, Journal, April, July and Oct., 1916.

Genealogy, monthly, edited by Wm. M. Clemens, Oct., Nov., Dec., 1916; Jan. to Aug., 1917, inclusive. Commencing with its Feb., 1917, issue it devotes each issue to some one family in particular, but always includes other genealogical data. During these months Greene Marriages in Rhode Island; Harrison Family; Wright, Logan, Cooper, and Boone families have been special numbers. This innovation is appreciated.

Molly Pitcher.

In this quaint old cemetery in the Cumberland Valley, Pennsylvania, surrounded by ancient houses of the Revolutionary period, stands the splendid monument erected by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, June 28, 1916, in memory of this heroine of the Continental Army.

There are two tablets, one on either side of the State arms. Above, in heroic mould stands Molly Pitcher, with ramrod in hand, the personification of health and vigor. Facing the main driveway are two tablets, one of which shows Molly giving drink to a wounded soldier.

The other depicts the woman in the act of firing a cannon.

At the rear, the tablet to the left reads as follows:

"Mary Ludwig ('Molly Pitcher,' Daughter of John Ludwig, Born October 13, 1744, Died January 22, 1832. Married John Hays 1769. John Hays Enlisted December 1, 1775, in Proctor's First Pennsylvania Artillery. Re-enlisted January 1, 1777.

"Sergeant John Hays was wounded at the battle of Monmouth, June 28, 1778.

"Mary Ludwig Hays ('Molly Pitcher') returned to Carlisle, Pa., with her wounded husband, and after his death she married Sergeant George McKolly (or McCauley.)

"She died January 22, 1832, and was buried with military honors. The Pennsylvania Assembly 1821-1822 granted a pension to Molly McKolley (or McCauley) for services rendered. This monument erected by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, June 28, 1916."

The other tablet bears this inscription:

"Mary Ludwig Hays ('Molly Pitcher') accompanied her husband during his services in the Continental Army, and rendered valuable service in the capacity of an army nurse, and by reason of her many acts of kindness became known throughout the army from the oft-repeated expression, 'Here comes Molly and her pitcher,' as 'Molly Pitcher.'

"At the battle of Monmouth, June 28, 1778, Sergeant John Hays was severely wounded, and as he fell to the ground, Molly sprang to the cannon he had been serving, which cannon had been ordered to the rear, but before the gun could be withdrawn she had taken her husband's place and rendered such valiant service that General George Washington, after the battle, thanked her personally for her bravery and heroic action."

The inscription concludes with Sarah Woods Parkinson's poem:

O'er Monmouth's field of carnage drear,
With cooling drink and words of cheer
A woman passed who knew no fear—
The wife of Hays, the gunner.

With ramrod from her husband's hand
Beside his gun she took her stand
And helped to wrest our well-loved land
From England's tyrant king.

From the ranks this woman came,
By the cannon won her fame;
'Tis true, she could not write her name
But freedom's hand hath carved it.
Shall we then criticize her ways?
Nay, rather give her well-earned praise,
Then doff our caps and voices raise
In cheers for Molly Pitcher."

To the rear of the imposing monument stands a simple slab, the original monument, with this inscription:

MOLLY McCAULEY,
Renowned in History as MOLLY PITCHER,
The Heroine of Monmouth,
Died January, 1832.
Erected by the Citizens of Cumberland County,
July 4, 1876.

In memory of Catherine Ross, Relict of James Ross LL. D., who departed this life, Dec. 1, A. D. 1846, aged 82 years.

In memory of James Ross, LL. D., who departed this life in Philadelphia, July 6, 1827, aged 84 years.

George Stevenson, LL. D., died July 13, 1783, aged 65 years.

Mary Stevenson, died Oct. 15, 1791, aged 63 years.

Doctor George Stevenson, son of the above named George and Mary Stevenson. Died May 8, 1829, at Wilmington, Del. Aged 70 years.

Served with distinction at the Battle of Brandywine, Lieut. in the 1st Pa. Regt., and afterwards until close of the war as a Surgeon in the Continental army, and was one of the original members and founders of the Society of Cincinnati.

ORGANIZATION AND EARLY HISTORY OF THE NATIONAL GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.

Paper by Mrs. Ruth M. Griswold Pealer read at the banquet of the National Genealogical Society, Hotel Richmond, Washington, D. C., March 8, 1915.

It is of value for Societies as well as individuals to occasionally fall into a retrospective mood, to study the reasons for their existence, and to follow the various stages through which success has been attained.

As one of the founders of the National Genealogical Society, I have been requested to give you tonight some of the facts connected with its organization and early history. Prior to April, 1903, there was no association of genealogists in Washington. With the departments of the General Government overflowing with data needed by genealogists in all parts of the country, and the great Congressional Library filled with historical and genealogical lore, which only the few living in its vicinity could consult, the need was felt for a medium through which the vast fund of material in the capital city might be disseminated.

After consultation with other genealogists, Mr. Newton L. Collamer, Editor of the Historical Bulletin, and an officer in the "Collamore Union," issued a call for a meeting at his home, 920 S St. N. W., on the evening of April 24, 1903, to consider the formation of a local society. Six were present at that meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Newton L. Collamer, Sr., Dr. Joseph G. B. Bullock, author of several genealogical works, Mr. Alfred Barbour Dent, an authority on heraldry and a well known genealogist, Mrs. Ruth M. Griswold Pealer, Registrar General of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, and Miss Eugenia Washington Moncure, its Genealogist.

After an informal discussion it was decided that the organization should be national in character, with resident and corresponding membership. Object, assistance to genealogists in a practical way through correspondence and an interchange of data, with a publication to be sent to the members containing hitherto unpublished records, gathered from various sources, or supplied by members. A genealogical "clearing house" was considered, with a card index system free to members, to which all should contribute. Heraldry was also to be made a feature. The governing power was to be vested in a council of resident members.

At this meeting an organizing committee was appointed with Mrs. Pealer, Chairman, Mr. Collamer, Secretary, Mr. Dent, Treasurer. This committee was authorized to prepare a prospectus of the plans under consideration, which was mailed to genealogists throughout the United States.

PROSPECTUS OF THE AMERICAN GENEALOGICAL ASSOCIATION.

Issued May 1, 1903, by the Committee on Prospectus appointed at an informal meeting held in Washington, D. C., April 24, 1903.

With all its organizations the National Capital has none appealing to genealogists although the latter are plentiful here. The annual conventions and other meetings of patriotic and historic associations draw hither hundreds interested in ancestry, while thousands know of the genealogical data to be had exclusively in Washington but cannot easily gain access to it when they come or have no ready channel for securing it by correspondence. There are especially valuable records available here which have never been published and which, through suitable influence, might be obtained and put in print; and in that form they would be of great practical use to genealogists throughout the country.

Prompted by the belief that organization by those having common aims and needs would be of mutual benefit and might secure access to or copies of official records where individual effort would not, we therefore propose the formation of a National genealogical society with headquarters in this city. At a recent informal meeting for an interchange of opinions the following was evolved as our general and composite idea, although nothing will be decided on finally until every suggestion in response to this Prospectus shall have been considered.

Name, American Genealogical Association; object, material assistance to genealogists who are members; membership, resident and corresponding; dues, $1 a year at first; government by a Board of local members who can meet; medium, a publication to be issued six or at least four times a year, free to members; the card index bureau or "clearing house" idea to be established and carried out; library and permanent quarters unnecessary now; heraldry to be a feature if members so decide.

Suggestions are solicited from all. Those interested in an organization formed on substantially this basis are invited to remit $1 and be enrolled as charter members; their suggestions shall have special consideration and the policy finally adopted will conform as nearly as possible with the popular opinion. The Historical Bulletin will serve as a medium of publicity for the present, in addition to which the friends of the movement are requested to circulate this Prospectus (with their endorsement of approval) in letters to their genealogical correspondents. Additional copies may be had by applying to the Temporary Treasurer.

Fraternally and Cordially,

Editor Historical Bulletin.—Office: 1006 F Street.
ALFRED B. DENT, Temporary Treasurer,
Washington Loan & Trust Co.—Address: 906 A St. S. E.

Much interest was manifested and numerous suggestions were received during the summer. At a meeting held Nov. 14, 1903, at room 18, 1006 F St. N. W., the formal organization was effected with 24 members present. It was decided that these, with such persons as should perfect membership before Jan. 1, 1904, not to exceed fifty, should be charter members of the society. This action was taken on motion of Dr. E. A. Hill, which was as follows:

"Resolved, That the following named persons hereby organize themselves into the National Genealogical Society, to wit:

Joseph Brandenburg	F. S. Hammond	Miss Elizabeth Cilfford Neff
Joseph G. B. Bullock	Dr. E. A. Hill	Mrs. Ruth M. Griswold Pealer
Frank T. Cole	Celia I. Ingham	W. T. Powell
Newton L. Collamer	Carll A. Lewis	Mrs. Helen N. Rupp
James S. Cushing	Mrs. James H. Lobdell	Edgar L. Spafford
Alfred B. Dent	Kate L. McMillan	Mrs. E. Maynicke Stillman
William T. Dewey	Cora L. Maricle	Miss Mary K. Talcott
Louis A. Dent	Minnie F. Mickley	E. E. Wilson."

Mr. Dent was elected permanent Treasurer, and the other temporary officers were continued. Mr. Dent, who had been appointed chairman of a committee on Constitution, reported a draft of same which after discussion was adopted.*

At a meeting held December 15, 1903, permanent officers were elected as follows:

President, Capt. Charles H. Campbell,
First Vice-President, Miss Minnie F. Mickley,
Second Vice-President, Miss Susan Hetzel,
Recording Secretary, Mrs. C. W. Dunlap,
Corresponding Secretary, Mr. Joseph F. Brandenburg,
Treasurer, Mr. Alfred B. Dent,
Editor, Mr. Newton L. Collamer.

Members of the Council were:

Dr. J. G. Bullock,	Mrs. E. Maynicke Stillman,
Dr. Edwin A. Hill,	Mrs. Lucia E. Blount,
Mrs. Ruth M. Griswold Pealer,	Mrs. George Marsh.

The nominating committee was Miss Minnie F. Mickley, Messrs. Dent and Collamer.

At this meeting 33 members were reported. A seal for the Society was adopted, on motion of Dr. Hill, the design, "Two concentric rings; the words —National Genealogical Society—between them, the year 1903 at the bottom, and an oak tree as a charge within the inner circle." The question of an insignia was also discussed.

At a meeting held December 21, 1903, a set of By-Laws was adopted and a ruling made that applicants for membership must submit proof of having actually performed genealogical work, which proof must be satisfactory to the committee on membership and approved by the Council.

In January, 1904, the Historical Bulletin was made the official organ of the society. Leaflets were issued occasionally and sent to all the members, thus keeping absent members in touch with the central work. An unique feature was the policy requiring each committee to be charged with its proportion of expense, with instructions to conduct the work in such a manner as to be not merely self-supporting, but also a producer, and to swell the general fund. An account was to be kept to ascertain which branch, if any, it was not desirable from a financial standpoint to continue.

In June, 1904, the society was incorporated under the laws of the District of Columbia with a charter membership of 48. At the annual meeting in November of that year the membership had increased to 57, 26 corresponding and 31 resident members.

Until March 28, 1908, the entire business of the society was transacted by the Executive Committee (afterwards designated "Board of Management"), and the Council. At a special meeting on that date it was decided that interest in the society would be increased by holding open meetings and having the members join in the discussions and decisions. The Board of Management was abolished and now all matters which have been discussed and can be recommended by the Council are brought directly to the society for decision.

These monthly meetings have been very enjoyable and have brought the members into closer touch with each other. The papers presented and the discussions which follow are found to be very interesting and instructive.

The National Genealogical Society bears upon its Honorary Roll many names of high repute. We have from Scotland:

Edmund Alexander Baillie,
Malcolm Bulloch,
A. M. McIntosh,
Rev. Walter McCloud,
J. P. Menzies,
Alexander Munroe,
Capt. Douglas Wimberly.

We also have:

Matthew Habershon of Yorkshire, England; Monsieur Meschinet de Richemonde, France; H. Farnham Burke, Heralds College, London, England; Gen. Henry M. Robert, Owego, N. Y., and others.

Like many organizations, this society has had its periods of depression and discouragement, but like the oak pictured upon its first seal, it has year by year anchored its roots more firmly and spread out its branches more embracingly, so that after nearly twelve years' existence we can feel it is firmly grounded and able to withstand any storm that may beat against it.

Ruth M. Griswold Pealer,
Chairman Organizing Committee,
National Genealogical Society.

OFFICERS OF THE NATIONAL GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY FOR 1918.

The annual election of officers occurred at the December meeting of the Society, which was held at the residence of Mrs. Jessie Porter Woods. Few changes amongst the officers were made, and the result of the election appears upon page three of the cover of this issue. Vacancies exist in the offices of Chaplain, and of one National Councilor, which will be filled at a subsequent meeting of the Society.

The officers and members of the organization call especial attention to the foregoing historical address by Mrs. Ruth M. Griswold Pealer, and invite active genealogists throughout the United States to apply for membership in the National Genealogical Society. An earnest appeal is also made for an increased subscription list for The National Genealogical Society Quarterly, in order that the number of pages of valuable matters published may be at least doubled, or more, and that its usefulness may thus be largely enhanced. Your personal assistance in any manner is earnestly requested.

STANDARD CERTIFICATE OF DEATH.

After much consideration amongst public health and genealogical authorities throughout the United States, the American Public Health Association, about 1910, approved a Standard Certificate of Death. The Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, promises shortly to approve a form for adoption in the registration area embracing about ninety per cent of the nation's population. Genealogists will be interested to know that it is to include the name and birthplace of both parents, and it should include the ages of such parents. The same important information should also appear upon the Standard Certificate of Birth. It is comparatively an easy matter for the certifying physician to ascertain and include these facts, thus largely increasing the value of the records.

Persons familiar with the difficulties connected with the incomplete records and vital records and statistics of the Civil War period, must view with alarm the immense temporary, inflammable and crowded structures scattered throughout the city of Washington, and the possibilities of destruction of the records of the life, maiming and death of the millions of American citizens and soldiers who will shortly be serving throughout the world. The imperative need for a large permanent, fire-proof National Hall of Archives grows day by day—it is a War necessity. It will afford better safety for the inflowing current records, by releasing badly needed space in fireproof buildings, and secure the preservation of priceless old national records.

The Public Buildings Commission, in its report of December 8, 1917, to the Congress, recommended that Squares 294 and 295 be taken for a National Archives building, to cost $5,115,000. These squares are close to the present P. O. Department. Interest your Senators and Members of Congress and secure speedy Congressional legislation.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed you will receive a roll of the quota who have marched this evening for the place of their rendezous. The length of time which has elapsed, since they were detailed under the order of April 19,1812, has produced many changes, which require time to correct and has delayed the marching of the detachment. With respect I am yr. Mo. ob.

STATE OF VERMONT, ORANGE COUNTY, ss.

We the undersigned, Martin Flint, First Lieutenant, and Jacob K. Parish, First Sergeant, of Randolph, make oath that we served as such officers in the Company that went from said Randolph as volunteers to repel the British in their invasion of Plattsburg in September, A. D. 1814, that the within roll is the original roll of said Company made out by the said First Sergeant at the time and is true and correct, that the Captain, Lebbeus Edgerton, is dead, having deceased in Randolph some time ago, that we recovered no compensation for time or services or expenses, nor did any of said company to our knowledge, that we rallied on the evening and night of Friday, September 9, and most of said Company arrived at home on Saturday, the 17th of September. The distance from Randolph to Plattsburg is about ninety miles. The said roll was made out at Burlington. The said Company went as far as Plattsburg.

MARTIN S. FLINT, First Lieutenant,
J. K. PARISH, First Sergeant.

Sworn and subscribed

PHINEAS MOULTON,
Justice of the Peace.

Mrs. J. S. Rosborough, Texarkana, Texas, May 17, 1917, said the original roll was drawn up by Jacob K. Parish, her father (born Sept., 1793), "who was orderly sergeant of the said company, a few days before his 21st birthday, while on the University grounds at Burlington, upon a box of guns and while on their way to Plattsburg. He left a full autographic account of his joining 'the training band' June 1, 1812, and his 6 months experience in camp to March, 1813, written after his eightieth year. Mr. Phil S. Howes, Recording Secretary, Vt. Historical Society, Nov. 19, 1917, says "neither the Librarian nor myself has any knowledge of the Society possessing the original roll of the Randolph Volunteer Company. Owing to the congested condition of the papers of the Society we may possibly have it stored somewhere. To the best of our knowledge and belief this roll has never been published."

SECRETARY'S ANNUAL REPORT.

To give a detailed account of each meeting of the Society since the last report, which appeared in Vol. VI, No. 1, would usurp space that could be used to greater advantage genealogically. But the out-of-town members are entitled to a glimpse of what they miss by being non-residents.

Owing to the over-crowded conditions in Washington, due to immense war activities, it has not been possible to meet in a hotel, as was done last season, but the meetings have been more social by reason of taking place in some of the larger private homes.

There has been a meeting of the Society on the first Saturday of each month since April, 1917, excepting in the months of June, July, August and September, with an average attendance of twenty members, and with few exceptions the same members. The Society has lost the following active members by death, Dr. Charles H. Bowker (who was drowned in Roosevelt Lake, Arizona), Mr. Zebina Moses and Mrs. Cora Bacon-Foster, all of whom were well known in literary circles. A few resignations have been more than off-set by the election of the following new members, Mrs. Sarah Thompson Burnside Valentine of Bellefont, Pa.; Mr. George James Sharp, of Howard, Elk. Co., Kan.; Mr. Nelson Osgood Rhodes, of Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. Robert A. Molineaux, of Syracuse, N. Y.; Mrs. Florence Merritt Thompson and Mr. Gilman Bigelow Howe, of Washington, D. C.

Among the important features of the Society's work, has been the revision of the By-laws. Mr. Dent, chairman of the committee, made a preliminary report showing the changes to be practically confined to the elimination of the work "National" from the officers' titles, but retaining the word in the name of the Society; also such changes in language and numbering of paragraphs and sections, as are necessitated by the abolition of the office of "Organizer of Societies"; also bringing out the fact that all active members have the privilege of voting by letter for officers, if unable to be present at the annual meeting held in this city. Later, a further amendment was suggested, that the annual election be held in May instead of December. No formal action has yet been taken on this report.

At the April meeting, a resolution was passed that the Society go on record as approving the action by Congress in declaring war on Germany, and that we offer our services to the President of the United States in any manner acceptable in upholding the traditions and the flag of our country.

At the May meeting the Society was presented with a fine bookcase for our rapidly growing library.

One of the very important undertakings by the Society is keeping before the public and the government officials the necessity for a Hall of Records for housing government archives which are in greater danger than ever before of being destroyed to make room for the current government work. This matter is being urged on Congress as a "war measure," as such a building would release many rooms in the departments and save renting outside buildings for new bureaus.

The Society has been represented by committees, at the Lafayette Celebration held in this city on Sept. 6, 1917, and at the convention of the National Security League in Chicago on Feb. 21, 22 and 23, 1918.

In the way of social features, the Society has been entertained by vocal solos by Mrs. Gertrude Lyons and Miss Helen Hopkins, piano solos by Mrs. Harvey and mandolin solos by Mr. Keblinger. Talks have been given by Mr. Harvey on the Capture of Major Andre; by Mr. Dent on the Evolution of the British Union Jack composed of the Crosses of St. George of England, St. Andrew of Scotland, and St. Patrick of Ireland; by Mr. Gordon on the Sinking of the Brig Armstrong; by Mr. Anthony on the Value of Genealogy in relation to History; and by Mr. Tudbury of Los Angeles, on the Sons of the Revolution in the State of California.

Papers have been read by Mr. Dent on the "Life of Lafayette," by Dr. Bulloch on "Shall We Live Again?" and by Mrs. Longfellow on "The House Restored."

Our library is a very thriving institution and Miss Curry's monthly reports are always looked forward to with lively interest. Her own detailed account of the many donations and exchanges are valuable features of our magazine. The latter continues to grow in usefulness and interest. Let each member secure additional members, subscribers, and contributions of valuable records.

Among those who have been present at most of the meetings, are: President Parks, Dr. and Mrs. St. Clair, Dr. and Mrs. Brumbaugh, Mrs. Pealer, Mrs. Marsh, Mrs. Longfellow, Mrs. Woodward, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Hill, Misses Curry, Oursler, Norton, Wood and Morris, Dr. Bulloch, Mr. Dent, Mr. Gordon, Mr. Smith, Mr. Kellogg and Mr. Gerald.

COLONEL JAMES MOORE (BORN 1757); MOORE AND TOWLES BIBLE RECORDS.

By Emily Steelman Fisher,[a]
Reedville, Va.

"'Tis good sometimes to travel back
To days of 'Auld Lang Syne.'
Retrace the ancient fathers' tracks
Along the mossy line;
Visit the old ancestral homes,
Our parents virtue learn,
And round their monumental stones
Let veneration burn."

Near the mouth of the Potomac River in Northumberland County, Virginia, in an abandoned family grave yard (2½ miles from Heathsville and about 2½ miles from Coon River wharf where Washington and Baltimore steamships stop) rest the remains of Colonel James Moore, an officer of the Revolutionary army. Here, with a grand old sycamore tree standing ever like a sentinel on duty, under its wide spreading branches, lies the dust of Colonel Moore and his wife, Sarah (Delany) Moore. The old plantation home was called "Northumberland House" and all the original buildings were destroyed by fire. James Moore was the son of James Moore, Sr.,[b] and Elizabeth Whitehill Creswell,[c] his wife, of Chester county, Penna.

James Moore, the father, held many offices of importance during the Colonial and Revolutionary periods.

At Philadelphia, May 23rd, 1770, Mr. Moore was appointed Justice of the General Quarter Sessions, Court of Common Pleas for Chester County, Pa., also a member of the Committee of Safety.[d]

Judge Moore lived in a fine stone mansion near the present village and railroad station of Glen Moore, Pa. He has been pictured to us of the present generation, as "A gentleman of Ye Olden times."

James Moore, the son, was born in Chester County, Pa., in 1757, died May 20, 1813, aged 56 years. At the call to arms in 1775, he quickly responded and, on the recommendation of the Committee of Safety, January 5, 1776, was appointed Captain of the seventh company in the Fourth Battalion, under Colonel Anthony Wayne. (Pa. in the War of the Rev. Vol. I.) Throughout the entire war Colonel Moore, occupied positions of trust. He participated in the battle of Brandywine and others, and Sept. 20, 1777, was promoted Major of the First Pennsylvania Regiment. He was promoted to be Colonel in the fall of 1783. In July, 1783, the Colonel was at the barracks at Philadelphia and about this time became a member of the Pennsylvania branch of the Society of the Cincinnati. He was also one of the eight marshals of the great civic and military parade, which took place in Philadelphia, July 4, 1788.

James Moore received U. S. Land Warrant No. 1419 for 400 acres of land, issued June 3, 1790, for service as Major of the Penna. troops in the Rev. War. The record is preserved, but papers in the official case were burned at Washington in Nov., 1800. Ed.]

After the close of the war Col. Moore engaged in the retail drug business, the store being at the Corner of Second and Walnut streets, Philadelphia, Pa. He married Sarah, daughter of Sharp Delany, the first collector of the Port of Philadelphia, Oct. 18, 1787, in the old historical Christ Church, that city, by the Right Rev. Bishop William White.

Colonel Moore and family went to Virginia about 1800 and the Family Bible is in possession of Mrs. Catharine J. Crane, Independence, Texas; a grand daughter of Col. James Moore, and daughter of Elizabeth Whitehill (Moore) Bates and Fleming Bates. The record follows:

Margaret Delany Moore, oldest daughter of James and Sarah Moore, was born on the morning of the 20th day of January, twenty minutes after 5 o'clock, 1789. [married Thomas Towles of Va.]

Elizabeth Whitehill Moore, second daughter of the afforesaid James and Sarah, was Born on the morning of the 20th day of May, at half past four o'clock, 1790. [married Fleming Bates.]

Rachel Sharp Moore, third daughter of the said James and Sarah was Born on the morning of the 16th July at half after four o'clock, 1792. [married James Shepherd.]

Mary B. Moore; fourth daughter of the afforesaid James and Sarah, was born on the night of the June, 1794. [married Richard Hudnall.]

Sharp Delany Moore, first son of the afforesaid James, and Sarah, was born on the morning of the 17th September, 1795. [died unmarried.]

James Francis Moore, second son of the afforesaid James and Sarah, was born on the night of the 8th November, 1706, Dec'd Wednesday, 14 Oct. 1801.

Daniel Sharp Delany Moore, third son of the afforesaid James and Sarah was born on the 18th day of Feb'y 1798, at 2 o'clock, P. M., [died unmarried.]

Sally Delany Moore, fifth Daughter of the said James and Sarah, was born [Feb. 18, 1798, died unmarried.]

Frances Baldwin Moore, sixth daughter of the said James and Sarah was born on the evening of the third of May, at half past nine o'clock, 1800 [died unmarried.]

Bertha Ann Moore, seventh Daughter of the said James and Sarah, was born on Thursday, the 20th of August, 1801. 4 o'clock P. M.

At 11 o'clock on the night of the 18th and at 3 o'clock on the morning of the 19th March, 1803, Sarah Moore was delivered of two boys, the first born James, [died young.], the 2nd Thomas, Thomas died on the 19th at 12th o'clock of the day of its birth.

Catharine Ann Moore, eighth daughter, of the said James and Sarah was born on the morning of the 31st of March, 1806; [married Samuel C. Tapscott.]

Jane Love Moore, ninth daughter of the said James and Sarah, was born on the morning of the 31st of March, 1807 [Married Peter Hull.]

Died on the morning of the 20th of May, James Moore in the year 1813.

Departed this life, on the 1st day of Decr 1814. Mrs. Sarah Moore, relect of Colonel James Moore.

Inscriptions on tombstones in Northumberland House family burying lot:

aged 56 years.

aged 47 years.

The following further interesting facts are gleaned from court records:

Before Col. James Moore left Philadelphia, Pa., for "some place in Va." he made an assignment of some property for the benefit of creditors. After payment a balance of $1,327.23 had been paid under an order of Court of Jan. 4th 1821 in this case to a receiver, to be held for the benefit of those entitled to it.

As Col. Moore and wife died in 1813 and 14 and no member of his family had ever returned to Phila. one can read between the lines that the Moore family after living in affluence preferred the severing of family and social ties, and a life among strangers to meeting in the walks of daily life those who had known Col. Moore and wife in more prosperous times. In 1865 his brother David Moore wrote "James made an assignment of debts and land to discharge this balance and they are amply sufficent" but we see James Moore ceased to "live, move, or have a being" as far as kindred and friends were concerned, so no one of the family could furnish clues to the Court concerning the heirs of James Moore. This sum of $1,327.23, was invested and reinvested by the receiver, until in 1891 it amounted to over $18,000.00, From 1842 to 1890 the fund was in the custody of the Girard Life Ins. Annuity and Trust Co., of Philadelphia. In 1891 the Supreme Court appoint S. D. Davis, Auditor to report a scheme of distribution of the funds. The Auditor published a notice in certain papers, and as a result claimants sprang up from the four corners of the earth. The unusual character of this case was noticed in the papers. One paper happened to catch the eye of Mrs. Crane of Texas, Col Moore's grand daughter who wrote offering proofs, etc. The evidence submitted to the Auditor was so precise that the claims of the descendants were admitted and there were for net distribution $15,759.17.

Thomas Towles (sen) died April 5th, 1822, aged 37 years, 6 months.

Note.—Both Thomas Towles and wife Margaret D. Moore are buried in the same grave yard with Col. Moore.

[Note: Mrs. Fisher describes the old cemetery as a mass of underbrush which required extensive cutting before access was possible; and that, amongst the mass of broken stones; there remain but those of Col. and Mrs. Moore, and of Thomas and Mrs. Towles.

It seems desirable for the descendants of Col. Moore to have the Government Revolutionary marker placed over the grave, and the cemetery should be cleaned and protected—Ed.]

ABRAHAM HOW, OF WATERTOWN AND MARLBOROUGH, MASS.

By Gilman Biglow Howe, Washington D. C.

Abraham How was one of the earliest settlers of Marlborough, Mass., his name appearing as one of the Proprietors of that town in 1660. He seems to have lived in Watertown, a few years prior to coming to Marlborough. He married, May 6, 1657, Hannah Ward daughter of William Ward who also was one of the Proprietors of Marlborough. Bond's Watertown supposes him to be identical with Abraham of Roxbury, but this the records show to be wrong. Hudson in his Hist. of Marlborough, makes the same error; the first three children were born prior to coming to Marlborough, the second and third being recorded in Watertown, and we presume that Daniel, the eldest, was born in that town. It is not known when nor where the father was born, family tradition has said that he came from Devonshire, Eng. The only clue we have that he had any relatives in this country, is in his will, where he mentions John Barns senr. as "my loving kinsman" but it gives us no light as to the place of birth. He was a prominent man in the new town. According to Savage, in 1694 he kept the Inn, at which the Commissioners of Massachusetts (to treat with the Mohawks,) lodged the first night of their journey. He died Jan. 30, 1695, and his widow, Nov. 3, 1717, aged 78.

WILL OF ABRAHAM HOW.

I Abraham How of Marlburrough, in the County of Middlesex, in the Province of the Massachusetts Bay, in New England, Farmer, being of intire understanding, but sensible of my approaching death, by reason of my great age, do make and ordain my last Will and Testament in manner and form following, viz. After the resignation of myself unto my most merciful God, on whose trust and richest grace, I hope for a part in the glory of the third heaven.

I give and bequeath unto Hannah my loving wife to be to her use and at her disposal and her own property, all my monies and household stuff, particularly my furnates together with all Sheep Swine and Neat Cattle which I have, except one pair of Steers and one Cow, likewise my said wife shall have to her own use (during her natural life) which of the Two first rooms she shall choose at either end of my new dwelling house together with the free use of the Ovens and Cellar of my said house, as she shall need, and all rent free.

Item, I give unto Hannah my wife and to her heirs and assigns forever, all my right and claim unto all uplands meadows and swamps, lying in the Six Thousands Acres of land lately purchased of the Indians, situated Northward of and near to Marlburroughe aforesaid.

To my Eldest son Daniel How, I give and bequeath all my now dwelling house and out houses, and all those acres of my Houselot or Homestead adjoining to my said House which are yet undisposed of together with my whole Town right in Marlburrough aforesaid for Firewood, Timber and food of Cattle, proportionately unto the five and twenty acres of my houselot granted me by the Proprietors of said Marlburrough.

Item, I give unto my said son Daniel all the Meadows now belonging unto my said house lot, as the said meadows are now devided and distinguished betwixt my said son Daniel and my son Abraham How, and I give my said son Daniel How all my right unto a third Division of Upland in said Marlburrough consisting of fifty acres more or less not yet laid out, together with all my right which or ought to have in any division or divisions of land which Shall hereafter be made by the Proprietors of said Marlburrough, in the lands as yet undevided According to the full proportion of my house lot of five and twenty acres all those forementioned houses land and rights which I have given and bequeathed unto my said son Daniel How, shall be to himself and to his heirs and assigns forever.

Item, I give my said son Daniel How all my Tacklings and Utensils for Weaving; And my Will is that my said son Daniel How shall well and carefully maintain Hannah my wife his mother immediately after my death with all necessaries and conveniences at his own proper charge for her comfort both in sickness and in health, during the natural life of his said mother the said Daniel keeping or causing to be kept one milch cow, for her use and long as his said mother shall desire the same.

To my Son Joseph How and to his heirs and assigns forever I have already given as his portion in full from mee a certain messuagely next adjoining to my said houselot in Marlburrough the said messuage containing Eighteen acres of land more or less in on entire piece Northward from my now dwelling house together with one dwelling house thereupon situated as more fully appears in a deed of Gift by mee given to said son Joseph How dated the twenty-third day of May in the year of our Lord One thousand six hundred ninety four.

To my son Abraham How I have already given Eleven Pounds toward his purchasing the messuage forementioned of his brother Joseph How, and I give my said son Abraham How Twenty Nine pounds more in money toward the completment of the said purchas,

Item, To my said son Abraham I bequeath the two Steers and the Cow above in this my will excepted from the rest of my Cattle Also I bequeath unto my said son Abraham all my furnisher and instruments for Husbandry, which I have not yet disposed of, But my nineteen Iron rings to ty up Cattle with, all I give unto my abovesaid son Daniel,

Item, to my said son Abraham I give my Musquet and my Sword, By my fowling gun shall be at the disposal of my wife, and my will is that my said son Abraham How shall pay or cause to be paid unto Hannah my wife, his mother during her natural life Twenty shillings money, a year from year to year,

To each of my five daughters already married I give forty shillings and no more because they have already had of mee the Bulk of their portions viz: Mary wife of John Bouker, Hannah wife of Eleazer How, Elizabeth wife of Samuel Brigham, Deborah wife of John Barrett, Jr., Rebecca wife of Peter Rice, The said forty shillings shall be paid unto each of my now married daughters here named in such household goods as my wife shall be best able to spare, within one year after my decease, Unto my two other daughters namely: Sarah How and Abigail How I give portions which shall be for kinds and quantity equal unto two of their forenamed sisters,

I Appoint Hannah my loving wife Executrix, and my son Daniel How Executor of this my last Will and Testament, And I desire my loving brother in law Capt. Henry Kerley and my loving Kinsman John Barns senr., to be the Overseers of this my Will.

Witness my hand and Seal this twenty fourth day of May in the year of our Lord Christ One thousand six hundred ninety and four Anno Quinto Regni Regis and Regina Super Anglian Guilielmi and Maria.

ABRAHAM HOW (Seal).

IDENTIFICATION AND RECORDS OF SOLDIERS

It is an unfortunate fact that U. S. soldiers, drowned through German inhumanity by the sinking of the Tuscania, rest in foreign graves as UNIDENTIFIED defenders of our nation. It is also a lamentable fact that the government is not properly preserving the current records of the millions who are risking their lives. Insufficient system, insufficient experienced help; inflammable, temporary and widely separated buildings and frequent shifting of records, all invite loss and destruction of valuable records of both the present generation and also of the past. The economic losses are already experienced in the War Risk Insurance work.

Records are often stacked upon floors, in attics, cellars and garages—anywhere to make room for present emergencies. The need for immediate legislation starting a large archives building (and a temporary fire proof structure for storage) daily grows more imperative. Such relief will immediately release sixty rooms in the State, War and Navy main building alone, and all other departments will be similarly relieved.

A full realization of urgent conditions facing the authorities should assure immediate Congressional legislation to save the federal records. Organizations and individuals should urge remedial action by this Congress.

NONCOMBATANT SERVICES.

Alexander Doran, in "Survival No. 12, 784" of U. S. Pension Bureau, under date of May 14, 1833, said that, as a member of the militia of N. J. during the Revolutionary War, he was paid by his captain from a fund levied upon the Quakers who refused to do active military duty; and that other militiamen were similarly paid by their captains. This, fact, we believe, has been unknown to historians.

During the present great struggle the Quakers are maintaining a considerable body of their own members in active reconstruction work in France, through voluntarily subscribing a thousand dollars per worker abroad. Large numbers of Friends, and of other non-conbatants, are in various ways quietly and actively showing their loyalty to the U. S. Government in these times which try men's souls, and there is no uncertainty as to their patriotism.

All true Americans can perform helpful service by promptly reporting active Hun sympathizers, wherever they may be found. The Secret Service will "do the rest."

National Genealogical Society Quarterly

Vol. VII JULY, 1918 No. 2

MRS. RUTH M. GRISWOLD PEALER.

Mrs. Ruth M. Griswold Pealer, First Vice-President of the National Genealogical Society, died at Washington, D. C., May 12, 1918. Mrs. Pealer had been actively interested for many years in the principal societies of a patriotic and historical nature, and had taken an active part in many of them. She was Registrar General, N. S. D. A. R., 1902-1903, and its genealogist from Oct. 1903, to the date of her death. She was National Registrar of Daughters of Founders and Patriots, and Ex-Natl, Reg. of C. A. R.

Resolved: That in the death of Mrs. Ruth M. G. Pealer, one of the founders, and at the time of her death First Vice-President of the National Genealogical Society, this Society has suffered an irreparable loss. By her unassuming manner and gracious qualities she had endeared herself to friends and acquaintance alike, and all members of the Society who have ever met her, feel in her death a deep sense of personal loss.

Resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Society and forwarded to her surviving family.

* Son of Mrs. Pealer, who m. (1), Philip John Green, d. Dec. 16, 1883; (2), Peter P. Pealer, d. Oct. 3, 1916. The father spelled his name "Green," the son spells his name "Greene."

THE HART FAMILY.

Compiled by Mrs. C. C. Ennis, Washington, D. C.

In tracing the direct ancestry of the Honorable John Hart* (signer of the Declaration of Independence) and from a close study of this family of Harts of L. I., later of Hopewell, N. J., it appears that they were originally from Mass., and that the first settler was probably a brother of Stephen Hart (deacon), who settled in Plymouth in 1632. This Stephen Hart is known to have had a brother Edmund who accompanied him to this country, and settled near Cambridge and Dorchester, Mass. Edmund Hart is thought to have been the father of the first John Hart of Newton, L. I., which town borders on Flushing.

Stephen Hart was born at Braintree, Eng., about 1605, and was one of the original proprietors of Farmington, Conn. Hartford, Conn., was named after the ford of the Connecticut River, which ran through Stephen Hart's farm. This Stephen Hart and his descendants have for a long time used the following Coat of Arms:

"Sable, a chevron arg; between three fleur-de-lis or."
Crest, a castle tripple towered ppr.;

Motto, "Coeur Fidele". This coat of arms belonged to the Lord Mayor of London, of the name, and was granted in 1589.

Our first John Hart lived in L. I., at Newton. His will recorded in New York Probate Office, Vol. 1, page 153, and proven in 1671, names children, with exception of his oldest son John, who having already received his portion, is given one shilling. To the others, Samuel, William (of Menticock near Oyster Bay), Sarah and Susan were given the farm. Much information concerning the Newton, L. I., Harts is gleaned from the old records and deeds at Jamaica, and from an old book found with the Town clerk at Newton. Our knowledge of the first John Hart begins March 11, 1668, as stated in the annals of Newton, when he and James Way secured the meadow lands at Maspeth Kills.

John Hart's estate was part of Smith's Island, being separated from Newton, (formerly called Newtown) by a creek.

John Hart (I) had a son John, who was a carpenter and married Mary. John Hart (II) had a son John Hart (III), who was a yeoman according to the Town Book, and sold land which was part of his inheritance in 1704.

After this the Harts disappear from Newton as no further mention is made of them after the entry of the following note in 1701:

"It is requested that the inhabitants of Newton shall hang gates to the Kills." Signed with many others, by Ralph Hart, John Hart, Tunis Titus and John Hunt." **

GENERATIONS:

I. John Hart of Newton, L. I., and Stonington, Conn., (who probably descended from Edmund Hart) first settled in Massachusetts (will proved 1671) names children as follows:

II. 1. John Hart, a carpenter died in 1712-13.
2. Samuel,
3. William,
4. Sarah,
5. Susan.

John Hart (II) was resident of Maidenhead now Lawrenceville, about 1700. Name written in old documents as John Hart sr., who married Mary .....? and had the following children:

III. 1. John Hart jr.,
2. Ralph,
3. Nathaniel, who married Elizabeth .....? (see will),

* There is a very interesting article in the New York His. and Gen. Review, P. 171, vol. 26., giving a lengthy discussion on the ancestry of John Hart the signer, and his portrait.
 (See Pioneers of Old Hopewell, N. J. by Ege, p. 119.)

4. Edward, (father of John Hart the singer). He died before August, 1752, according to wills and deeds signed by his two sons, Daniel and John). He married Martha .....

5. Joseph, youngest son.

The "white Harts" and "black Harts" were of the same household, and not separate families as some historians state. (see N. Y. Gen. & Biograph. Record Vol. 25, p 170, Oct., 1895). The families of Capt. Edward and his brother, Maj. Ralph were called "the black Harts" from their dark complexions, to distinguish them from John, Joseph and Nathaniel, who were blonds."

The will of Nathaniel Hart (III-3), of Hopewell, N. J., was proved March 5, 1742; wife Elizabeth; children, as follows:

Ephraim, Moses, Anne, Elizabeth, (the last three minors at that time).

Ralph Hart of Trenton Township, Will proven August 22, 1749; wife Sarah; children as follows:

Ralph jr., Benj., Samuel, Josiah, and Mary, who married Mr. Carpenter.

Rev. Dr. Cooley in his History of the Early Settlers of Ewing and Trenton, N. J., 1883, states that John and Joseph Hart came to Hopewell, N. J., near the beginning of the 18th century, and bought farms adjoining each other. The name of John is signed to an agreement dated August 26, 1703. On page 100 of said history, Dr. Cooley states that Ralph Hart, brother of Edward, came to Hopewell, N. J., and settled at Lawrenceville some time before his brother John.

Another proof that the third generation were all brothers is found in the will of Nathaniel Hart of Hopewell, dated January 21, 1742, from which was copied the following:

"I order and nominate Elizabeth my wife with my brother Joseph Hart and John Hart (son of my brother Edward) to be sole executors of my last will and testament." (See "Pioneers of Old Hopewell, N. J." by Ege, page 120.)

Captain Edward Hart, (III-4) of Stonington, Conn., and Hopewell, N. J., married Martha (.....?) and had the following children:

IV—1 John Hart (the signer), b. April 1, 1711, who was baptized in the Presbyterian Church at Lawrenceville on February 10, 1714, and died May 11, 1779, about 67 yrs. of age. He married Deborah Scudder and had 13 children. She died in 1776, in the 55th year of her age.

IV—2. Sarah, who married Temple Burroughs,

IV—3. Daniel, who married ....., and had one son Levi Hart at his decease, who married Mary Hunt, and had issue.

IV—5. Edward, ...

Captain Edward Hart was a man of means, and prominent in affairs of both Church and State. He raised a company of volunteers, called "Jersey Blues" about 1745 or 1746, and from this corps the title of Jersey Blues has been handed down. He was the fourth son of John Hart (II) of Newton, L. I.

Saunderson in his Biog. of the Singners, says that Capt. Edward Hart took part in the Battle of Quebec in 1750, but this is incorrect, as he died on or before August, 1752, as proven by records and deeds signed by his two sons John and Daniel.

The Rev. Dr. Hale some years ago, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Jamaica says: "Hopewell was settled about the year 1700, principally by emigrants from L. I., who were founders of the Presbyterian Church of Hopewell, which formed part of the old congregation of Maidenhead (Lawrence).

The Presbyterian Church of Hopewell in its infancy, was received into the Presbytery of Philadelphia. This indicates how close was the territory of Newton, to the territory near Philadelphia. This also accounts for the difference in published statements by various Historians as to the baptismal place of Hon. John Hart, some having it Lawrenceville, some Philadelphia, others Maidenhead.

Historian Dwight in his book "The Signers of the Declaration" page 138, states that the following is copied from a tablet in Independence Hall, Phila.:

"John Hart born 1711, died 1779." His will was probated May 26, 1779. "He was baptised in the Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia, 1713." John Hart inherited considerable patrimony from his father, and had nothing to wish for to increase his domestic comfort and enjoyment. He possessed a large farm and mills productive enough to furnish all means necessary for the support of his family and the education of his many children. The farm was beautifully situated in Hunterdon Co., N. J. His dwelling was the seat of piety, hospitality, and charity.

He united with others in electing delegates to the first general Congress, which convened in N. Y. City in the Autumn of 1765. He was a member of the Congress of 1774. He was a member of the Colonial Assembly in 1761, and was annually elected a member of that body until 1772. In 1774 he was a member of the Provincial Congress which met at New Brunswick, N. J., and, in 1776, deposed Gov. Franklin, the Royal Governor, and established a new State Government. He was a member of the Committee of Safety, organized by that body. In the same year he was one of the five delegates chosen to represent N. J. in Continental Congress, and voted for and signed the Declaration of Independence, July 4, 1776. In the same month he was voted for and elected to the Legislature of N. J.,— was speaker of that body, a position he held until his death. (See Charles Paschal's History of Philadelphia, Vol. 3, p. 102. Also see Appleton's Encyc. of American Biog.)

After the battles of Trenton and Princeton had secured the evacuation of part of N. J., John Hart retired to what was left of his farm, which with his stock had been destroyed by the Hessians and his family had been exiled. His wife died of privation and anxiety for his safety, a price having been placed on his head by a British commander.

He signed the Declaration in his seventieth year. He died on his farm May 11, 1779. The death date on his tomb which is 1780, is incorrect, as proved by his will. (See Lamb's Biog. Dict., p. 567, Vol. 14. See also Stephen Hart and His Descendants by Alfred Andrews, New Britain, Conn. 1875.)

John Hart's descendants are numerous and scattered over the South and West. In published histories many errors and conflicting statements occur. In the rooms of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa., is to be found a Mss., containing the family records of John Hart, with a sketch of his life which has never been published — written for the Society by Hon. John S. Darragh, of Beaver, Pa., who is a son of Deborah and a grand son of Jesse Hart (eldest son of John Hart the signer, who resided at Hopewell, N. J. during the Revolution). He copied the data from the family Bible of John Hart, his father, which he possessed in 1860. This Bible gave the death date of Deborah Scudder, the wife of John Hart, as occurring October 20, 1776. "Departed this life in the 55th year of her age, Deborah, the wife of the Hon. John Hart, who left twelve children and 22 grand children behind her." (See Pioneers of Old Hopewell, N. J., by Ege, p. 121).

The following data is taken from old family Bibles, records and letters, and from notes taken by Mrs. Lucy Brown, Mc Crum (9-6) of Aurora, Va., (living there in 1916,) during a conversation she had with Mrs. Deborah Booth (6-4), a daughter of Edward Hart, son of John Hart the signer. Mrs. Booth died long after the Civil war, at 90 years of age.

"John Hart (the signer) was a son of Capt. Edward Hart of the "Jersey

Blues" and lived near Hopewell, N. J., during the Revolution. He married Deborah Scudder, and had the following children:

ISSUE OF JOHN HART (IV—1) AND DEBORAH SCUDDER:

V—1. Sarah, b. Oct. 16, 1742; mar. Jacob Wickoff.

V—2. Jesse, b. Sept. 19, 1744; mar. ? Had issue. His daughter Deborah was the mother of John Darragh, of Beaver, Pa.

V—3. Martha, b. Apr. 30, 1746.

V—4. Nathaniel, b. Oct. 29, 1747.

V—5. John, b. Oct. 29, 1748, for history of his life, see Dr. Cooley's Gen. of the Early Settlers of Trenton and Ewing.

V—6. Susannah, b. Aug. 2, 1750.

V—7. Mary, b. April 7, 1752.

V—8. Abagail, b. Feb. 10, 1754.

V—9. Edward, b. Dec. 30, 1755; mar. Nancy Stout and had issue.

V—10. Scudder, b. Dec. 30, 1757.

V—11. A daughter, b. Mch. 16, 1761; d. unnamed infant.

V—12. Daniel, b. Aug. 13, 1762; d. aged 86, in 1848, in Va.; mar. Margaret Bund of N. J., in 1788, and had issue.

V—13. Deborah, b. Aug. 21, 1765.

Of the children above named, ten married and had families, and all sons had moved from N. J., 20 years after the death of their father. Some settled in W. Va., some in Penn. and Ky. Every vestage of the old homestead where these children were reared, is a thing of the past, except a few old hearth stones of a large fire place in a chimney, near Hopewell, N. J.

Sept. 6, 1779, Jesse Hart, Nathaniel Hart, and Edward Hart, together with Levi Hart, son of their Uncle Daniel Hart, executors of the last will and testament of John Hart, advertised in the Trenton Gazette as follows: "For sale, the two-third share of three undivided lots of land at Rocky Hill, with the grist mill and fulling mill, being a part of the estate of the Hon. John Hart, of Hopewell, N. J."

On p. 19 of "Pioneers of Old Hopewell, N. J." by Ege, it is stated that Glenmore Mills had been transferred from Joshua Anderson to John Hart and his brother Daniel (father of Eli Hart) Oct. 4, 1751, and that they operated them till July 4th, 1766, and then sold them to John Wickoff, and brothers. This deed is signed by Daniel Hart, John Hart and Deborah his wife. John Hart signed this paper just 10 years before he signed the immortal document which made him famous.

The index to the N. J. Archives states that these Wickoff brothers were doubtless the same family as Jacob Wickoff who m. John Hart's dau. Sarah, whose ancestry is given in that book.

ISSUE OF DANIEL HART (IV—3):

Daniel Hart (IV—3), brother of Hon. John Hart (IV—1), and business partner with him in the Glenmore Mills property, lived on a fine farm. He had one son and heir at his decease, Levi Hart (5—1) who m. Mary Hunt.

ISSUE

6—1. Daniel, who d. a young man in 1795.

6—2. John Hunt, who m. Elizabeth Titus.

6—3. Charity, who m. Nathaniel Bryant.

6—4. Sarah, who m. John Stout, Nov. 12, 1799.

John Hunt Hart and Elizabeth Titus moved to Seneca Lake, N. Y., when their children were young. Levi Hart was about 45 years of age at that time and accompanied his son John Hunt Hart to N. Y., also his two daughters Charity and Sarah, and their busbands.

The place was a farm and is still in the possession of descendants—Mch. 10, 1784, Levi Hart, only son of Daniel Hart, deceased, sold the homestead farm to Benjamin Cornell, the deed being signed by Mary Hunt(wife of Levi Hart) who was a daughter of Elnathan Hunt.

See "Pioneers of Old Hopewell, N. J., by Ege, p. 125, for further data.

N. B.—Daniel Hart (IV—3) has been confused with his nephew Daniel Hart (5-12) (son of the signer) in several published documents.

John Hart's two sons Edward and Daniel Served in the Revolution in the N. J. militia (See Stephen Hart and His Descendants, by Alfred Andrews, New Britain Conn., 1775). Edward, m. Nancy Stout of Hopewell, N. J., later moving to Beverly, Randolph Co., Va. (now W. Va.)

Daniel mar. Margaret Bund of N. J., in 1788, some historians give the name as Margaret Burr, but this is incorrect. Her pet name in the family was "Peggy." Daniel Hart and his family moved to Randolph Co., in 1794, where his brother Edward had preceded him.

He represented his county in the General Assembly of his adopted State in 1819, dying in 1848, aged 86, his wife surviving him two yrs. He was a gentleman of high character and commanding influence, and filled offices of public trust for many years.

ISSUE OF EDWARD HART (V-9) AND NANCY STOUT:

Edward Hart (V—9), b. Dec. 30, 1775, m. Nancy Stout of N. J. and emigrated to Beverly, Randolph Co., then Va., (now West Va.) previous to 1794. They carried their children and household goods through almost an unbroken wilderness on horses with pack saddles, and found the place of their destination very sparsely settled.

The old Indian fort still stands above the village. The place of their residence is still pointed out by the oldest inhabitants of the place.

Edward Hart and Nancy Stout died and were buried at Beverly. He was a member of the N. J. militia during the Revolution and his widow drew a pension for his services until her death. His wife Nancy lived to see her great, great, grand daughter, Mrs. Earle, who was b. in 1844, but d, soon afte the birth of this child.

*THE PIERPONT BURYING GROUND AT CATONSVILLE, BALTIMORE CO., MD.

As the name Pierpont has become world-famous during the past half-century in connection with high finance, it may not be without interest and genealogical importance to investigate the history of a private burying ground in which scores of people bearing that name were laid to rest.

Some years ago when searching the records at Annapolis and elsewhere with a view to writing a Colonial History of Catonsville, the author of the present article compiled an apparently complete list of the original patentees of the land on Hunting Ridge, just west of the city of Baltimore. The name Pierpont was not found among these Colonial landowners. Thus one clue as to the earliest settler by that name is lacking.

The first mention of a Pierpont on Hunting Ridge that has thus far been found occurs a few years after the close of the Revolutionary War, when a man by that name became the owner of some land located about a mile north of the present village of Catonsville, the name now most generally used for the Colonial Hunting Ridge region. * *

It was probably in the late eighties when the author first discovered the Pierpont Burying Ground, which is the subject of this brief sketch. At that time he was an enthusiastic bicyclist, and on one of his rides he stopped to rest at a point on the Rolling Road about one mile north of the Frederick Turnpike, according to his present recollection On looking around he noticed near the top of a slight eminence to the westward a group of tombstones, and at once set out to explore the premises. Nestling under the lee of a thick grove of scrub pines he found a private burying ground in which the prevailing name was Pierpont.

There were perhaps fifty to one hundred graves in all, although the exact number could not have been determined even by an attempted count, as many graves had no tombstones and were almost obliterated by the action of the elements. The oldest date found was a few years prior to 1800, it is believed, and the latest a stray one of the year 1887, if memory serves aright.

In later years the spot was revisited from time to time with reminiscent interest, until upon one occasion it was found that the Pierpont Burying Ground was gone — a plowed field occupied the site.

Later inquiry of one of the Pierpont family, one well represented in the neighborhood, developed the fact that the tombstones * * * had been removed to Woodlawn Cemetery lying about three miles to the North and a new cemetery of Baltimore's distant suburbs.

Such in brief is the history of one of the oldest known burying grounds on Hunting Ridge, a history extending over little more than a century of time.

There is also a branch of the Pierpont family in Connecticut, whose history has recently been published in part, and whose ancestry has been traced back to England, and ultimately to Normandy before the Norman Conquest.

The Maryland branch of the family appears to have located originally some distance below Annapolis, but its history does not seem to have been investigated up to the present time.

"There is about three fourth of the above land cleared and much worn, the rest in woods. Chiefly thin soil, worth about 19?.10.

"There is about 3,000 pannels of old fence on said land, the greater part of little value, worth about 6″ 0″ 0. There is also about 240 apple Trees on said Land the greater part of them is small, worth about 5″ 0″ 0. There is also one small Dwelling House and Eleven more old houses partly rotten down, scarcely worth notice, the whole worth about 10″ 0″ 0." See Colonial History of Catonsville, Art. 28.

BIBLE RECORDS OF HENRY BROOKS (NEW JERSEY)

*Compiled by Herbert Parvin Gerald, Washington, D. C.

Henry Brooks was born 1739, and died Sep. 19, 1774, aged 35 years and 9 months.

Bathsheba Harris, his wife, died July 6, 1814, aged 67 years and 7 months.

They had at least 3 children: Henry, Josiah, and Harris. Of these, the owner of this Bible, Henry Brooks, was born June 6, 1765, and died Oct. 9, 1829. He married Amy Pierson June 5, 1785; who was born March 14, 1769, and died May 9, 1834. He and his wife are buried at the old stone church near Fairton, N. J.

Their children were:

1. Bathsheba Brooks, born Sep. 1, 1786, and died June 30, 1860. On Jan. 18, 1804, she married Patrick Conway, who was born March 22, 1774, and died Sep. 13, 1835. No children.

2. Amy Brooks, born Oct. 11, 1789, and died May 4, 1855. On Jan. 28, 1807. she married Andrew Rocap, who was born July 17, 1786, and died May 30, 1854.

3. Henry Brooks, born May 1, 1791, and died Feb. 28, 1839. On Dec. 26, 1810, he married Deborah Hunt Sheppard, who was born Dec. 22, 1792, and died July 17, 1838.

4. Ruth Harris Brooks, born Aug. 30, 1795, and died Sep. 15, 1872. On March 7, 1810, she married Gilbert Harris, who was born Nov. 6, 1787, and died May 18, 1838. (see below).

5. Hannah Lawrence Brooks, born Aug. 17, 1797, and died March 8, 1864. On Oct. 11, 1815, she married Isaac Harris, who was born March 21, 1796, and died March 23, 1849. (see below).

6. Amariah Harris Brooks, born July 30, 1799, and died Aug. 26, 1799.

7. James Harris Brooks, born March 29, 1807, and died April 14, 1807

8. Ann Pierson Brooks, born March 2, 1809, and died March 12, 1850. On Feb. 15, 1832, she married David Dayton Conner, who was born Jan. 9, 1809. Harlin P. Conner (their son ?), died Jan. 8, 1870. Pierson Harris was born April 18, 1764, and died April 4, 1803. On Oct. 3, 1786, he married Judith Nixon, daughter of Jeremiah Nixon and Hannah Ogden (1736-1818), who was born June 14, 1764, and died March 4, 1838.

Their Children were:

1. Gilbert Harris, 1787-1838.

2. Hannah Jones Harris, born Oct. 29, 1789; died Jan. 14, 1847. On Nov. 19, 1806, she married Jedediah Ogden, Jr. (1784-1854), and was mother of 10 children. They went to Indiana in 1818, and died there.

3. Ephraim Harris, born March 27, 1792, died April 10, 1792.

4. Ephraim Harris, 2nd, born Dec. 15, 1793; died Sep. 5, 1849. He married Hannah Davis Nov. 31 (so in Bible), 1816.

5. Isaac Harris, 1796-1849. Nov. 5, 1806, Mrs. Judith Nixon Harris married Jedediah Ogden, Sr. (1750-1840), as his 3rd wife. No further children. In 1826 they went to Indiana, and died there. This Jedediah Ogden was an ensign in the Revolution.

Josiah Brooks, son of Henry Brooks and Bathsheba Harris, was born May 14, 1770, and died Aug. 6, 1849. His wife, Mary Read, was born Apr. 2, 1772, and died Feb. 22, 1867.

Harris Brooks, brother of Josiah above, was born May 17, 1773, and died unmarried Sept. 13, 1813.

Henry Brooks, 1739-1774, was great-great-grandson of Henry Brooks, born 1592, a Welshman, and a clothier by trade, who came with his family to Mass. in 1639 and lived in Coburn, dying Apr. 12, 1683.

DEPRECIATION PAY

In the N. H. Revolutionary Rolls, page 715, appears the "Depreciation Rolls to January 1, 1780." "Regular Pay Rolls of three New Hampshire Continental Regiments are not in possession of the State".

The statement is as follows:

"The following rolls were compiled for the purpose of paying these men a sum of money equivalent to the depreciation of the currency in which their wages had from time to time been paid, and probably contain the names of all men belonging to these Regiments prior to January 1, 1780."

Then follows the list giving the name, rank, pay, and company of each man.

RECORDS OF THE CONGRESSIONAL CEMETERY

The D. C. Society of the Sons of the American Revolution desires to secure the services of a competent person to carefully card index the early records of the Congressional Cemetery, prior to 1840. Any reader who can direct attention to a careful, accurate transcriber for this work will confer a favor by communicating with Admiral George W. Baird, Ex-Pres., and Member of Board of Management, 1505 R. I. Ave., N. W., City, or the editor of the Quarterly.

THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA IN THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION AND PATRIOTS OF THE REVOLUTIONARY PERIOD WHO ARE INTERRED IN THE DISTRICT OR IN ARLINGTON.

By Prof. Selden Marvin Ely, Historian, D. C. Soc. of Sons of Amer. Rev. Reprint from The Records of the Columbia Hist. Soc., Vol. 21, 1918.

This is a valuable, painstaking research positively locating forty graves of Revolutionary soldiers. and furnishing information concerning many others. It forms a substantial basis upon which further investigations will rear a more extensive memorial record. Each reader should try to add authentic interments to this important record now available.

Definite designations are made by Prof. Ely of forty-one patriot graves, with several possibilities. The following distribution is noted: Arlington, 8; Congressional, 14; Mt. Olivet, 2; Oak Hill, 2; Old Presbyterian, 6; Rock Creek, 6; Square 390, 1; Unknown, 4,—43.

Men of Mark in America, 2 Vols.—Merrill E. Gates, Editor-in-Chief, Presented by Benj. F. Johnson, Publisher. Opening with a chapter on American Ideals by Edward Everett Hale, Vol 1, (1905), was for the most part made up of biographies of men then in active life, among whom were Theodore Roosevelt and his Cabinet, Members of the Supreme Court, Senators and Representatives in Congress, etc. Biographies of Grover Cleveland, Admiral Dewey, Rear Admiral Robley Evans, Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, Alexander Graham Bell, James R. Garfield, Gen. A. R. Chaffee, John W. Foster, Gen Tasker H. Bliss, Cardinal Gibbons are among the many men whose ancestry is of special interest.

Vol. II, (1916), contains ninety sketches of men and women who have done some noble work in the States of Virginia and North Carolina, and has much of local color. Reading the Index is like calling the roll of the old families of those States.

TOMBSTONE INSCRIPTIONS, CHRIST CHURCH, LANCASTER COUNTY, VA.

*By Mrs. Emily Steelman Fisher,
Reedville, Va.

Christ Church was built in 1730 by Robert "King" Carter, b. 1663, d. August 4, 1732. His tomb and those of his wives (1), Judith Armistead, (2), Betty Landon are to be seen close to the wall of the church. They are in a ruined condition, the work of a vandal. There are two crypts within the church. Inscriptions are as follows:

"Here lyeth the body of Mr. David Myles, who died 29th, December 1674, and in ye 64 yeare, of his age."

"Hodie mi hi eris tibi."

"Here lyeth buried ye body of John Carter, Esquire, who died, ye 10th day of January A. D., 1669, and also Jane ye daughter of Mr. Morgan Glyn, and George, her son and Elinor Carter, and Ann, ye daughter of Mr. Cleavis Carter.

Sarah ye daughter of Gabrell Ladlowe, and Sarah her daughter.

Which ware all wives, successively, and dyed before him."

"Blessed are ye dead which dyed in ye Lord, even soe saith ye spirit for they rest from their Labours and their works doth follow them."

* Mrs. James Clark Fisher, life member of the National Genealogical Society. (See p. 9).

Inscriptions on tombs in the church yard,—

"A fond Mother places this stone in memory of a dutiful son, Melville B. Noell who was born in Bedford Co., Va., 25 February 1810. Died 30 Sept. 1834."

"Sacred to the memory of Nathan M. Oyler, A member of Wicomico Lodge No. 99 I. O. O. F., Who died July 24, 1853, in the 27th year of his age."

In the — obliterated — year of his age, and was interred beneath this slab."

"This monumental slab is placed here by James Kelley, the only surviving child of James and Judith Kelley in the memory of James Kelley his father, over whose mortal remains it is placed, who died about the year 1795, aged about 60 years."

"Armistead Kelley, a brother who was born September 16th, 1784, and died in February, 1825, and was burried in the cemetery of Essex."

"David Kelley, a brother who was born December 12th, 1788, and died in the state of Mississippi, about the year 1827."

"Robert Kelley, a brother who was born April 20th, 1794, and also two infants born afterwards, who all died in infancy."

"In memory of James Kelley, who died February 1st, 1856. In the 23rd year of his age."

"Beneath this monumental slab is deposited the mortal remains of William Kelley, son of James and Judith Kelley, who was born in the County of Lancaster, March 22nd, 1781, and died in the city of Baltimore whither he had gone for medical aid, May 18th, 1848, in the 68th year of his age. After a protracted sickness, which he bore with much patience and resignation and died peacefully in the hope of a blessed immortality. An only surviving brother, James Kelley, who lived with him for many years in fraternal intercourse, and harmony, and who cherished for him the kindest recollections, erects this stone as the last tribute of respect and affection to his memory."

MARRIAGE LICENSES OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

By Gaius M. Brumbaugh, M. S., M. D., Washington, D. C.

The land records of the original District of Columbia start from the Government's title acquired in 1791. Marriage records for that area, both before and after that date, have been given considerable attention by the writer, and they are more fragmentary than is generally supposed. When published they will become a mine of genealogical information. They are found in Church records (which have been carefully arranged), as the Colonial requirements for annual transmission of a duplicate record of marriages to Annapolis, Md., seems to have left no trace for the present generation—owing to their apparent loss or destruction. Diligent search has also been made by the writer for the earliest public marriage records following the organization of the District of Columbia, but none are known to survive for the Maryland portion of the original District before Dec., 1811. Vol. I, Marriage Index, Clerk's Office, D. C., conveniently presents copies of all the original marriage licenses from Dec. 23, 1811, to Aug. 31, 1858. Vol. II extends from Sept. 1, 1858, to June 18, 1870. A few of the earliest names are:

1811—Dec. 23, Smith, Fielder, to Eliza Reily.
24, Connell, John, to Stanley Bryan.
27, Sims, John, to Eleanor McNair.
1812—Jan. 1, Talburt, Alexander, to Sarah Karrick.
2, Mercerean, Lewis, to Margt. Williams.

Alexandria County (Virginia), D. C. Marriages.

The neatly copied marriage records for the Virginia portion of the original District of Columbia are found in a volume of such records in the Court House at Roslyn, Alexandria County, Va. They begin in January, 1801, and parts of the same are herein reproduced to the end of 1820.

These will be continued if the Quarterly subscribers indicate any majority desire to have the important record made available through its columns.

The writer made a special trip to the U. S. Court House, Alexandria, Va., and finds that the earliest marriage records there preserved begin with May 19, 1870,—age, color, single or widower, place of birth, husband and wife.

Birth records preserved at the Health Office, District of Columbia, are very recent, unfortunately, beginning in 1872. Complete death records began in Aug., 1874, and there are records of interments in all D. C. cemeteries, beginning Jan. 9, 1855,—these include causes of death, age, birthplace, residence, etc. There are no records from Aug. 1, 1862, to Jan. 1, 1866.

NATIONAL HALL OF ARCHIVES.

A recent writer in The Evening Star advocated the removal to Washington of the millions of the recent questionnaires executed by male citizens of the U. S.

The proper preservation of these important records is a matter of great importance, but the cubical space involved and the lax and diverse governmental methods of caring for records would seem to call for their preservation at the State Libraries. The other records involved in the present war are wonderfully voluminous. The writer knows of an instance where a requisition for a pair of shoe strings required thirty-one signatures, and long delay. The official auditing of the millions of transactions will last for generations.

In this connection it may be well to record the fact that the invaluable Revolutionary records have been stored in the large garage at 24th and M Sts. this city. No practical progress toward the erection of a National Hall of Archives as a War Measure has yet been possible, and the need for such structures daily becomes more imperative.

Since the above paragraphs were put into type the newspapers have announced the receipt in Washington of one shipment of War Risk papers from General Pershing amounting to twenty-six tons. Investigation shows that these went to one of the fifteen War Risk buildings (none fireproof), and that in the said one building there are, one hundred and forty-six tons of vital soldiers' and sailors' insurance papers stored next to an active furnace. Comment is unnecessary.

The one pleasing feature of this grave need is that a large fire proof building is being erected upon the Arlington Hotel site, and that the War Risk is later to be moved there.

At the January meeting of the National Genealogical Society Major J. C. Ruppenthal, one of our valued members, described the handsome State Memorial Historical Building erected at Topeka, Kansas, in memory of its Civil War veterans. The State used money recently appropriated by the Congress in EPITAPHS IN OLD YORK CHURCHYARD, YORK, MAINE.

This Stone is Fixed at the Head of Abraham Preble, Esq.
Deacon of the Church, Captain of the Town, & One of ye Judges of ye County of York, was universally Faithful to ye Death. Who Died Oct. 4, 1714 E. S. Tatis 72.

Here Lyes buried ye Body of Abraham Preble Esq. & Capt. in ye Town.
Judge in ye County of York.

He served his Country in various other Posts. And at the time of his Death which was March 14, 1728, in the 50th year of his age. Sustained no less than 9 offices of Honour and Publick Trust—for service of His Town, County & Province.

Esaias Preble, Born April 20, 1742, Died Dec. 22, 1812.

Of the above, the 1st Albraham Preble was the first Mayor of a Colonial town.

Abraham (2) surnamed "The Great" was his son, and had filled in all thirteen (13) offices of trust, and Esaias (3) was the son of Abraham (2) and was Capt. of the first Company (63 in number) who went from York, Me., in the Revolutionary War. Capt. (afterward Colonel) Preble was my great grandfather (on my mother's line). I have the photo of his grave, which I "restored" and placed a Betsey Ross flag thereon. His son, William Pitt Preble, my mother's father, was E. E. & M. P. to the Court of the Netherlands in Presdt. Jackson's administration. He was, earlier, Judge of the Supreme Court of Maine.

Another Epitaph in Old York Churchyard of which I also "restored" the grave.

"Here lies buried ye body of Mrs. Eunice Stone, the wife of Mr. John Stone, who departed this life, Feb. 20, 1765, aged 37 years.

"Here rests quite free from Life's Disturbing care
A loving wife
A tender parent dear.
Cut down in midst of days
As you may see.
But stop my grief
I soon shall equal be
When death shall stop my breath
And end my time
God grant my dust
May mingle here with thine."

Eunice Cutt Raynes was my maternal great-great grandmother and the epitaph erected by her sorrowing husband is very touching, but he afterward married a second time and had eight children by the 2d wife (he had had eight by the 1st wife) and his dust is "mingled" with that of his last matrimonial venture in Concord, Mass.

Children by his first wife (Eunice Cutt (Raynes) Stone) were:

1. Eunice Stone b. June 15, 1752.
2. Abigail Stone b. Nov. 15, 1754.
3. Nathaniel Stone b. Oct. 16, 1756. (also a son of the "Cincinnati)"
4. Mary Stone b. May 2, 1758 (my great grandmother).
5. John Stone b. Dec. 3, 1759.
6. Elizabeth Stone b. Oct. 16, 1761.
7. Johanna Stone b. June 8, 1763.
8. Benjamin Stone b. Feb. 15, 1765.

In Feb. of 1767, Capt John Stone (widower of Eunice) married (2d.) Martha Greenough of Boston, Mass. Capt. Stone removed his family to Concord, Mass., in 1790.

Lt. Joseph Tucker who married Mary, dau. of Capt. John and Eunice Cutt (or Cutts as the name was written from 1747) Raynes was a son of the "Cincinnati," as was his brother-in-law, Nathaniel Stone.

Joseph Tucker was a descendant of John Tucker who came to England and fought at the Battle of Hastings, Oct. 14, 1066; under William the First, called "The Conqueror."

He (John Tucker) was granted a coat-of-arms in 1079 by William I and assigned the estate of South Tavistock in the County of Devonshire.

He married the relict of "Trecareth," (who was supposed to have been the former proprietor) and their son, Stephen Tucker in 1110 received from Henry I a permit to wear his hat or bonnet in the King's presence, and was granted the estate of Lamertine, near Tavistock.

After the birth of their three sons, Joost, Luijkas, and Nicholas, Joost and Sara Sooy moved from New York, and settled in Burlington County, N. J.,where the family made extensive locations. Joost Sooy, Sen. died intestate and the estate was not settled in court until after the death of his wife, Sara Van Thienhoven in 1744.

The descendants of Dr. Van Thienhoven and wife Tryntye Boardingh living in Atlantic County, N. J., are many.

THE SOMERVILLE FAMILY

Compiled by Wm. Lloyd Dorsey, Washington, D. C.

ERSKINE, THORNTON, SKINNER, STUART, WAITE AND OTHERS.

The Sommerville family were ardent in their adherence to the cause of the Stuarts, and fought bravely in wars of that unfortunate family to keep the throne of England. When the Earl of Mar on Sept. 6, 1715, raised the Stuart banner in one more effort, proclaiming James Stuart king, and met the Campbells under the Duke of Argyle in the battle of Sheriffmer, only to be overwhelmed and his followers made prisoners, among those brave scouts was Cadet James Somerville, direct lineal descendant (through the House of Dun) from the renowned Sir Gaulter de Somerville, Norman knight, who nearly 700 years before came to Britain with William the Conqueror.

Rebecca Somerville, born 1765, married James Duke, also born in 1765. From Dr. Alexander and Mary Mackall (Broome) Duke, descended numerous families in Maryland, including the Duke, Bond, Broome, and other well-known names.

James Stuart, born 1537, was on 22 April, 1558, entered as a rentaller of the £705 8 d. land of Delower's, vacant by the death of Garrine Stuart, the right of Marion Lockhart, his mother, being reserved. He had a royal charter 22 December, 1798, to him and Helen Somerville his spouse of the Murk Land of Daldowie. He married Helen, daughter of John Somerville of Humble, and had issue, (names given, Burke's Peerage, 1899).

Hon. Thomas Erskine, born 10th Earl of Buchan, January, 1750, third son of Henry David, 10th Earl of Buchan, Erskines of the Reformed Castle, County Cornwall; his lordship married first, 29 May, 1770, Frances, daughter of Daniel Moore, Esq., member of parliament; died 27th, ... 1859, leaving her who died 16th December, 1827, first Henry David. born 18 June, 1864; second George, married 1845 Eleanor Elizabeth, daughter of Rev. Henry Winter of Chillenham, and died 12 September, 1897. She had, in 1892: (1) Harriet; (2) Louisa Lucy, married 21 May, 1845, Rev. T. F. Rudston Read, of Wintersham, and died 1865; (3) Caroline Stuart, died unmarried, 20 April, 1890; (4) Fannie Louisa, m. 16 Sept., 1847, to Hon. Henry Linwood Strong, baronet-at-law, died 1886. Julia Henrietta, married 17 February, 1856, Lieut. Broadley Harrison, 11th Hussars, and died 1890. Esme Stuart, 21 October, 1789, married Eliza Bland, daughter of Lieut. Col. Clith. She married 17 November, 1788, Sir David Erskine, Earl of Buchan. Matthew Harrison, merchant of Dumfries, Prince William, married Miss Slaughter, by whom he had one child, Matthew. He went to Bermuda, there married and died. His second wife was Miss Wood, sister of the late Governor Wood, by whom he has three daughters. One married Obed Waite, of Winchester, a lawyer; another married Col. Andrew Woodrow, of Romney, Va., clerk of the court at that place. The other died unmarried.

Thornton and Skinner

Dr. Philip Thornton was a great-grandson of Mildred Washington (the aunt and Godmother of Washington) and partner of Dr. Watson, corner of Sixth and Franklin Sts., Richmond, Virginia, at the time of the fire at the Richmond Theater 1811. He married Miss Rosanna Dixon, April 23, 1812. After the marriage of her daughters, Mrs. Robert Somerville Voss, and Mrs. Frederick Skinner, who lived respectively in Baltimore and New York, her winters were spent with them. Mrs. Skinner's husband was the son of John L. Skinner of Baltimore, for many years postmaster of that city. When Lafayette was in Baltimore, he stayed at Mr. Skinner's house, and observing a slight lameness in his son, Frederick, which he thought a Paris surgeon could correct, he begged to be allowed to take him home with him. This he did, young Skinner spending seven years at La Grange, Lafayette's country seat near Paris, and going to school to tutors with his grandchildren.

While on her way to Col. Skinner's house in New York in the autumn of 1875, Mrs. Thornton stopped in Culpeper with her grand-daughter, Mrs. Kidder Meade Hite, now of Richmond. There she was stricken with paralysis from which, after lingering for three months. she died Feb. 10, 1875. She was laid beside her uncle in Shockhoe Cemetery; a chaste stone marks the spot, made beautiful by her devoted servant's faithful hands.

Stuart and Erskine

Rev. David Stuart, a descendant of the royal house of Stuart, was born at Inverness, Scotland. He was the son of .... Stuart and his wife, Lucy Erskine, daughter of David Erskine, Lord Dun. Rev. David Stuart married Jane Gibbons, the daughter of Sir John Gibbons, the Governor of Barbadoes. Rev. David Stuart came to Virginia in 1715, and settled on the banks of the Potomac. He soon after became rector of St. Paul's Parish, King George County, Virginia.

Rev. David Stuart continued to be rector of St. Paul's until 1749, when he was succeeded by his son, Rev. William Stuart. Rev. William Stuart was sent to England by his father, Rev. David Stuart, to be educated. He studied theology in London and was ordained an Episcopal minister by Bishop Edmonds in 1745. On his return to the colony he acted as his father's assistant for some years, and finally succeeded him as rector. The present St. Paul's church was built for him on the site of the old frame church.

Dr. David Stuart married Eleanor Calvert Custis, widow of Jno. Parke Custis, only son of Mrs. Washington, and daughter of Benedict Calvert, of Mount Airey, Md. Her sister, Elizabeth Calvert, married Mr. Charles Stuart of Maryland.

In the well known portrait of the family group of the Washingtons, Mrs. Custis may be seen seated beside Mrs. Washington on the porch at Mount Vernon, and her children, George Washington Parke Custis and Nellie Custis, are depicted on the lawn with their old "Mammy." Standing on the porch are General Washington and David Stuart talking with one another. Dr. David Stuart at the time of his marriage owned Hope Park and Ossian Hall, in Fairfax County. He was handsomely remembered by Gen. Washington in his will.

Dr. David and Eleanor (Calvert) Custis Stuart had five daughters and two sons. (1) Ann Calvert Stuart, who married Wm.. Robinson of Westmoreland Co., Va. They had issue: (a) Edwin Wilberforce, who graduated at West Point and died at the age of 21; (b) Claudius Buchanan, who died unmarried. (2) Sarah, who married Judge Obed Waite of Winchester, Va., no issue. (3) Arianna Calvert. (4) Eleanor Custis, who died unmarried. (5) Rosalie Engenia who, her parents dying when she was 10 years of age, was brought up by her half-brother George Washington Parke Custis of Arlington, Va., and her own brother Charles Calvert Stuart of Chantilly, Virginia. She married Wm. Greenleaf Webster, son of Noah Webster of New Haven, Conn. (Miss Jane Griffth Keys.)

Extract from a letter from our late cousin Louisa Stuart Waite of Petersburg, Va., Sept. 10, 1905:

"About the Stuarts: Our grandfather was Stephen Stuart or Steuart, as it is spelled either way, and mother always said we were from the Scotch Royalty, and preferred to spell her name Steuart. I have also Steuart as a middle name. While in Baltimore I visited Mrs. Bird, but it was before her marriage Maria Skinner, my oldest and most intimate friend. I have often heard my mother mention the Hungerfords, who I think were of the Calvert family. About our cousin (Frederick) who went to France with Gen. Lafayette when he visited this country in 1824 and was educated with his grandsons at Castle La Grance, two of his grandsons married American girls, and sometimes hold diplomatic positions in this country. He (Frederick Skinner) entered West Point from whence he graduated, but preferring literary work, retired from the army until the Civil War, and entered the Confederate army. His mother was Miss Eliza Bland of Annapolis."

Waite and Bassett

"I turn to an old Bible here in my study, and find that Miss Elizabeth Bassett was born March 1, 1792, and was married to Richard Corbin Waite in 1808. Four children were born to this union. William Wilkinson (my grandfather) was the third son. The others were Pierce, who died in infancy; Richard Bassett, who died in Washington Dec. 19, 1864; James Pierce who died in California in 1852. Wm. Wilkinson Waite married a Miss Hungerford of Calvert County, Md. They had five children, four of whom died without children, and my mother, Miss Elizabeth Waite, married Samuel Cooper. I am the only child."*

The resulting monument has large space for future growth, and provides a safe, permanent, accessible indexed mass of historical material from all portions of Kansas. By law a copy of every publication in the State must be kept on file in this Memorial Building.

Major Ruppenthal urged that our members impress upon their friends in the Congress the importance of immediately beginning the movement to erect a National Hall of Archives as a Memorial to our Soldiers, Sailors and Marines who so nobly participated in the Great International War. The National Genealogical Society and the QUARTERLY heartily endorse the project, and urge the early consummation of this Memorial plan as offering common ground upon which all friends may unite to sesure a National Hall of Archives.

G. M. B.

Valuable and desirable genealogical records and manuscripts are desired for the columns of the QUARTERLY.

There have come to the editor expressions of a widely distributed interest in the Marriage Licenses of the District of Columbia, publication of which began in the Oct., 1918, Quarterly, and it is hoped that each subscriber may secure one or more subscribers so as to more fully distribute these important early records for the Virginia portion of the original District of Columbia.

Can any person throw any light upon the existance of similar public records for the Maryland portion of the original District of Columbia? G. M. B.

The officers of the Farmers and Mechanics National Bank of Georgetown, D. C., greatly appreciated the publication of the date of death of Capt. Thomas Brook Beall, Pres., 1814-'20 (see p. 32, July, 1918, Quarterly), and they are anxious to secure a picture of Captain Beall, together with any facts concerning his life and genealogy.

EMIGRATION FROM ZURICH, SWITZERLAND, TO PENNSYLVANIA AND CAROLINA, 1734-1744.

Through the active cooperation of Prof. A. B. Faust, Cornell University, the Archivist of Zurich, the American Consulate General of Zurich, the U. S. Department of State, and of a few members of the National Genealogical Society, the latter organization has received (May, 1919) a valuable transcript of 73 pages from the official archives of Zurich. The lists are in German, English text, and give minute details concerning 2,310 persons who left Switzerland from 1734 to 1744, "Nach Carolina und Pensylvanien," giving full names of heads of families (father and wife and children) with dates of birth, of christening or marriage, of naturalization, and also the localities from which and to which they are going. It is a very important record taken from the original official record of American Colonial ancestry and a fuller investigation will probably show amplification and verification of the records in Rupp's Thirty Thousand Immigrants. There is also important Carolina immigration, 1734-1744.

It is planned to publish the manuscript in its excellent form, probably in facsimile, together with a carefully prepared translation and an index to the entire contents. The number of copies to be issued will be determined by the advance subscriptions. The price cannot yet be determined, but the character of the material will make it very desirable at any price necessary to publish in excellent form. All persons, societies and libraries desiring to secure a copy should promptly communicate with the editor of the Quarterly, or any other officer of the National Genealogical Society, or with Prof. A. B. Faust, Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

WHO WAS RALPH ANDRUS OF MASSACHUSETTS?

Ralph Andrus was a large property owner in Russell, Mass., between 1792 and 1822, where he died about 1822-3. His will, dated Oct. 4, 1822 and recorded in Springfield, mentions wife Lydia, son Henry, daughter Laura Parks, daughter Eunice Loomis and son Abel P. Andrus.

He was probably not old enough to have served in the Revolution, as his name does not appear in any Revolutionary list.

His name does not appear in the Census of 1790: probably not being the head of a family at that time. This census however does give the name of a Jacob Andrus, living in Montgomery, whose household consisted of 4 males over 16 and three females. Was Ralph one of these males?

The town of Russell lies between Montgomery and Westfield, Mass., and was set off as a town about 1792. There was no one of the name Andrus in Westfield in the Census of 1790 and only one, Jacob Andrus, in Montgomery. The town records of Russell from its inception as a town cannot be found and the records of Montgomery and Westfield give no clue.

This Jacob Andrus' ancestry has been traced back through Norwich, Conn., to the original immigrant, but there does not appear to be any positive evidence that Ralph was the son of Jacob. Jacob Andrus deeded land to Ralph Andrus in 1796 and 1798, but in neither deed is mention made of any relationshsip between the two; while in 1804 Jacob deeds land to a Richard Andrus and calls him "his son". If Ralph was Jacob's son why did they not mention that fact in the two deeds noted above? Was it an oversight?

May 2, 1796, Jacob Andrus of Montgomery deeds land to Ralph Andrus, (Springfield land Records, Liber 36, folio 671), but no mention is made of any relationship between them. In 1798 Ralph Andrus, "of Montgomery," purchases land from Jacob Andrus L 38, F 242. The same year Ralph Andrus sells land to Jacob Andrus, E. 37, E. 499.

Jacob Andrus, who was born in or near Norwich or Preston, Conn., April 9, 1734, moved to Montgomery, (the part which afterwards became Russell) about 1770. The Census of 1790 gives him as a resident of Montgomery; his household consisting of "4 males of 16 and three females."

We have record of two sons of Jacob, that is Richard and Jacob. Who was the fourth male in that house over 16? Was it Ralph? No will of Jacob Andrus has been found, and in the settlement of his estate there is nothing to show any relationship to Ralph. Is it possible that Ralph was the son of Jacob and that he had received his share of the estate by the deeds of 1796 and 1798?

ABSTRACT OF JAMES SOMERS' WILL, OF GLOUCESTER COUNTY, WEST JERSEY, (Now Atlantic County) NEW JERSEY.

Prob. April 15, 1761.

Wife Abigail and son John Exes. Bequeth one acre of land for Friends (Quaker) meeting house FOREVER MORE: son James homestead 749 acres, with grist mill; sons Isaac and John a piece of land lying on Beach (now Atlantic City, N. J.); daughters Sarah Steelman, Hannah Smith, Judith Swain, Abigail Smith, Rebeccak Babcock, Mary Somers, Rachel Somers.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

The first John Somers, born in Worchester, England, 1640, d 1723; settled in Upper Dublin, Pa.; moved from Pa. to Great Egg Harbor (so named by Mey or May on account of vast number of sea fowl eggs found by him) and purchased 3000 acres of land, now Somer's Point, of Budd in 1695. There is a sameness in names, but each son had many children, and each one named children the same.

I've written Steelman, Scull, and Ireland. Those men settled in Gt. Egg Harbor 1690-1695. The Somers owned the Beach. (now Ocean City, N. J., upper part). Steelman, Scull, Ireland, Somers owned Absecom Beach (now Atlantic City, N. J.). Gloucester Co. at one time extended from the Delaware river to the sea. On Feb. 7, 1837, an Act was passed creating Atlantic Co. There were Gt. Egg Harbor, Weymouth and Galloway Townships when the Quakers held meetings at "Gt. Egg Harbor." Little Egg Harbor (see records) is now Tuckerton, N. J.

John Scull, one of the "Overseerer" (see record) came to Gt. Egg Har' year 1695. First meeting (Friends) was held in his house. He d. 1745. His eldest child John, Jr., was stolen by Indians and never recovered. James Steelman (of Sweden) first of New Castle, Del., a member of the Gloria Dei (Old Swede's C'h. Ph'la) settled here 1695 (one of my ancestors). Peter White, an overseerer, was Guardian of Sir James Letart's daughter Judith, M. Rich'd Somers. Ireland and Adams were there in 1695.

Very truly yours,
EMILY S. (Steelman) FISHER.

TOMBSTONE INSCRIPTIONS, HAGERSTOWN, MD. (302 Names).

By Michael Alvin Gruber, A. M., Washington, D. C. (Copyrighted)

Inscriptions from the tombstones in the burial grounds connected with the LUTHERAN and REFORMED denominations and the CEMETERY at HAGERSTOWN, MARYLAND. The inscriptions were copied by M. A. Gruber, in 1904, and 230 of the total number of 302 inscriptions pertain to persons who were born prior to the year 1801. They have been arranged alphabetically according to surnames for convenient reference, which arrangement includes reference to the maiden names, where found, in case of married women.

Abbreviations have been used as follows: b.=born; d.=died; w.=wife; dau.=daughter. To indicate place of burial the following notations are used: (Luth.) for Lutheran burial ground; (Ref.) for Reformed burial ground; and (Cem.) for cemetery.

In some instances inscriptions contain the word "consort" for "wife", and in the following record the use of "consort" is indicated by italicizing the abbreviation w. (for wife); as w.

A number of tombstones do not show the date of birth. In such cases in the following record of inscriptions the year of birth is given in parentheses; as (in 1754), (about 1779). This is determined from the year of death and the age taken from the tombstones.

1. The foregoing record of tombstone inscriptions contains the names of about 302 persons, of whom 125 are buried in the Lutheran burial ground, 59 in the Reformed burial ground, and 118 in the cemetery. Of that number, 149 are males and 153 females, involving 139 surnames, it being noted, however, that only in a few instances are the maiden surnames of wives given. Of the 302 persons, 230 were born prior to the year 1801, the remaining 72 having been born between the years 1801 and 1842, mostly before 1835. The inscriptions in case of some of those born after 1801 were copied in order to get a record of the names of the parents, and in other instances for family-records. Different spellings of surnames are found in the following cases: Alter; Alder; Baechtel, Baeghtle, Beaghtle, Bechtel; Bowman, Bauman; Doyle, perhaps Dile; Fackler, Fachler, perhaps also Fogkler, Foghler; Feigley, Feigely, Figeley; Funk, Funck; Gehr, Ghare, Gare; Gelwicks, Gilwicks, Geelwicks; Hager, Hagar, Heger; Hagmeyer, Hogmire; Harry, Herry; Heafleich, Heiflick, Hoefligh; Hiester, Heister; Hughett, Huyett; Kapp, Capp; Keisecker, Kiesecker, Kissecker; Kershner, Kirschner; Klebsattel, Klebsadler, Gleibsattler; Klein, Kline; Leaphard, Liebhart, Liphart; Middlekauff, Mittelkauff; Reitenauer, Ridenour; Roland, Rowland; Seitz, Sitze; Shuman, Shooman; Startzman, Stertzman, Stertsman; Tutwiler, Dudweiler, Detweiler; Wengert, Wingart; Yeakle, Yegley.

2. Hagerstown is the county-seat of Washington County, Maryland, and is situated near Antietam Creek, some 60 miles northwestward of Baltimore. The town was laid out in 1762 by Jonathan Hager and named Elizabeth Town after his wife. This name was changed to Hager's Town by act of the Maryland Legislature, dated January 26, 1814, (Maryland Records, Vol. I, 1915, by Dr. G. M. Brumbaugh), although as early as 1772 the place was referred to as Hager's Town, which was situated on a tract of 200 acres patented to Jonathan Hager on December 16, 1739. (The Pennsylvania-German Society, Vol. XXII; also The German Element in the United States, 1909, Vol. I, by A. B. Faust.) He is supposed to be the Jonathan Hager, aged 22 years, whose name is given in a list of passengers. (Palatines, 156 men, 65 women, 167 boys and girls) imported in the ship Harle, and landed (qualified) at Philadelphia, Sept. 1, 1736. (Vol. XVII, 2d Series, Pa. Archives; and Rupp's "Thirty Thousand Names of Immigrants".)

3. During the time (1734 to 1742) that Rev. John Caspar Stoever, as shown in his baptismal records, made his visits to Maryland and Virginia, ministering to the spiritual wants of the congregations that he had founded about 1732 and 1733, as well as to other persons in the localities through which he passed, there appears to have been no Lutheran congregation at or near Hagerstown. The first Lutheran church in that vicinity appears to have been organized in 1752 and is known as the Antietam Church, situated on Antietam Creek about 4 miles from Hagerstown. The principal localities or congregations visited by Rev. Stoever in Maryland, Virginia, and in Pennsylvania west of the Susquehanna, as shown in his record of baptisms and marriages (1730-1779), were as follows: (1) In Maryland, Monocacy, which was located near the present site of Creagerstown, about ten miles north of Frederick, Md., the Lutheran congregation at that place having been organized about 1730, but in 1753 absorbed by the Lutheran congregation at Frederick, which is supposed to have been organized about 1735. (The Pennsylvania-German Society, Vol. XXII); (2) In Virginia, Opequon, Shenandoah, and Moesenutten (Massanutten); (3) In Pennsylvania west of the Susquehanna River, Conewago, what is now Hanover, York County, the first Lutheran congregation (now St. Matthew's Church) at that place having been founded by Rev. Stoever about 1732; Codorus, what is now York, the "Evangelical Lutheran Church on the Codorus." (now Christ Lutheran Church of York) having been founded at that place by Rev. Stoever about 1733; and Conojohela, the Indian name of a valley (now known as Canodochly, also referred to as Conojockley), about four miles south of Wrightsville, York County, on the Susquehanna River, in which valley Rev. Stoever baptized a number of children of Roman Catholic families in June, July and August of 1735, among those families being that of Thomas Cresap (Cressap, Crysop), who is said to have lived in Maryland, but in 1735 was trying to drive the German settlers from the York region by reason of the contentions respecting the disputed boundary line between Pennsylvania and Maryland, Cresap claiming the 40th parallel as the northern boundary of Maryland according to Lord Baltimore's charter, while the German settlers believed that they belonged to Pennsylvania. (Faust's "The German Element in the United States".)

4. The Rev. B. Kurtz, husband of Ann Kurtz (1798-1825), was the Rev. Benjaminn Kurtz, D. D., LL. D., born Feb. 28, 1795, at Harrisburg, Pa., and died Dec. 29, 1865. He was a son of Benjamin Kurtz and wife Elizabeth Gardner Rankin, and a grandson of the Rev. John Nicholas Kurtz (1722-1794), who was the first regular Lutheran pastor (1746-1770) of the Tulpehocken charge in Berks County, Pa., and the first Lutheran minister in the United States ordained by a Lutheran Synod. From 1770 to 1789 Rev. J. N. Kurtz served the Lutheran church at York, Pa. Rev. Benjamin Kurtz was licensed to preach by the Synod of Pennsylvania at its convention held in Frederick, Md., in the spring of 1815, to be the assistant of his uncle, the Rev. Dr. J. Daniel Kurtz, of Baltimore. A few months later, however, he accepted the invitation to become pastor of the Hagerstown charge, then consisting of five congregations, where he remained until 1831. He then took charge of the Lutheran church at Chambersburg, Pa., where he remained until 1833, in which year he was obliged to withdraw from the ministry on account of failing voice and health. From Aug. 24, 1833, to January, 1858, he was editor of the Lutheran Observer. He was married three times. His first wife was Ann Barnett (or Nancy Somerdyke); (Dr. Egle's Notes and Queries. Vol. III, 3d Series, page 513), and is the one buried at Hagerstown. His second wife was Mary Catharine Baker, of Winchester, Va., who died in 1836; and his third wife was Mary Calhoun, of Chambersburg, Pa. He had 11 children, of whom 3 sons and 2 daughters were living in the year 1867. (Memoirs of Rev. Jacob Goering, Rev. George Lochman, D. D., and Rev. Benjamin Kurtz, D. D., LL. D. By Rev. Charles A. Hay, Lutheran Publication Society, 1888.)

5. John Gruber (1768-1857), who is buried at Hagerstown, Md., was born at Strasburg, Lancaster County, Pa., where his father, John Eberhard Gruber (1736-1814), resided. His grandfather was John Adam Gruber, (1693-1763), wno was born at Kempten, Bavaria, and emigrated to America in 1726 (or 1724 according to some authorities). John Gruber at the age of 15 years was apprenticed to Charles Cist of Philadelphia to learn the art of printing. In 1793 he went to Reading, Pa., and with Gottlob Jungman, under the firm name of Jungman and Gruber, published the paper "Neue Unpartheyische Readinger Zeitung und Anzeigs-Nachrichten", which is said to be the first paper published at Reading, Pa., the first number having appeared on Feb. 18, 1789. In the spring of 1795 he appears to have severed his connection with that paper and removed to Hagerstown, Md., where he established a printing office, and in 1797 founded "J. Gruber's Hagers-Town Town and Country Almanack", which for 25 years was published in the German language only, but in 1822 began to be published in the English language, the publication thereof having continued to the present day. Among the persons that learned the trade of printing with John Gruber was Ambrose Henkel, the founder of the Henkel printery at New Market, Virginia. In 1794 John Gruber married Catharine Alles, a daughter of Captain Henry Alles, of Revolutionary fame. Their children were three daughters, one of them being Rebecca (1796-1879), married to Daniel May, one of those daughters, Ellen Catharine May (1816-1842), was the wife of Rev. Samuel R. Fisher (1810-1881), and another daughter, Theresa Rebecca May (1823-1896), was the wife of J. George Wolff (1818-1891), who was born in Chambersburg, Pa., and died in Pittsburgh, Pa.

6. There has been prepared in this connection APPENDIX A, which consists of genealogical data, in the form of names and ages of persons, taken from the Census of 1776 pertaining to "Elizabeth Hundred" of Frederick County, Md., as published in "Maryland Records," Vol. I, 1915, by Dr. Gaius Marcus Brumbaugh, which data appears to be connected with corresponding or similar names found on the tombstones in the burial grounds at Hagerstown, Md.

APPENDIX A

With reference to the Census of 1776 pertaining to "Elizabeth Hundred" of Frederick County, Maryland, which hundred included Elizabeth Town, or Hagerstown, as published in "Maryland Records, Colonial, Revolutionary, County and Church", Vol. I, 1915, Brumbaugh, the following genealogical data, taken from that census, appear to be connected with persons of the corresponding or similar names found on the tombstones in the burial grounds at Hagerstown, Md., the pages cited pertaining to the "Maryland Records", and the figures in parentheses, after the names, representing the ages in years, unless otherwise stated, of the respective persons:

1. In connection with the surname Alter (found also Alder) there are shown on pages 237, 241 and 248:

Christopher Alder (29), whose wife was probably Susanna Alter (25) and children Catharine Alter (3) and Mary Alter (1).

Frederick Alder (35), whose wife was probably Margaret Alter (23) and children Susanna Alter (5) and Elizabeth Alter (2).

2. In connection with the surname Baechtel (found also Bechtel, Baeghtle, Beaghtle), there appear on pages 238, 242 and 248:

Samuel Baeghtle (45), whose wife was probably Ann Beaghtle (41) and children very likely Samuel and Isaac Baeghtle (each 22, apparently twins), Magdalena Beaghtle (18), Esther Beaghtle (16), Susanna Beaghtle (14), Ann Beaghtle (12), Elizabeth Beaghtle (11) and Barbara Beaghtle (9).

3. In connection with the surname Bell there are found on pages 236, 240, 247 and 252:

Peter Bell (40), whose wife was probably Elizabeth Bell (35) and children Juley Bell (9), Elizabeth Bell (5), Margaret Bell (3) and Peter Bell (1). This Peter Bell, one year old in 1776, is pretty certainly the Peter Bell (1775-1847) of the tombstone inscriptions.

4. In connection with the surname Doyle, the corresponding name in the Census of 1776 for "Elizabeth Hundred" may possibly be Dile, there being several persons of that surname recorded in that census.

5. In connection with the surname Fackler (perhaps also Fogkler, Foghler), there appear on pages 236, 237, 238, 240, 241, 242, 247, 248, 251, and 253:

Michael Fackler (36), whose wife was probably Helfena Fackler (32), this Helfena Fackler being possibly the Helena Fackler (1743-1791) of the tombstone inscriptions.

John Fackler (47), whose wife was probably Eve Fackler (39).

Children of those two families are, no doubt, found among the following: Catharine (19), George (15), Magdalena (14), Margaret (11), Catharine (10), Elizabeth (8), Barbara (8), Susanna (6), Peter (5), John (4), Jacob (2), Hellina (6 mos.).

With surname Fogkler or Foghler, which may be a form of Fackler or of Vogler (Fogler), there are: Simon Fogkler (44), whose wife was probably Elizabeth Foghler (46) and among whose children were quite likely Christian Fogkler (19) and Henry Fogkler (13), perhaps also some of those with surname Fackler.

6. In connection with the surname Feigley (found also Figeley, Feigely), there are found on pages 244, 245, 250 and 254:

John Feigely (56), whose wife was probably Rachel Feigely (55); there being found also Peter Feigely (15), Dorethy Feigely (9), and Christiana Feigely (7).

7. In connection with the surname Funk (found also Funck), there are shown on pages 238, 242, 245 and 250:

Henry Funck (24). whose wife was probably Ann Funck (23).

John Funck (26), whose wife was probably Barbara Funck (23).

Martin Funk (22). Children of those families are, no doubt, the following: Henry Funk (3), John Funk (2), Martin Funk (6 mos.), and Elizabeth Funck (3 mos.)

8. In connection with the surname Gehr (found also Ghaer, Gare), there appear on pages 241 and 242:

Hanna Gare (18), and Mary Gare (31).

9. In connection with the surname Harry (found also Herry), there are shown on pages 236, 240, 247, 252 and 254:

Martin Herry (56), whose wife was probably Mary Herry (46), and children very likely David Herry (25), Martin Herry (20), Jacob Herry (19), John Herry (16), and Andrew Herry (9). The David Herry, 25 years old in 1776, is pretty certainly David Harry (1750-1843).

Jonathan Herry (31), whose wife was probably Dorathea Herry (27), and a child very likely Mary Herry (3).

10. In connection with the surname Heafleich (found also Heiflick, Hoefligh), there appear on pages 237, 241, 248 and 253:

Peter Hoefligh (34), whose wife was probably Ann Hoefligh (37), and children very likely Peter Hoefligh (11), Ann Hoefligh (7), Catharine Hoefligh (5) and John Hoefligh (3 mos.). The Peter Hoefligh, 34 years old in 1776, is apparently Peter Heafleich (or Heiflick) (1742-1827), of the tombstone inscriptions; John Hoefligh, 3 months old in 1776, is pretty certainly John Heafleich (1776-1816), and Catharine Hoefligh, 5 years old in 1776, is pretty certainly Catharine Smith, (1771-1847), daughter of Peter and Ann Maria Heiflick (or Heafleich).

11. In connection with the surname Klebsattel (found also Klebsadler, Gleabsattler), there appear on pages 239 and 242:

Daniel Gleabsattler (42), whose wife, or perhaps sister, was Catharine Klebsadler (36). This Daniel Gleabsattler, 42 years old in 1776, is pretty certainly Daniel Klebsattel (1734-1807).

12. In connection with the surname Leapard (apparently a form of Liphard, Liebhart, etc.), there are shown on pages 238, 242, 246, and 251:

Augustin Liphard (42), whose wife was probably Catharin Liphard (46), and children Henry (15) and Elizabeth (13).

13. In connection with the surname Lewis there appears on page 237

William Lewis (20), who is very likely William Lewis (1755-1827).

14. In connection with the surname Miller quite a number with that surname are shown in the Census of 1776 for "Elizabeth Hundred", it appearing on page 257 that that census was taken by one John Miller, who might possibly have been John Miller (1748-1825).

15. In connection with the surname Ott there are shown on pages 236, 240 and 252:

Michael Ott (28), whose wife was probably Margaret Ott (23) and children Jacob Ott (4) and Michael Ott (1).

Jacob Ott (27), whose wife was probably Catharine Ott (20) and a child Jacob Ott (1).

16. In connection with the surname Reitenauer (found also Ridenour), there appear on pages 238, 241, 242, 244, 245, and 250:—

Jacob Reitenauer (37), who was very likely the husband of Susanna Reitenauer, (1744-1773) of tombstone inscriptions, and probably had in 1776 a second wife Barbara Reitenauer (22); his children were very likely Susanna (10), Dorethy (8), Peter (7), Joseph (2), and Mary (8 mos.), the last two with second wife.

Ludwig Reitenauer (26), whose wife was apparently Rosina Reitenauer (24), and children Eve (3), Elizabeth and Elizabeth Magdalena (each 2, apparently twins), and Rosina (1 month).

Henry Reitenauer (62), whose wife was probably Eve Reitenauer (62).

Nicolaus (Nicholas) Reitenauer (64), whose wife was probably Magdalena Reitenauer (55).

Among the children of Henry Reitenauer and Nicholas Reitenauer appear to have been: Matthias (20), Magdalena (17), Catharine (15), Rosina (11), and very likely Jacob (37) and Ludwig (26) already mentioned.

17. In connection with the surname Rinehart (also Rinehard), there are shown on pages 237, 241, 244, 248 and 253:

Magdalena Rinehard (71). George Rinehard (31), whose wife, or perhaps sister, was probably Barbara Rinehard (36).

Thames Rinehard (36), whose wife was probably Eve Rinehard (28) and children Catharine (8), George (6) and Ann (1).

18. In connection with the surname Rohrer there are given on pages 236, 237, 240, 241, 247, 248, 250 and 252:

Christian Rohrer (43), whose wife was probably Fronica (Veronica)

Rohrer (35) and children Christian (11), John (9), Samuel (7), Mary (5), Ann (4), and Elizabeth (2).

Frederick Rohrer (34), whose wife was probably Catharine Rohrer (30), and children Frederick (9), Barbara (8), Jacob (6), John (3), and George (2 mos.).

Jacob Rohrer (32), whose wife was probably Christianna Rohrer (28), and children John (9), Ann (7), Catharin (5), Jacob (3), Elizabeth (7 mos.).

19. In connection with the surname Sailor there appear on pages 238, 242, 244, 245 and 254:

Mathias Sailor (56), whose wife was apparently Magdalena Sailor (56), and children Peter (23), John (21), Magdalena (17), Susanna (15).

There was also a Barbara Sailor (21), who might have been a twin sister to John or the wife of Peter or John.

20. In connection with the surname Seitz (found also Sitze), there are shown on pages 239, 243, 254 and 255:

Wendle Sitze (56), whose wife was probably Hannah Sitze (48), and children apparently John Sitze (29), Barbara Sitze (23), Christian Sitze (21), Henry Sitze (16), Catharine Seitz (14), Peter Sitze (12), Hannah Seitz (10) and George Sitze (5). However, Barbara Sitze (23) may pernaps be the wife of John Sitze (29), and George (5) a son of theirs.

21. In connection with the surname Shuman (found also Shooman), there are found on pages 240, 247, 252 and 254:

John Shooman (51), whose wife was apparently Barbara Shooman (42, name cancelled and shown "dead"), and children Thomas Shooman (15), Dorathea (10) and Magdalena (7). This Thomas Shooman, 15 years old in 1776, is possibly Thomas Shuman (1759-1824).

22. In connection with the surname Smith quite a number of persons with that surname are shown in the Census of 1776 for "Elizabeth Hundred".

23. In connection with the surname Snyder (found also Snider, Sneider, Sneyder), quite a nuumber of persons with that surname are shown in the Census of 1776 for "Elizabeth Hundred".

24. In connection with the surname Startzman (found also Stertzman, Stertsman), there are shown on pages 238, 242, 244, 245, 250, and 254:

Christina Stertzman (86). Henry Stertzman (55), apparently son of Christina), whose wife was probably Margaret Stertzman (54).

Henry Stertzman (28), whose wife was probably Eve Stertzman (33) and children Martin (7), Henry (5), Margaret (3) and July (2).

There are given also Adam Stertzman (14), Peter Stertzman (11), and David Stertzman (8), who may possibly have been children of the elder Henry Stertzman (55).

It is pretty certain that Henry Stertzman, 28 years old in 1776, is Henry Startzman (1748-1811), that Margaret Stertzman, 54 years old in 1776, is Anna Margaret Stertsmaennin (1721-1793), that Martin Stertzman, 7 years old in 1776, is Martin Startzman, Sr. (1768-1835), and perhaps that David Stertzman, 8 years old in 1776, is David Startzman (1766-1781).

25. In connection with the surname Steidinger there are shown on pages 237, 244 and 248:

Frederick Steidinger (50), whose wife was probably Magdalena Steidinger (53) and a daughter Julianna (15). It is pretty certain that this Frederick Steidinger, 50 years old in 1776, is the Got. Friedrich Steidinger (born April 12, 1727), and that Magdalena Steidinger, 53 years old in 1776, is Magdalena Steidinger (1724-1801).

26. In connection with the surname Stuart (also Stuard, Stewart), there are given on pages 238, and 242:

George Stuard (31), whose wife, or perhaps sister, was probably Ann Stuard (34).

27. In connection with the surname Tutwiler (found also Dudweiler, Detwiler), there are shown on pages 236, 240 and 252:

Henry Dudweiler (30), whose wife was probably Mary Dudweiler (24) and a son very likely Henry Dudweiler (7). This Henry Dudweiler, 30 years old in 1776, is pretty certainly Henry Tutwiler, (1745-1793) of the tombstone inscriptions.

28. In connection with the surname Wagner (found also Wagoner), there are shown on pages 236, 240, 247 and 253:

Peter Wagoner (39), whose wife was probably Margaret Wagoner (35) and children Elizabeth (10), Valentine (7) and Conrad (8 mos.).

Francis Wagoner (25), whose wife, or perhaps sister, was probably Sharlote Wagoner (21).

There is also given Elizabeth Wagoner (22).

29. In connection with the surname Yeakle (found also Yeakley, Yegley, Jaekle, Jaeckley), there are shown on pages 237, 241, 253:

Michael Yegley (36), whose wife was probably Catharine Yegley (34) and children Christopher (7), Christian (6), and John (3), this John being pretty certainly John Yeakle (1773-1828).

30. In connection with the surname Young there are shown on pages 238, 242, and 252:

Ludwig Young (47), whose wife was probably Magdalena Young (38) and children Magdalena (20), Margaret (19), Jacob (15), Isaac (13), and Ludwig (11). This Ludwig Young, shown as 47 years old in 1776, was possibly Ludwick Young (1731-1795) of the tombstone inscriptions.

MEMORANDUM

The reader should note carefully that the inscriptions appearing on pages 1-16 are those of Washington County, Maryland, and that those appearing upon pages 18-29 are those of Frederick County, Maryland. The early migration from that portion of Maryland was very extensive, and the 509 tombstone inscriptions with the painstaking analysis of the material will necessarily interest numerous persons in many and widely separated portions of the United States. This issue is a double number covering Numbers 1 and 2, Vol. VIII (April and July). It was thought best to present the valuable material so carefully prepared by Mr. Michael Alvin Gruber in one double issue. Especial thanks are due to him for his reliable work which adds another important document to Maryland genealogy.

LIST OF EMIGRANTS FROM ZURICH TO CAROLINA AND PENNSYLVANIA, 1734-1744.

"The manuscript here presented is contained in the State Archive of Zurich, and was discovered during a search it was my privilege to make after materials for American History in the archives of Switzerland. The manuscript is in many respects the most valuable single document relating to America contained in the Swiss archives, being quite as important for its historical as for its genealogical and statistical materials. The whole history of Swiss emigration in the eighteenth century is epitomized in this valuable document. The statistician finds in it the only reliable enumeration of Swiss emigrants of the early period, and is able to base far-reaching estimates thereupon. The genealogist is furnished with a large mass of family records, including about two thousand names with accurate data, as to origin, distribution and destination."

* * * "Many of the names in the manuscript will be found also in Rupp's collection, and it is a pleasure to know that so many persons reached their destination. But a still larger number are not contained in Rupp's lists, partly because the Philadelphia ship-lists do not give a complete record of all arrivals even in that port, and partly because a great many of these named in the manuscript were shipped to Carolina. Many of those who landed in Carolina, however, subsequently returned to Pennsylvania." * * *

ALBERT B. FAUST.

The above is an extract from the beginning of Prof. Faust's Preface (9 pp) to the careful translation of this valuable material (159 pp), and the entire manuscript, exclusive of Index, is being submitted for estimate and early publication in limited edition under the auspices of the National Genealogical Society. America is under obligations to Prof. Albert B. Faust, the eminent historical authority, for his discovery of the important old records in Zurich, and for his active cooperation together with that of Prof. Hans Nabholz, State Archivist, in making this publication possible. Of the record Prof. Faust says: "It is mostly written upon small sheets of paper and in diminutive handwriting. It must have taken an enormous amount of time and pains to get it accurately transcribed."

Our plan is to publish in form similar to "Swiss Emigration to the American Colonies in the Eighteenth Century", By Prof. Albert B. Faust, and to republish this valuable contribution to American history, making of them companion publications bound together. Upon page 43 of the latter (See Amer. Hist. Review, Vol. XXII, No. 1 Oct. 1916) reference was made to this "List of Emigrants from Zurich," etc., and its early availability, with copious Index, is quite important.

The number of copies to be published, will be determined by the advance subscriptions. The price of the combined publications, upon excellent paper, bound in buckram is five dollars, carriage prepaid. The Library of the University of Michigan, the State Library of Pennsylvania, and several individuals were amongst the earliest subscribers "whatever the cost". All who are interested in this matter should promptly communicate with the editor of the Quarterly, or with our Librarian, Miss Cora C. Curry, 1020 Monroe St. N. W., or with Prof. A. B. Faust, Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

The following is one of the shortest reports in the manuscript, and shows a little of the character of the materials. The report from "Eglisau Stadel" contains records of 138 persons.

Attested,

Johannes Schwytzer,
Vicar at Uster.

*NOTE: He is not in Carolina, but in the Spanish service, his wife and children with Hans.

*TOMBSTONE INSCRIPTIONS, FREDERICK, MD.

Copyrighted by Michael Alvin Gruber, Washington, D. C.

Inscriptions from tombstones in the burial grounds connected with the LUTHERAN and REFORMED denominations at FREDERICK, MARYLAND. The inscriptions were copied by M. A. Gruber, in 1904, and pertain principally to persons that were born prior to the year 1800. They have been arranged alphabetically according to surnames for convenient reference, which arrangement includes reference to the maiden names, where found, in case of married women.

Abberviations have been used as follows: b.=born, d.=died, w.=wife, dau. =daughter; (Luth.) indicates that the person is buried in the Lutheran burial ground, and (Ref.) indicates that the person is buried in the Reformed burial ground.

In quite a number of instances the word "consort" is used for "wife," and in the following record of inscriptions this use is indicated by italicizing w. (for wife); as w.

A number of tombstones do not show the date of birth. In the following record of inscriptions the year of birth in such cases is given in parentheses; as (in 1732), (about 1779). This is determined from the year of death and age.

Albaugh, Valentine A. (Ref.), b. Dec. 16, 1801; d. Oct. 5, 1867.

Albaugh, Rebecca (w. of Val. A.) (Ref.), b. Aug. 1, 1806; d. Oct. 19, 1864.

Baer, George (Ref.), b. (in 1763); d. April 3, 1834, aged 71 years. (Large flat stone)

He filled many public stations of honor and responsibility and discharged all their duties faithfully and well.

The foregoing record of tombstone inscriptions contains the names of 207 different persons; 155 of them are buried in the Reformed burial ground and 52 in the Lutheran burial ground at Frederick, Md.; 104 are males and 103 females, involving 101 different surnames, it being noted, however, that only in a few instances are the maiden surnames of wives given.

Different spellings of surnames are found in the following cases: Bens & Bentz, Dertzbauch & Dertzbaugh, Doffler & Dofler, Faut & Fout, Kuntz & Koontz, Schaeffer & Scheaffer, Steiner & Stoner, Vogler & Fogler, Weast & Wiest.

The following records of immigration that possibly pertain to some of those born between 1700 and 1750, have been found in Volume XVII, 2d Series, Pennsylvania Archives, and in Rupp's "Collection of 30,000 Names of Immigrants in Pennsylvania". The age of the immigrants in some instances is shown in Vol. XVII in an "original" list given in connection with the "qualification" list.

1. In connection with Jacob Bens (1729-1785):

(a) In a list of foreigners imported in the ship Hampshire, and qualified Sept. 7, 1748, at Philadelphia, there appears the name John Jacob Bentz, whose age appears to be 25 years, which is too old for the year of birth 1729.

(b) In a list of foreigners (from Zweibrucken, Nassau, Wirtemberg, and Palatinate; 550 persons) imported in the ship Phoenix, and qualified Sept. 15, 1749, at Philadelphia, there appear the names Jacob Bentz (Bence—Rupp), Georg Bentz and Johan Ludwig Bentz; ages not shown.

2. In connection with Adam Link (1721-1805):

In a list of foreigners (389 passengers—above 16, males 83, females 81; under 16, males and females 225) imported in the ship Hope, and qualified Aug. 28, 1733, at Philadelphia, there appear the names (children) of Hans Adam Linck aged 11, and Risini Linck aged 7; the age 11 corresponds pretty closely to year of birth 1721.

3. In connection with Caspar Mantz (1718-1791);

In a list of passengers (Palatines) imported in the ship Nancy, and qualified Sept. 20, 1738, at Philadelphia, there appears the name Caspar Mantz (Mans—Vol. XVII), aged 20, which age corresponds with the year of birth 1718.

4. In connection with Conrad Markell (1721-1782):

In a list of foreigners (406 passengers) imported in the ship Wirtemberg, and qualified Oct. 16, 1751, at Philadelphia, there appears the name Conrad Merkle (also Merckle), age not shown.

5. In connection with Michael Reamer (1715-1800):

In a list of foreigners (252 Palatines) imported in the ship Winter Galley, and qualified Sept. 5, 1738, at Philadelphia, there appears the name John Michael Romer (also Remer), aged 23, which age corresponds with the year of birth 1715.

Frederick, a city on Carroll's Creek, a tributary of the Monocacy, is the county-seat of Frederick County, Maryland. It was settled by German immigrants in 1733, and laid out as a town in 1745, but was not incorporated until 1817. It was named after Frederick Calvert (1731-1771), who became in 1751 the sixth and last Lord Baltimore, having succeeded his father Charles Calvert, fifth Lord Baltimore. This locality was, no doubt, part of the region named Monocacy (written also Monokesy, Manakasy, Manakesen, Manaquesen, etc.) in Rev. John Caspar Stoever's Record of Baptisms and Marriages (1730-1779).

Rev. Stoever appears to have made occasional visits to that region as a Lutheran preacher during the years 1734 to 1742. His record contains seven marriages and the baptisms of about 45 children of 27 families credited to Monocacy. With reference to surnames similar to those found principally on tombstones in the Lutheran burial ground at Frederick, Md., the following names, credited to Monocacy, are contained in Rev. Stoever's record:

John George Beer (same as Baer), one of whose children was baptized in 1740.

Jacob Fauth (same as Faut or Fout) and Balthasar Fauth, children of whom were baptized in 1736 and 1738.

Eva Rosina Fauth, married to John Peter Schmidt Oct. 11, 1742.

Anna Margaret Goetz-Danner (same as Getzendanner), acted as sponsor in 1740.

John Philip Kuntz and wife, acted as sponsors in 1740.

Peter Schaeffer, married to Anna Schaub May 21, 1740.

A COLLEGE MAN'S IDEAL.

By Prof. Oscar Kuhns.

WHILE here on earth our lives we spend,
Be this the goal toward which we tend:
A body sound; a mind that sees
Deep into life's strange mysteries;
A soul that seeks the highest things;
A heart where love forever springs;
A quiet conscience; God for friend;

By Prof. Oscar Kuhns, Middletown, Conn.

It is sometimes astonishing to see how little people know of the different races which took part in the formation of the United States. The immigrants from England who settled in New England and Virginia seem to have for a long time monopolized the credit of having founded the American nation. And yet no small part has been played by the Scotch-Irish, by the Dutch in New York, and by the Germans in Pennsylvania, even in colonial times. It is probably unknown to all but a small number that Switzerland likewise played a part in this founding of the nation. In September (1910) there was celebrated in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, the bi-centennial of the first settlement of that county, the original settlers of which were not English or Dutch, or Scotch-Irish or German, but natives of Switzerland, from the Cantons of Berne and Zurich. How was it that this band of Swiss came here? What was the moving cause of their coming? It is the object of this brief article to answer these questions.

To do this, we must go back to the days of the Reformation in Switzerland. During the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries the annals of Berne and Zurich contain frequent references to the measures taken to root out the sect of Anabaptists, many of whose doctrines were distasteful to the State Churches founded by Zwingli, especially their refusal to bear arms. From their first appearance in the early decades of the sixteenth century, the Anabaptists were the victims of systematic prosecution on the part of their reformed brethren.

From time to time single families and individuals had fled across the frontiers and sought refuge in the Palatinate, where Anabaptist communities had existed since 1527. In 1671, the first considerable emigration took place, when a party of seven hundred persons left their native land, and settled on the banks of the Rhine.

Current Topics*, Feb. 1911. [Signs of orthoepy, as in Pastor Muller, Taufer, Krahenbuhl, Neuchatel, Zurich, etc., are omitted because our linotype is not equipped with the said signs.]

The movement which resulted in the settlement of Lancaster County, had been preparing for a long time. The relations between the Anabaptists of Holland and Switzerland had always been close. The former had subscribed large sums of money to alleviate the sufferings of the exiled Swiss in the Palatinate, and a society had been formed for the purpose of affording systematic assistance to all their suffering fellow-believers. It was through them, undoubtedly, that the stream of Swiss emigration was first turned to Pennsylvania. We have seen how widespread the Anabaptist movement had been in Switzerland, especially in the Cantons of Zurich and Berne. Of all their doctrines, that of refusing to bear arms was the most obnoxious to the state, which depended on its citizens in times of aggression. It must be confessed that the Swiss Anabaptists were the most intractable of people. Exiled again and again, they persisted in returning to their native land.

In 1711, however, the Mennonites of Berne were offered free transportation down the Rhine, permission to sell their property and to take their families with them, on condition, however, that they pledge themselves never to return to Switzerland. Their friends in Hollond urged them to do this, and especially through the efforts of the Dutch ambassador in Switzerland, the exportation was finally carried out. About this very time began the settlement of Lancaster County by Swiss Anabaptists, and undoubtedly many of the above were among them. Thus the names given by Pastor Muller in his Bernischen Taufer are identical with those of the Lancaster County Swiss, among them being Gerber (Garber), Rohrer, Haldiman, Oberli, Hauri, Graf (Groff). Wenger. Fluckiger, Ruegsegger (Ricksecker), Krahenbuhl (Graybill), Zurcher Brechbuhl (Brightbill), Aeschliman, and others. All these names, which, more or less changed, are common throughout the state of Pennsylvania to-day, are of Bernese origin. The Landis, Brubacher, Meili, Egli, Gochnauer and Frick families came from Zurich.

In the archives of Amsterdam, we find a letter of thanks to Holland written by Martin Kundig, Hans Herr, Christian Herr, Martin Oberholtzer, Martin Meili and Jacob Muller. This letter was dated June 27, 1710, and states that they were about to start for the New World. October 23 of the same year, we find a patent for ten thousand acres of land on the Pequea Creek, Conostogoe (later a part of Lancaster County, which was not organized till 1729) made out in the names of Hans Herr and Martin Kundig, who acted as agents for their countrymen, some of whom had already arrived, and others of whom were to come. No sooner had these first settlers become established than Martin Kundig was sent back to Germany and Switzerland to bring over those who wished to share their fortunes in the New World. Kundig and Herr seem to have been the leaders of this emigration.

This is the origin then of the "Garden County" of the United States. Of the settlers who came later, a large number were likewise from Switzerland. They have made Lancaster county what it is to-day, the richest county in the whole country, in the value of farms, products and agricultural instruments. Their descendants have in many cases become known throughout the length and breadth of the land, among them being Henry C. Frick, the steel magnate, Judge K. M. Landis, famous for his connection with the Standard Oil trial; Mr. Hershey, well known chocolate manufacturer; Father Henry Boehm, the traveling companion of Bishop Asbury, the earliest Methodist bishop and S. S. Haldeman, the distinguished philologist.

SWISS EMIGRATION.

"Guide to the Materials for American History in Swiss and Austrian Archives, By Albert B. Faust", Carnegie Institution, 1916, No. 220, page 3, reads:

"The records show that attempts were made in 1720 by Merveilleaux (captain in the regiment Karrer) to win recruits for the Mississippi service, and that J. P. Pury and Co. of Neuchatel began as early as 1725 to advertise their colonial scheme, which culminated in the founding of Purysburg, S. C., in 1732. Both of these plans were strenuously opposed by the Ratsherren of Bern, who began to fear an exodus of their people. The emigration fever ("rabies Carolina") reached its most critical stage in the years 1734—1750, and affected most the populous Protestant cantons Bern, Zurich, and Basel. Decrees (mandate) were issued against emigration in 1720, 1735, 1736, 1738, 1749, 1753, 1754, 1771, and 1773, with ever increasing severity. Loss of landright and citizenship, not to be restored in case of return, restriction of sale of lands, severe punishment of those attempting to induce others to emigrate, were some of the terrorizing defensive measures adopted to restrain the flow of emigration.

"Lists (Rodel) of those leaving the country go back to the seventeenth century and are very frequently found in the archives. The more valuable are those giving exact dates, and the destination of the emigrants. There is one in the Staatsarchiv of Zurich which gives a complete catalogue of all those that migrated to America from every district of the canton between the years 1734 and 1744. The total number is 2310. This document furnishes the only means of determining with some degree of accuracy what was the actual number of Swiss emigrants from Switzerland in the eighteenth century. It is also very valuable for genealogical purposes, and should be published entire. Decrees against migration to other countries than America also appeared, to Russia in 1765, to the Spanish colonies in 1767, to Prussian Pomerania in 1771", etc.

Though most emigrants were poor and not able to pay for their passage, a large number of others had possessions, large or small in amount, which were taxed before leaving the country. The Staatsarchiv at Basel contains very many lists of property belonging to departing emigrants. Permission had to be obtained to sell their property (Vergantung), which was taxed ten per cent. (Abzug) for emigration; and if the emigrant was a serf who had property, about eight per cent. in addition was exacted for the purchase of freedom (Manumission). In this way the canton attempted to insure itself against too great a loss of property through emigration. Often, to evade the taxes, emigrants disposed of their property secretly, and left without permission or passes. They sometimes left pathetic letters behind, taking leave of their friends, whom they did not wish to implicate with a knowledge of their flight before it was accomplished. (See archive of Basel: "Heimliche Emigranten.")

The larger number of emigrants came from the mountain districts, e. g., from the Berner Oberland, rather than from the city of Bern, or from the country districts of Zurich rather than from the cities of Zurich and Winterthur; this seems to indicate better conditions in the cities than in the country. The Protestant contributed more emigrants than the Catholic cantons. The Benedictine monasteries Einsiedeln and Engelberg established branches in the United States during the nineteenth century."

SWISS SETTLEMENTS IN THE UNITED STATES.

*LANCASTER COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA, FAMILIES FROM THE CANTON OF ZURICH, SWITZERLAND.

By Prof. Oscar Kuhns, Middletown, Conn.

When I was attending the Bi-Centennial of the first settlement of Lancaster county recently, I was surprised to find that one of the most important documents concerning the early Swiss settlers was unknown to many. It has seemed to me useful to say a word or two concerning this document, which throws so much light on the genealogy of many of Lancaster's pioneer settlers.

Some years ago, I bought at an auction a copy of the Ausbund, the original hymnbook of the Mennonites, first printed in 1583, and containing a number of quaint hymns describing the martyrdom of many early Mennonites. The copy I bought was published by Christopher Sauer in 1751. On one of the blank pages are written, in German, these words: "This book belongs to the congregation in Rapho township, one mile from Manheim, 1787."

The Pennsylvania-German*, Vol. XI, No. 10, Oct., 1910.

The book contains not only hymns, however, but also a "Confessio oder Bekantniss," by Thomas von Imbroich, (20 pages); and also, and this is of the greatest value, an account of the sufferings of the early Mennonites in the Canton of Zurich (46 pages). The title, which is in German, may be translated as follows: "A True Account of the Brethren in Switzerland, in the Canton of Zurich, and the persecutions which they had to suffer for the sake of the Gospel, from 1635 to 1645." The account was written, as the introduction says, in order to give information to the Brethren in Holland, concerning their trials and sufferings. It tells of the long discussions the Brethren had with the State Church, especially as to regular attendance at Church, which they would not agree to, preferring, as they said, to obey God rather than man. The result of these disputations was that the Brethren were given the choice either to go to church or go to prison. They chose the latter alternative; their houses and lands were confiscated, and many of them, men and women alike, were shut up in Cloister Oetenbach, "in einem tiefen und gar feuchten Gefangniss." All these people, spoken of in the little book, came either from Zurich itself or from towns and villages lying on the banks of the lake, namely Klonau, Wadensweil, Horgen, Uetikon and Gruningen.

"And now," to use the language of the "Account" itself, "we will proceed to give the names of men, women and children and how they and their property were treated."

First of all was a Rudolph Egley, a citizen of Zurich, who was shut up in prison, his property seized and sold for 6,000 gulden, and his children driven from home, among them being a sick child who was laid on the bare ground outside of his house.

The same treatment was given to Haus Meyli and his two sons Hans and Marty and their wives, all thrown into prison. Similar treatment was likewise given to the following persons: Hans Muller, of Uetikon, Rudolph Hagi, Hans Ringer, Heinrich Frick of Klonau, who before his conversion was an Ensign in the Army, and possessed "grosses zeitliches Gut", Stephen Zander of Klonau, Dorothea Grob of Klonau, Catharina Muller of Klonau, Heinrich Gut of Klonau, Ottilly Muller of Klonau, Barbara Mylin, Barbara Kolb, Elizabeth Meylin.

Most of the above were from the Klonau District. A special heading is given to those from Wadensweil and Horgen, under which are given the following names: Peter Brubacher, Jacob Rusterholtz, Hans Landis "Ein bestelter Diener in Horgerberg", Hans Huber, Conrad Strickler, Hans Rudolph Bauman, aus dem Horgerberg, Oswald Landis, Veronica Ableny, Eine Alte Schwester aus dem Horgerberg, Jacob Rusterholtz, Felix Landis, aus dem Horgerberg, and his wife Adelheid Egli, Rudolph Sommer, ein junger Knab, in der Herrschaft Wadensweil, Hans Asper, Werne Pleister, of Wadensweil, Ulrich Schneider, aus der Gemeine Rutschwii, in der Herrschaft Wadenschweil, Sally Schneider, Rudolph Bachmann.

Under the heading Amt Gruningen, the following names are given: Hans Jacob Heess, Hans Muller, Jacob Gochnauer, Jacob Egly, Georg Weber in der Herrschaft Kiburg, Jacob Baumgartner, in der Herrschaft Kiburg, Ulrich Muller in der Herrschaft Kiburg, Jacob Nussly in der Herrschaft Kiburg, Burckhart Ammen on Lake Zurich, Elizabeth Hutzny, Heinrich Schnebely.

As is apparent from this list of names many of our Lancaster county families can easily trace their ancestors back to the original home on the shores of Lake Zurich.

A word or two about the places mentioned above may be interesting to many. I have visited most of these places and can testify to their beauty and prosperity. Wadenswil today is a large market-town on the west shore of Lake Zurich, in the District of Horgen, and contains more than 6,000 inhabitants. Its situation is one of the most charming in Switzerland, lying on the slopes of terraced hills, planted with grain, fruit and vines, with the waters of the lake, bathing its feet. There is a beautiful church, and other public buildings, and the inhabitants are noted for their industrial activity. Some years ago when I was in Zurich I looked up the directory of these places, and I found in Wadenswil the following well-known Lancaster county names: Brupbacher, Gut, Hugentobler, Muller, Rusterholz, Bachmann, Kunz, Baumann, Landis, Stahli, Frick, Zurcher, Aebly, Widmer, etc.

The District of Horgen contains a number of towns and villages, among them Wadenswil, described above, and also the market-town of Horgen, situated on the southwest shore of Lake Zurich, surrounded by beautiful meadows and vineyards. Its church is reckoned as one of the most beautiful in the land, with its high tower and magnificent chimes. The chief industry is the manufacture of silk. Among the Lancaster county names still represented there are Bruppacher, Nageli, Widmer, Bachmann, Gut, Muller, Huber, Munch, Hoffstetter.

Gruningen is now nothing but a village, though once it was a small town, and is situated in the District of Hinwil, Canton of Zurich. The village itself contains only about 250 inhabitants, though the parish contains over 1,200. Lancaster names here are Maurer, Baer, Baumann, Strickler, Egli, Ehrismann, Brupbacher, Forry.

Uetikon is also only a small village, lying on the east shore of Lake Zurich in the District Meilen. The inhabitants chiefly work at the raising of fruit, grain and grapes. Lancaster names today are Furrer, Nagli, Muller, Burkli, Baumgarten, Baumann, Kunz.

Kiburg is a village on the way from Zurich to Winterthur, containing less than 400 inhabitants. It is famous chiefly for its castle, lying in a wild and romantic situation.

Meilen is a District of Canton Zurich, and also the chief town of the same. Lancaster county names there today are Brupbacher, Rustenholz, Baumann, Naf, Burkhard, Egli, Vogeli (Fagley), Aeschlimann, Muller, Baumgartner, Ringger, Funk.

Klonau, is a misprint for Knonau, a village of less than 600 inhabitants, on the main road from Lucerne to Zurich and distant equally from both cities. It has a pretty church and a castle, and its inhabitants are chiefly engaged in farming and cattle raising. Lancaster county names today are Hagy, Frick, Baer, Huber, Baumann, Muller, Furrer.

While in Switzerland some years ago I jotted down some of the Lancaster county names I found in the graveyards in several of the above places. Thus in the graveyard at Wadenswil I found Leemann, Bachman, Rusterholtz, Zurcher, Naef, Strickler, Widmer, Brupbacher, Muller, Baer, Furrer, Good, Huber, Baumgartner.

In Horgen graveyard were Hiestand and Gut; in Meilen, Bruppacher, Basler, Egli and Baumann.

I have thought it worth while to give the above names, for it is beyond any doubt in my mind that at least some of the Lancaster county families could, if they took the time and trouble, trace their ancestry back to the above villages on Lake Zurich. As is known to everyone Lancaster county was first settled by Swiss Mennonites. These were divided into two groups, one from the Canton Bern, the other from Canton Zurich. The names given in the book I have described above are those who came from Zurich. Hence the Stricklers, Snavelys (Schnebeli) Burckhards, Forrers, Mullers, Ringers, Gochenauers, Fricks, Goods (Gut), Meylins, Hoovers (Huber), Brubakers, Landes, etc., may all with a certain degree of positiveness look back to Zurich as their ancestral home land.

*SOME LANCASTER COUNTY FAMILIES FROM THE CANTON OF BERNE, SWITZERLAND.

By Prof. Oscar Kuhns, Middletown, Conn.

In the conclusion of my article in the October number of THE PENNSYLVANIA-GERMAN on some Lancaster County families from the Canton Zurich, I said I should later write an aricle on Lancaster families from Berne. Here, as there, I can not give the connecting links between the American and the Swiss branches of the various families; I can only point out the fact that certain well-known Lancaster families did originate in the Canton of Berne.

It is well known that as early as the first decades of the 17th century the Anabaptists had obtained a stronghold in the Emmenthal, and neighboring places of Berne. Desperate efforts were made to eradicate them; many were imprisoned, their property was confiscated, and, following the unholy example of the French in punishing the Huguenots, the government of Berne sold many of the Anabaptists (Mennonites as they were later known) to France, to the different Italian provinces, and especially to Venice,—to be used as galley slaves, especially, as in the case of the latter, in the wars against the Turks. Among those cast into the prison in the city of Berne itself, we find in 1761 the following well-known Lancaster names: Ulrich Baumgartner, of Lauperswyl; Hans Zaugg (Zug or Zook) of Signau; Jacob Gut (Good) of Zofingen; Matthys Kaufman, of Kriegstetten. All the above persecutions led to the first emigration of the Bernese Taufer (Mennonites),—in September, 1660. Those who emigrated then were few in number. The first emigration of importance was in 1671, when, on account of oppression at home, about 700 Bernese Taufer left their homes and settled in the neighboring Palatinate and Alsace. Among them were the Bigers, Brenimans, Bieris, Neukomms (Newcomers), Newenschwangers, Burkholders, Stauffers, Strohms, Witmers, Baumans, Leemans, Shenks, Bachmans, Mullers, Burkis, Wengers and others.

From this time on many Taufer fled from Berne and settled among their relatives and fellow-believers in the different parts of Alsace and the Palatinate. In 1731 and later years we hear of Mennonite settlements in which the well-known Bernese (as well as Lancaster County) names occur of Neukomm, Fratz, Wittmer, Krahenbuhl (Graybill), Kundig, Brand, Gauman (Gehman), Kaufman, Hoffstetter, Baumann, Strahm, Landis, Neysli (Nissley), Graf (Groff), Oberholzer, Kreiter, Martin, Burkhalter, Funk, Rohrer, Gut (Good), Moselmann (Musselman), Huber (Hoover), Gerber (Garver), Behm, Bahr, Muller, Herr, Wisler, Schneebli, Hauri (Howrey), Hiestand, Neff, Langenacker.

Muller, in giving this list, says that the names are "vorzugsweise Bernese".

Among those Bernese names found in the various Mennonite communities in the Palatinate and Alsace in the 18th century, we find likewise a number of Zurich names, well-known in Lancaster County, such as Landis, Hershey, Brubacher, Kagi, Meili, etc. The name Herr, or Heer occurs also, probably coming from Zurich, although originally from the Canton Glarus. In a book I found in the Stadt-Bibliothek of Zurich, entitled, "Das ausgestorbene Adel (with coats of arms) von Stadt und Landschaft Zurich, by Jean Egli, 1865, the family Heer is given as "Ein altes angesehenes Geschlecht des Landes Glarus,—aus dem schon 1499 Friedli im Schwabenkrieg umkam und in der Folge verschiedene Sprossen die wurden eines Landes-fahnrichs, Landeshaptmanns, etc. bekleideten."

The Pennsylvania-German,* Vol. XI, No. 12, December, 1910.

Thus we see the emigrants from both Berne and Zurich settled together in Alsace and the Palatinate; and it is easy to see how when the Catholic princes of these principalities began to persecute the Mennonites, and they emigrated to Pennsylvania, they came together.

The largest of all these emigrations of Swiss Mennonites of Pennsylvania was in the year 1710-11. As I have told in my book in the "German and Swiss Settlements of Colonial Pennsylvania",—this was an enforced emigration, the Canton of Berne making an effort to get rid of its troublesome sectaries by sending under escort a large number of them to Holland, hoping thence to deport to America. This plan failed largely through the refusal of Holland to be a party thereto; and yet it was the cause of a large movement of emigration on the part of the Mennonites themselves. They were shipped on boats at Berne and Neufchatel, and descended the Rhine to Holland, whence many afterwards came to Pennsylvania. The lists given by Muller of those on the various boats, tells also the town or village whence they came. As this may throw light on the particular ancestral locality of some of our Lancaster County families I give some of these places here. In the Emmenthal ship: Martin Strahm came from Hochstetten; Hans Burki from Langnau; Peter Gerber and his wife Verena Aeschlimann from Langnau; Ulrich Beer from Traub; Hans Fluckiger from Lutzelfluh; Nicholas Baumgartner from Trub; Chr. Gauman from Hochstetten; Daniel Neukomm from Eggiwyl; Hans Wisler from Langnau; Ulrich Schurch from Sumiswald; Katharina Haldiman from Hochstetten; Barbara Rohrer from Bolligen; Kath. Bieri from Laupenswyl; Hans Schallenberger and his wife Elspeth Neuenschwander from Trub.

In the Oberland ship (i. e. from the mountain district of Berne), we find: Christ. Stutzmann from Spiez; Christ. Steiner from Diessbach; Elsb. Wenger from Thierachern; Barb. Ruegsegger (Ricksecker) from Diessbach; Elsb. Huber from Frutigen; Peter Krahenbuhl (Graybill) from Diessbach.

In the Neuchatel ship we find: Hans Zurcher from Frutigen; Anna Trachsee from Frutigen; Anna Bucher from Reichenbach; Elsb. Binggeli from Schwarzenburg.

These are a few of the names given by Muller, but are typical Lancaster County names. One name not found among the above is yet of the greatest importance, that of Bendicht Brechbuhl (Brightbill of Brackbill), who took an important part in the negotiations with Holland, which made the above emigration possible. So in the list of prisoners in Berne in 1710, we find further indication of the dwelling places of Lancaster County families. Thus from Trachselwald we have Hans Wisler, Hans Schneider, Clauss Baumgartner, Ulli Beer, Ulli Brachbul—from Sumiswald, Ulli Schurch; from Brandiss, Hauss Fluckiger, from Signau, Martin Stram and Christian Gaumann.

That all these families were of old Mennonite ancestry can be seen from the fact that as far back as the 16th century we find the same names given as belonging to the Taufer. Thus in a list of Mennonites put to death in the Canton Berne, we find the following list: 1529, Ulrich Schneider of Lutzelflus; 1538, Steffen Rugsegger; 1539, Lorenz Aeberli from Grunau; 1543, Walti Garber of Signau; 1550, Elsi, wife of Kasper Zaugg of Sumiswald; Christian Bronnimann; 1554, Kaspar Zaugg, Sumiswald.

In 1538 a Taufergesprach was held in Berne; and among those present were Uli Neuenschwander, of Eggiwyl; Walti Gerber of Rottenbach; Hans Schellenberg and Hans Krabenbuhl of Signau; Uli Hunziker of Schofftlen and Uli Fluckiger of Niederhuttwyl.

It may be worth while to give a brief description of the places mentioned above. The Emmenthal is the beautiful valley formed by the river Emme. Langnau is its chief town and contains over 7,000 inhabitants.

The chief industry of the inhabitants is farming and cattle raising. Signau has nearly 3,000 inhabitants and lies on the road from Berne to Langnau. Sumiswald is on the main road from Berne to Lucerne, and has nearly 6,000 inhabitants. Trachselwald is a small village of 1,600 inhabitants, with a church and castle. Trub is a little larger, having 2,500 inhabitants, being situated not far from Signau.

Lutzelfluh is a very beautiful typical Bernese village of 3,500 inhabitants on the river Emme, not far from Trachselwald; which is itself a small village of 1,600 inhabitants. The places in the Oberland mentioned above, are Spiez, beautifully situated on Lake Thun (near Interlaken), containing between 2,000 and 3,000 inhabitants; it has a picturesque castle, and is the starting point for the new railroad to Montreux through the Simmenthal.

Diessbach is a small village on the road from Thun to Burgdorf. Frutigen is a large market town of some 4,000 inhabitants on the road from Thun over the Gemmi Pass. Thierachern is a beautifully situated little dorf of 800 inhabitants, not far from Thun. Reichenbach (2,500 inhabitants) lies at the foot of the Engelberg, opposite the entrance to the Kienthal.

Schwarzenburg is on the frontier between Berne and Freiburg, and beautifully located, with an old castle and a church built on an isolated hill, dominating the landscape.

This then is the home-land of many of our Lancaster County families; and although it may be difficult to trace the direct connection of the Eshelmans, the Garvers, the Flickingers, the Newcomers, Rohrers, Shallenbergers, Wengers, Rickseckers, Hoovers, etc., to the particular families in the fatherland yet one thing is certain, they belong to the old Bernese families, and share in the best blood of Switzerland.

In a later article I shall mention some of the books and MS. authorities I found in the Town Libraries of Berne and Zurich. Here I may mention the Genealogical Lexicon of Leu, in a number of volumes, in which the genealogies of the most important Swiss families is given. A copy of this invaluable book is in the State Library at Harrisburg.

ORIGINAL VIRGINIA REVOLUTIONARY RECORDS— WILLIAM PEAKE.

By Mrs. Clifford Kennedy Berryman, Washington, D. C.

"In an old letter book which belonged to my g. g. gf. Alexander Smith, Justice of the Peace, of Alexandria, Va., I find the following: March 14, 1799, Alexandria, Va. Copy of William Peake's pension certificate, power of attorney, letter sent to Richmond by post to John Brown, Esq., for collection, etc.

"Fairfax Co. in the State of Virginia: To Wit: Before me, one of the Justices of the Peace for the sd County personally appeared WILLIAM PEAKE and made oath he is the same William Peake to whom the original Certificate now in his possession was given of which the following is a true copy:

"I do, with the advice of the Council hereby certify that WILLIAM PEAKE aged about forty years, late Quartermaster Serg't in the first regiment of Light Dragoons, whose pay was at the rate of fifty-four pounds pr annum; was disabled in the service of the United States by a very dangerous wound on his head, several on both his arms, and that he is allowed the sum of Eighteen pounds yearly from the first day of January one thousand seven hundred and eighty-six. Given under my hand as Governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia at Richmond the 11th day of August, 1788.

T. Merewether. (Signed) EDM. RANDOLPH."

"That he served in the first regiment of Dragoons at the time he was wounded and that he now resides (when at home) in the County of Madison in the State of Kentucky, and has resided there for five years past, before that he resided in the County of Fairfax in the State of Virginia.
(Signed) JOHN WEST."

"I do certify that the above is a true copy of an original certificate granted to WM. PEAKE upon which he has heretofore drawn a pension of Eighteen Pounds per annum.

Given under my hand as Governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia at Richmond, this 3d day of August, 1797.
(Signed) JAMES WOOD."

"I, WILLIAM PEAKE, of the County of Madison in the State of Kentucky, do hereby constitute and appoint JOHN BROWN, Esq., of the City of Richmond, my lawful attorney, to receive in my behalf of JOHN HOPKINS, Esq., Commissioner of Loans, my pension as an invalid of the United States which became due the fifth day of this month, March. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 14th day of March, 1799.
(Signed) W. PEAKE (Seal)
JOHN WEST,
MATHEW ROBINSON."

"Alexandria, March 14th, 1799.

Dr. Sir:

I have once more taken the Liberty of requesting you to draw my pension from Colo. JOHN HOPKINS, Commissioner of Loans, which became due on the 5th of this month. As soon as you draw the same you will please to pay it to Mr. ALEXANDER SMITH, mercht., Alex., or his order, whose receipt shall be good against you.

Obed'nt, Yo Hmb. Servt.,
W. PEAKE."

John Brown, Esq.
City of Richmond.

"Alexandria, March 14, 1799.

Dr. Sir:

Inclosed I send you a Copy of William Peake's original Certificate wherein he is entitled to draw annually a pension of Eighteen Ls., and as Mr. Peake has by the above order directed you to pay the money to me or my order be so obliging as to draw an order in my favor upon Captain CHARLES TURNER, of this place, for the amt. which order when accepted shall be good against (Signed) A. SMITH.

Your Obd.,

John Brown, Esq.
City of Richmond.
N. B. Inclose your draft upon Capt. Turner by the mail. A. S."

NOTE.—The above Alexander Smith, J. P., was prominent in Alexandria from 1772 to at least 1804, as shown by his letter books. He m. Margaret Douglass from Dumphries, Va. Can anyone furnish additional information? No will has been found.

The records of Wm. Peake, John West, Col. John Hopkins, Capt. Charles Turner, etc., are of Revolutionary interest. G. M. B.

All communications in regard to exchanges, or current or back numbers should be addressed to the Librarian, Miss Cora C. Curry, 1020 Monroe Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Persons desiring extra copies of their articles can order the Quarterly in multiples of 25 at a wholesale price, if they will communicate with the Editor 30 days before publication.

A limited number of selected advertisements will be accepted. Rates upon application to the editor.

If this space is checked with pencil your subscription expires with this issue. Under the rulings of the Post Office Department, prompt renewal is necessary.

Entered as second-class matter March 28, 1913, at the post office at Washington, D. C., under the Act of August 24, 1912.

Subscribe for the QUARTERLY.

Subscribers should change the date line on page 17 of the double number, April-July, 1919, to read:

Vol. VIII, Washington, April-July, 1919, Nos. 1 and 2.

"The Maryland Tombstone Records Number of the QUARTERLY was very favorably received and orders for its purchase continue to be received. Upon page 12, line 23 the word "those" should be changed to read "of whose daughters, Ellen Catharine May," etc.

Especial attention is directed to the reprint from Carnegie Institution, Publication No. 220 upon p. 36 of this QUARTERLY. Additions to this "check list" are requested from readers who know of other Swiss settlements throughout the United States.

It is with the greatest regret and sympathy that we announce the death of Robert Atwater Smith during his presidency of the National Genealogical Society on Dec. 31, 1919. It is with especial pleasure that we announce the intention of Mrs. Smith to give to the Society Library practically all of her late husband's extensive genealogical and historical volumes, clippings and notes of research.

THE POSTAL SERVICE.

The April-July, 1919, double number of the QUARTERLY was deposited in the Washington City post office, second class section, on the afternoon of October 11. The copy for the Public Library, Bangor, Maine, was actually delivered by the 24th of October. Some numbers for delivery in our own city were delivered in two and three days, one in a week, and a number have never apparently reached their destination. Over thirty complaints of non-delivery inside of a month have been received by the editor, and numerous replacements of lost numbers have been necessary. Where the trouble exists is a question yet undetermined, but the fact of exceedingly poor postal service is expensively evident to all publishers.

Some subscribers are kindly reporting the date of arrival of their copies, and it is proving of material assistance in the effort to locate the postal trouble.

In this connection numerous letters plainly addressed to National Genealogical Society, or National Genealogical Society Quarterly, have been delivered to the National Geographical Society, Washington, D. C. The names and addresses of the Officers of the Society appear upon the third page of the cover. Special care should be taken in writing the address. In one instance a letter containing a check was delivered to the American Legion, City, and, although readdressed and remailed to the editor it has not yet been received, after the lapse of a month.

Owing to unavoidable delays, some 1920 matters appear in this issue, and the January, 1920, issue will speedily go to press.

LIST OF EMIGRANTS FROM ZURICH TO CAROLINA AND PENNSYLVANIA, 1734-1744.

The scope of the proposed publication has been extended to include in a later volume emigrant lists from BASEL and BERNE, SWITZERLAND, and these important records are being studied with a view of digesting and transcribing.

The title has been changed to read LISTS OF SWISS EMIGRANTS IN THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY TO THE AMERICAN COLONIES. VOLUME ONE, ZURICH TO CAROLINA AND PENNSYLVANIA, (1734-1744) is in the hands of the publishers.

Advance cash subscriptions for the first volume should now be forwarded at the special price of five dollars, carriage prepaid. After publication, this price will be six dollars, and the date for delivery will soon be announced.

RESOLUTIONS UPON THE DEATH OF ROBERT ATWATER SMITH

WHEREAS, the Great Commander of the Universe in His wisdom has seen fit to remove from our midst, our devoted President, therefore be it

RESOLVED, that in the death of ROBERT ATWATER SMITH, in Washington, D. C., December, 31, 1919, our society has lost a valued and honored President and member, who served our society with loyalty and devotion, and we have ever held him in the highest esteem for his sterling worth and integrity, the community an exemplary citizen, his wife a kind and devoted husband, to whom we extend our sympathy and condolence, and commend her to the care of our Heavenly Father for that consolation, which is not in our power to give.

RESOLVED, that a copy of these resolutions be engrossed and presented to the wife of the deceased, and spread on the minutes of our society.

Olds (Oulds, Old,) Family in England and America, presented by Edson Baldwin Olds the author. A most exhaustive and interesting geneagogy of this family. It is said that this work was prepared and published in record time, because most of the name or blood who had collections of any sort, promptly sent them for use in this work. Mr. Olds is also to be congratulated upon the fact that advance subscriptions more than covered all costs of the book, and that the edition is practically exhausted. He has extended his caerful researches and another edition will probably later appear.

Among the numerous publications contributed by Mr. Herbert P. Gerald are many Year books of patriotic organizations, colleges and churches:

CORA C. CURRY, Librarian.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY FOR 1918.

During the year 1918 the Society held six meetings, the October and November meetings being omitted by reason of the ban on gatherings, due to the epidemic of influenza; this also caused the annual election of officers to be postponed one month. In spite of numerous war activities and demands, interest in the society and its work was maintained under all conditions, and six new members were admitted, Mr. Gilman B. Howe, Mrs. Emma M. V. Triepel, Mr. Francis B. Culver, Mr. George Mossop, Mrs. Aline G. Jonas and Miss Effie Henry. There were several resignations, and the loss of three members by death during the year, Mr. Zebina Moses, Mrs. Corra Bacon-Foster, and Mrs. Ruth M. G. Pealer. Additional members are much desired especially those who will assist in extending the usefulness of our Society.

Numerous letters from persons genealogically inclined, have been received from different parts of the United States, showing an increased circulation of the QUARTERLY published by the Society. The publication of the QUARTERLY has been delayed by general war conditions, and while the cost has increased with the rise in price of paper and labor, the standard of the magazine has been more than maintained, and much original material has been printed. The index which is a regular feature, greatly adds to the value of the magazine. The Librarian's reports which appeared in past issues, speak for themselves, and contain a wealth of genealogical data. Additional contributions to our Library are always appreciated.

The Society in general, and the Editor in particular, have been endeavoring to keep before the Houses of Congress, the necessity for an Archives Building, as a war measure, and much is hoped for in the near future as those in authority have come to realize the dangerous conditions under which priceless government records are kept. This prospect for success will interest genealogists of the entire country.

Feb. 15, 1919. MAUD B. MORRIS, Sect'y.

OFFICIAL WARRANTS ISSUED TO OFFICERS AND SOLDIERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

Recently discovered official material identifies Revolutionary soldiers by service and by State. Through official courtesies, the publication of these important new materials will begin in the next issue of the QUARTERLY, and same will soon be available. Please give extensive publicity to this notice. G. M. B.

National Genealogical Society Quarterly

Vol. VIII JANUARY, 1920 Number 4

Copies of Warrants Issued by the Auditor of the Treasury Department, and Certified by the Comptroller of the Treasury Department, From May 31, 1828, to Aug. 5, 1828, in Favor of Certain Surviving Officers and Soldiers of the Army of the Revolution in the Continental Army.

Mr. Solomon Elmer Faunce, of the Treasury Department, called attention to a small volume of official warrants issued in favor of Surviving Officers and Soldiers of the Army of the Revolution in the Continental Army between May 31, 1828, and August 5, 1828. He has been quite active in forwarding all movements to preserve official Revolutionary records, and has rescued many such records from destruction. The National Genealogical Society is indebted to him for the preparation of this Index of Warrants and to the Auditor of the Treasury and to the Chief Clerk of the Treasury for official permission to make these valuable records public.

Photostatic copies of 72 pages of a similar additional record "Commutation Warrants" issued to Revolutionary Officers, Rank and Organization included, are proposed to be published either in the Quarterly or in a separate volume.

In this connection special attention is directed to the important inclusion of the Rank and Orgonization of the officer and soldier, and to Senate Document No. 988, 63*d Congress,* 3*d Session,* 17*th Report of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution,* 1915, pp. 149-712—Pierce's Register. This latter omits identifications except as such are possible through the Warrant numbers given upon pp. 152-155 of the said Register.

REVOLUTIONARY WARRANTS.

Seldom has it been possible for a publication to submit to its readers a more satisfactory identification of the rank and organization for Revolutionary soldiers than the one published in this issue of the QUARTERLY. Our readers are to be congratulated. This record and more extensive ones of a similar character were discovered by the editor while investigating into the character and the unfortunately unsafe locations of various official records, upon the request of a prominent Senator. The latter is valiantly working to secure a National Archives Building, and thus rescue and preserve important records connected with the founding and perpetuation of our Nation. Organizations and individuals should continue the work until success results.

The additional Revolutionary Warrants are an important key and amplification to Pierce's Register, mentioned upon page 49 of this issue. The entire newly discovered materials will be favorably received wherever seen.

MAKE RECORDS NOW

If you had a son, brother or other near relative in the great war, now is the time to make a complete record of his services while the facts are fresh in the mind and most accessible.

Many societies will be formed in the future based on service in this war, and all the honor possible should be given to those who have taken part in it.

If "he" belongs to "our family" you will want his war record in the next genealogy of the family that is published; so gather the facts while they are well known and preserve them in the old family Bible or some other safe place.

FRANK SYLVESTER PARKS.

If each subscriber will forward a new subscription with his renewal the value of the QUARTERLY and of the Society's work can be largely increased.

WILL OF THOMAS MORRIS, COLONIAL ANCESTOR OF LEWIS MORRIS, IMMIGRANT IN NEW JERSEY.

By Miss Maud Burr Morris, Washington, D. C.

BARBADOS.

IN THE NAME OF GOD, AMEN.

THO. MORRIS (seale)

Signed sealed published and declared
ROGER PEELE
EDW. BUSHER.

I the Deputy Governor.

BARBADOS. Personally appeared before me this nineteenth day of November 1670 EDWARD BUSHER and made oath that he Saw Thomas Morris signe seale publish and deliver the above written to be his last will and testament and that he was in perfect mind and memory to the best of his Knowledge Given under my hand the day and Year above written.

CHR. CODRINGTON.

The above is a copy of a certified copy furnished to me by the Registration Office, Lewistown, Barbados, W. I., and it is here first published.

The above Thomas Morris came from Monmouthshire, Wales, to the Island of Barbados after the defeat of Cromwell's army. He was a brother of Col. Lewis Morris who emigrated to this country and founded Morrisiania, N. Y., and also of Richard Morris whose son, Lewis Morris, inherited the bulk of the estate of his uncle, Col. Lewis Morris. Lewis Morris, son of Thomas, and a nephew of Col. Lewis Morris, was a large land owner in the Province of New Jersey; & is known as Lewis Morris of "Passage Point"; he married Elizabeth Almy, daughter of Christopher Almy, deputy Governor of the Province of Rhode Island, and was the ancestor of many branches of the Morris family in the present State of New Jersey. He was murdered by a negro slave in 1695.

The descendants of Lewis Morris, son of Thomas, are given in detail in Vol. IV, Stilwell's Genealogy and Historic Miscellany.

MAUD BURR MORRIS.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY FOR 1919.

During the year 1919 the National Genealogical Society held nine monthly meetings in the homes of its members, with an enthusiastic attendance. With the rapid return to normal life and activities it is expected that the work of the Society during 1920 will be largely extended.

Ten new members were admitted:
Dr. Edward John Angle, Lincoln, Neb.
Mr. Gordon M. Ash, White Oak Springs, Frederick, Md.
Mr. Samuel Putnam Avery, Hartford, Conn.
Dr. Frank Eddy Caldwell, Salt Lake City, Utah.
Mrs. Gilman Bigelow Howe, Washington, D. C.
Mr. Folks Huxford, Homerville, Ga.
Miss Minnie F. Mickley, Allentown, Pa., R. F. D.

HONORARY MEMBERS:
Dr. Albert Bernhardt Faust, Ithaca, N. Y.
Mr. Michael Alvin Gruber, Washington, D. C.
Dr. Wm. J. Hinke, Auburn, N. Y.

There were several resignations, and three deaths, Col. Wm. B. Thompson, Mr. John Spencer Bukey, and the President of this Society, Mr. Robert Atwater Smith, whose sudden death occurred on December 31st, 1919, the last day of his term of office.

Among the items of interest discussed or undertaken during the year, were the matter of keeping before Congress the necessity of an Archives Building for the safe housing of valuable government records. The Society, through the influence of Misses Oursler and Curry, was presented by the Census Office, with 125 or more volumes of early "Mortality, Agricultural and Commercial Records" (refused by the States of Kentucky, Georgia and Arizona), which, however, on account of their size, and lack of storage space, were reluctantly turned over to Memorial Continental Hall for safe-keeping, and where they are available to all.

In this connection, the Society hopes, before long, to be in a position to open a library where its large and valuable collection of genealogical and historical books, pamphlets and papers may be more accesible to members.

The librarian's reports show a gratifying number of important accessions to the collection.

The labor troubles and increased cost of material and production have delayed the regular appearance of the QUARTERLY, and the publishers, The Rufus H. Darby Printing Co., have endeavored to fully cooperate with the Society and overcome the delays. The character of materials printed was compensation for the delay, the "Maryland Tombstone Number," being especially popular. The Society contemplates publishing lists of families in which members are genealogically interested, and a department of Notes and Queries. It also plans at once to start a comprehensive Genealogical Card Index to assist in practical work.

By far the most important undertaking of the Society, is the publication of the Swiss Records, being a list of about 2,030 emigrants from Zurich, Switzerland, to this country in the years 1734-'44, and containing a large amount of family history hitherto inaccessible. The advance subscriptions from individuals, libraries and historical societies continue to encourage us and assure early success of the project. Instalments of proof continue to be received from the publishers, as reported by the editor of the QUARTERLY.

Many interesting talks were given, and papers read, before the society during the year.

MAUD BURR MORRIS,
Secretary.

COMMUTATION WARRANTS ISSUED TO 2201 REVOLUTIONARY WAR OFFICERS, INCLUDING RANK, REGIMENT, AND STATE.

By G. M. Brumbaugh, M.S., M.D., Washington, D. C. †

Continuing the important Revolutionary records published in the QUARTERLY, January, 1920, pp. 49-55, the following records are here first given publicity. The official records were identified by the editor of this publication, and the then Chief Clerk of the Treasury Department, Mr. James J. Wilmeth, now Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, readily saw the importance of the records and had photostatic copies of the same made by the Department, at the writer's expense. The printed copy here presented is authentic, and may be given as positive proof of service in applications for membership in the various patriotic societies, as the Daughters of the American Revolution, Sons of the American Revolution, etc.

These records amplify and further identify the service of the officers given by name and warrant numbers, and amounts, in SENATE DOC. No. 988, 63d. Cong., 3d. Session, or as otherwise known, SEVENTEENTH REPORT of the NATIONAL SOCIETY of the DAUGHTERS of the AMERICAN REVOLUTION—"PIERCE'S REGISTER." Upon page 150 of that volume we find: "The register gives only the name of the officer or soldier to whom the certificate was issued but does not show his rank, regiment, or State."

The general index of Pierce's Register, preserved in manuscript in the Library of Congress, and published in pp. 152-155 of the above 17th D. A. R. Rept. Smithsonian, is here reproduced. It gives general State and Regimental information covered by the numbers of grouped warrants, thus often completing blanks occurring toward the end of the alphabetical divisions in this record. The progressive numerical order therefore follows the official record thus grouping State officers.

"Pierce's Register" extends to "93,843." The following pages include many later warrants and the names, etc., of 85 Revolutionary Officers receiving awards under Act of Congress*.

These records are an important addition to Pierce's Register, to which it is practically a key and enlarges the usefulness of that volume. It also gives authoritative proof to much contained in Heitman's Historical Register, and adds numerous officers to the collection in that excelent volume.

MARRIAGE BONDS, PENDLETON COUNTY, WEST VIRGINIA.

Marriage Bonds from the organization of the County in 1788 are filed in the Clerk's office at Franklin. They are folded and tied in small packages. Plans are making for a permanent filing of these valuable papers to make their records available without possibility of impairing the files. Among those who "contracted to alter their condition in Matrimony according to law" were:

		Bondsmen	Witnesses

Annual subscription $3.00
Single numbers (two exceptions, $1.) . .75
Vol. 1, Complete, few remaining $5.00
Vols. II to VIII, per set $17.00

All communications in regard to exchanges, or current or back numbers should be addressed to the Librarian, Miss Cora C. Curry, 1020 Monroe Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Persons desiring extra copies of their articles can order the Quarterly in multiples of 25 at a wholesale price, if they will communicate with the Editor 30 days before publication.

A limited number of selected advertisements will be accepted. Rates upon application to the editor.

Entered as second-class matter March 28, 1913, at the post office at Washington, D. C., under the Act of August 24, 1912.

The April and July issues, 1920, are issued and mailed together, and form a valuable contribution to Patriotic American History and Genealogy. The edition is limited, hence please order promptly.

LISTS OF SWISS EMIGRANTS IN THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY TO THE AMERICAN COLONIES; VOLUME 1; ZURICH, 1734-1744.

From the Archives of Switzerland, By Albert Bernhardt Faust, A.B., Ph.D.

This important volume has been printed in an edition of 500 copies and the binder promises early delivery to the advance subscribers. It is handsomely printed upon "Printone" 60 lbs. paper, 7x9½, pp. XI, 122 including Index of 18 pp., plates 14; price $6.00, delivered by the National Genealogical Society, in the order of receipt of subscription. Apply at once, making checks or drafts payable to Alfred B. Dent, Treasurer.

COMMUTATION WARRANTS ISSUED TO 2201 REVOLUTIONARY WAR OFFICERS is a key to Pierce's Register and valuable, authentic addition to the available materials making possible the entry of numerous patriotic Americans into the various patriotic societies. This series alone should make Volume IX of the Quarterly an especially important volume. Subscribers will receive Numbers I and II at about the same time. These Revolutionary Records are here first published from photostatic copies of the originals.

It is with pleasure that the Quarterly announces the recent appointment of Major J. C. Ruppenthal as Dean of the School of Law, University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kansas. During the World War Major Ruppenthal served at Washington in the office of Judge Advocate General, War Department, and he is an active member of the National Genealogical Society.

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION CHANGE, ETC.

The annual subscription to the QUARTERLY, has been advanced to three dollars, effective October 15, 1920. The fees for membership in The National Genealogical Society are for initiation three dollars and annual dues two dollars. Members of the Society receive the QUARTERLY without additional payment. The insignia of the Society is three dollars.

CATONSVILLE PIONEERS OF THE LUTHERAN FAITH.

By George C. Keidel, Ph.D., Library of Congress.[1]

Catonsville is the name most widely applied to the southwestern corner of Baltimore County, Maryland, although there are no precise limits to its territory. It was settled in Colonial times chiefly by English-speaking people, but shortly after the year 1830 there was a considerable influx of German emigrants to the neighborhood. One of the earliest of these was Mr. Johann Kolb (Apr. 15, 1814- Dec. 16, 1897)[2], who removed about the year 1835 to the section of Catonsville now known as Harlem Lane when the whole region was a mere wilderness.[3]

When the first German settlers arrived the locality was doubtless already known as Catonsville, so named after Richard Caton (1763-1845) and his wife Mary (familiarly known as "Polly") Carroll (1770-1846), daughter of the celebrated Signer Charles Carroll of Carrollton (1737-1832), who were married at Annapolis on Nov. 25, 1787[4], and who apparently shortly afterward took up their residence in the mansion known as Castle Thunder. The village of Catonsville seems then to have slowly grown up around their home, which thus served as its nucleus.

On Sept. 30, 1849, there was organized a Lutheran congregation from [2] Statement made on Oct. 14, 1910, by his daughter Miss Minna Kolb to G. C. K.

[3] On May 26, 1919, the writer found among the Carroll manuscripts in the Library of Congress a receipted bill from Jno. H. B. Iatrobe to Charles Carroll of Carrollton, which was dated December 16th, 1830, and in which the form "Catonville" was used three times. A letter from the First Assistant Postmaster General, dated Washington, May 31, 1919, contains the following statement: ".....the post office at Catonsville, Maryland, was established as Catons Ville on January 20, 1831, and the name was changed to Catonsville on November 11, 1831."

[4] "Baltimore, November 30. On Sunday Evening last was married, at Annapolis, Mr. Richard Caton, of this Town, Merchant, to Miss Polly Carroll, Daughter of the Honourable Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, Esquire." members of the German colony widely scattered in Baltimore, Howard and Anne Arundel Counties near the point of their junction. A site for a church was soon after selected on Ingleside Avenue about a mile north of the famous old Caton residence, and a burying-ground begun by the side of the new stone edifice in the Gothic style completed the next year.[5]

Prior to the building of churches in the neighborhood of Catonsville it was customary to inter the dead in private burying grounds; but these were in course of time abandoned, and burial was made usually in the nearby churchyard. In the new Salem Churchyard here under consideration the graves were at first dug side by side and end to end without regard for order, or the possible future needs of the congregation. Many graves were left without a distinguishing mark of any kind, in some cases not even a mound of earth being raised over the coffin. Thus as the years passed all trace of a grave sometimes disappeared, and in the older portion of the churchyard it is now in many instances impossible to definitely affirm the existence of such, and still more a matter of guesswork to attempt to count the number of graves in a given area. When after a lapse of some forty years paths were at length laid out, it was at times found convenient to make them directly over some of the oldest unmarked graves; yet even then irregularities of alignment were inevitable in some instances.[6]

Frequent personal inspection of the burying ground by the author of the present article, who was formerly Secretary of the Church Council, has made him familiar with many details and enabled him to copy from time to time a certain number of tombstone inscriptions dedicated to the memory of the older members of the congregation, who in large part were destined to find a last resting-place close by the old stone church. It would seem to be not amiss, therefore, to reverently preserve here some of the data gathered.[7]

[7] A list of those tombstone inscriptions having dates of birth before the year 1800 was made by the writer about the year 1895, being published soon afterwards with a few explanatory statements in the Argus, the Catonsville weekly newspaper. Recently this early list has been added to for inscriptions having later dates of birth, and newly discovered details of church history used to elaborate the fuller account herewith given.

Other early members of Salem Church were no doubt interred in sundry private burying grounds near Franklin, Hebbville and Ellicott City, as well as in the various public cemeteries; but it would be practically impossible at this late date to make a complete list of them. Apparently only a few of the original church members removed from the neighborhood, for as a rule when once settled in their new homes they were content to remain where they were until the day of their death.

And so after seventy years of the congregation's existence the old tombstones in the churchyard on the hill bear mute witness in their quiet rural nook far from the main lines of travel near a great city to the passing of the era of first settlement now long since brought to a close. Time brings many changes both to places and people, and those that are gone have passed on to their eternal reward, while leaving behind them faint memories of their loves and labors here on earth.

And thus will we leave them undisturbed and at peace with God and man!

TOMBSTONE INSCRIPTIONS, ST. DANIEL'S (CORNER) CHURCH, BERKS COUNTY, PA.

By Michael Alvin Gruber, A. M., Washington, D. C.

Inscriptions from tombstones of persons born prior to the year 1776 and buried in the old graveyard adjoining St. Daniel's (Corner) Church, or the Luthern congregation in Heidelberg Township, Berks County, Pennsylvania, located about a mile northward of the borough of Robesonia, Pa., which is on the Penn Highway, formerly the Berks and Dauphin Turnpike, and 12 miles west of Reading, Pa.

This congregation was founded about 1749, the corner-stone of the first church building having been laid in 1751.

The inscriptions were copied by M. A. Gruber and have been arranged alphabetically according to surnames for convenient reference:

Artz, Maria Elizabeth. See Adam Fiedler, husband.

Barger, Margaret. See Carl Schuckerd, husband.

Bayer, (also Beier), Abraham, born May 2, 1747; died June 11, 1832; in wedlock 41 yrs. 10 mos. with Anna Barbara ..., born Jan'y 21, 1748, and died Feb. 18, 1812; 3 sons, 8 daughters. He and the following Peter Bayer were sons of the immigrant Andreas (Andrew) Beyer (1710-1768), buried at the Little Tulpehocken Church about 1½ miles southwest of Bernville, Berks County, Pa. The surname is found as Bayer, Beyer, Baier, Beier, and is now generally written Boyer. *

Bayer, Barbara, born Aug. 28, 1749; died April 2, 1791.

Bayer, Catharine. See John Ernst, husband.

Bayer, Peter, born Oct. 27, 1741; died March 29, 1784. The Little Tulpehocken Church Record shows him born on Oct. 27, 1742, with Christian name John Peter.

Bechtel, Elizabeth. See Leonhart Kehl, husband.

Bennetsch, Henry, born Dec. 3, 1771; died April 9, 1848; in wedlock 52 years with Catharine Urich (also Urrech), born May 15, 1774, and died June 13, 1847; 2 sons and 4 daughters.

Binnetsch, Ana Catarina, born in 172(?); died in 17-4(?). This is an old-time inscription and much weather-worn, the letters being a form of English (or Latin) capitals. Two of the letters are sometimes joined together, as in the case of E attached to the last part of N, and in representing I by dotting the perpendicular lines of other letters, as E, H, and N, the lines to be dotted in H and N depending upon whether I precedes or follows H or N. See the accompanying photograph of the tombstone. The following is the inscription as nearly as can be represented, part thereof being on the reverse (west) side of the tombstone and apparently not completed.

FAMILY RECORD OF JOHN AND AGNES (BELL) SUMMERS (KY.)

By Miss Kate S. Curry, Washington, D. C.

The following record of the family of John and Agnes (Bell) Summers of Kentucky was copied from a book entitled "An Essay on Slavery and Commerce of the Human Species especially the African" which had been presented to John, by the publisher David Barrow. The entire record was written into the book about 1817. being transcribed from a much mutilated and worn book in which the entries were originally made. The record was copied into the records of the U. S. Pension Bureau, and the volumes returned in 1879 to W. S. Summers, son of Jesse, Parkville, Platte Co., Mo.

John Summers was born in Prince William Co., Va., and was married in Frederick Co., Va., where Agnes was living in the family of her Uncle Benjamin Threldkill.

The Summers removed to Kentucky about 1788. John died Aug. 13, 1835. John Summers was born July 26 in the year 1764.

Agnes Summers, daughter of Chas. Bell, born February 10, 1767, was married October 26, 1787.

Susanna Summers was born May 6, 1789.

Thomas Summers was born May 21, 1791.

SWISS EMIGRANTS, AND BERKS COUNTY, PA., INSCRIPTIONS.

Especial attention is directed to the very carefully transcribed inscriptions and additional information furnished by Prof. Michael Alvin Gruber, published in this Quarterly. The upper left portion of the plate undoubtedly is the Lazarus Wanger, Winger, whose signature is reproduced in Lists of Swiss Emigrants in the Eighteenth Century to the American Colonies, Vol. 1, Faust. The continuous chain is complete from "the Canton of Bern in Switzerland and places adjacent" (see Plate 14) through South Carolina, through Philadelphia, Aug. 26, 1735, and to the final resting place in Berks County, Pa., at age 81.

It is hoped that other subscribers and readers may be able to thus definitely identify many of the 2,310 Natives of Switzerland authoritatively given in these records as having started to the American Colonies between 1734 and 1744. Prof. A. B. Faust and the National Genealogical Society have done a great service for American history and genealogy. The work is to be continued. G. M. B.

SAVE THE POPULATION CENSUS OF 1890.

An emergency has arisen and all legal, historical and genealogical societies are hereby appealed to for quick action in communicating with the Secretary of Commerce and with members of the Senate and the House of Representatives in strong protest against the proposed wanton official destruction of invaluable population records.

At the same time official relief through early availability of greatly needed space must be given by the early completion of the National Hall of Archives.

The matter is fully set forth in the following resolutions:

RESOLUTIONS OF THE NATIONAL GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, APRIL 2, 1921

WHEREAS, Owing to the partial destruction of the Population Census of 1890, in Washington, D. C., January 10, 1921, by fire and water, and also owing to a desire of the Census Bureau for more space, the said Bureau has begun an official movement to secure from The Congress authority to COMPLETE THE DISTRUCTION OF THE 1890 SCHEDULES OF POPULATION; and

WHEREAS, The said Census was a Complete family census, the ONLY FEDERAL CENSUS CONTAINING A SCHEDULE OR SHEET FOR EACH HOUSEHOLD IN THE UNITED STATES, thus being an exceedingly valuable record for all generations; and

WHEREAS, The said Census records have repeatedly settled all controversies in heirship, draft, civil pension and other legal matters of interest to individuals, families and to the Federal Government;

THEREFORE, RESOLVED by the National Genealogical Society, in regular monthly meeting assembled, that we emphatically PROTEST against the proposed official destruction of the Population Records, and especially of the 1890 Population Schedules; and that we urge the Secretary of Commerce and The Congress to carefully preserve about six-sevenths of the approximately 41,000 enumeration district records (volumes) surviving; and to restore the schedules partially destroyed by fire and water (these include not only the 2,000 manuscript volumes of the 1890 Census, but other important Census records of Population); and

RESOLVED, That wide publicity should be given to secure immediate cooperation from the Press, and historical, genealogical, legal and other societies and individuals interested in the preservation of the official records which are invaluable in the life history of the Nation; and

RESOLVED further, That the above facts, together with the unsatisfactory condition of the Draft and other very extensive official records connected with the World War but illustrate the imperative need for the early availability of the NATIONAL HALL OF RECORDS.

RESOLUTIONS OF THE NATIONAL SOCIETY, DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

Whereas, owing to a fire in the Department of Commerce January 10, 1921, causing the partial destruction of the Census of 1890 and the damage by water of other similar records; and, inasmuch as a movement has begun to secure from The Congress of the United States an official order for the complete destruction of these records; and

Whereas, these records are of inestimable value in tracing family lineage for membership in this and other patriotic societies;

Therefore, be it resolved that the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, emphatically protest against the proposed destruction of these records and petition the Secretary of Commerce and The Congress of the United States not to approve the proposed destruction!

And, we furthermore urge upon the Daughters of the American Revolution to individually communicate with their Representatives and Senators in Congress to do all in their power to stay the destruction of all government records and documents, until it can be definietly ascertained whether they have an historical or genealogical value to the people of this Republic.

NEW MEMBERS.

The progressive growth and success of any organization depends upon the steady addition of sturdy new blood, of successful men and women who can "carry on" in the works being pushed by the said organization. In closing the forms for the last issue of Volume IX of the Quarterly the editor, in behalf of all the membership of the National Geneological Society, heartily welcomes the following into active membership in the Society, and expects to publish a more extensive list in the near future.

It should be understood that practical suggestions and active help from every member, old and new alike, are most welcome to the officers of the Society; and the wide distribution of our membership shows the steadily growing strength and influence of The National Genealogical Society. Let every member secure another desirable active member.
